Quilting Goes to Chicago—Thomas F. Quilting, general manager of Hayden Bros. stores, has gone to Chicago on a short business trip.

Miss Malone Has La Grippe—Miss Nellie Malone, secretary to Mayor James C. Dahlman, is ill at her home. She is suffering with a severe case of grippe.

Taps Register and Skips—A. Leavitt, 106 South Fourteenth street, has notified the police that Harry Perry, a lodger at his house stole $4 in cash from the register and skipped out.

Typographical Error—Owing to a typographical error, an ad for the Hayden Bros. stores, carried in The Bee, quoted boys' wash suits "worth $3.50 to $5.00 for $1.25," when it should have read "worth up to $3.50 and for $1.25."

Auto Stripped by Thieves—William Maloney, 1629 Binney street, informs the police that his garage was entered by prowlers, who stripped his electric runabout of battery jars, three lamps and a meter, the total value of which is $50.

Favors Purchasing the Auditorium—R. E. Nelderweisen of the Niles & Niles company gave a most interesting talk to the Electrical club Thursday at its weekly luncheon, when he explained the importance of properly classifying accounts. The club then went on record as favoring the bonds for the purchase of the Auditorium.

Protest Against Movie—Property owners in the north part of the city have protested against the location of a moving picture show at Twenty-fourth and Spencer streets, but the protest has been without results, as the building to house the movie is outside the church and school area provided for under the provisions of the ordinance governing location. The movie is going into a new building constructed for the purpose and which is nearly completed.

Back from Sebastian Funeral—District Passenger Agent McNally of the Rock Island is back from Evanston, Ill., where he went to attend the funeral of John Sebastian, third vice president of the road, retired, who died at his home there. The funeral was largely attended, some 300 railroad men, representatives of lines other than the Rock Island being present. The flowers were the most beautiful ever seen in Evanston, having been sent from all parts of the United States and by prominent railroad men who knew Mr. Sebastian during his lifetime.

ALL STREET CARS ARE NOW BEING PUT THROUGH SHOPS

The Omaha Street Railway company is putting practically all its cars through the shops at Twenty-sixth and Lake streets. They are being painted and varnished, inside and out. New seats are being put in and they are made to look like new.

The old open cars are being given a thorough overhauling and while they will not be used for regular traffic, they will be put into service during rush days and when desired for picnic or excursion parties.

MEN ON GREATER OMAHA COMMITTEE ARE NAMED

The greater Omaha committee, one of the new standing committees of the Commercial club, has just been named. E. A. Benson is chairman of the committee. The other members are T. W. McCullough, Leo A. Hoffman, Victor White, Dr. W. J. Bradbury, M. A. Hall, Charles C. George, W. J. McCaffery, T. J. Northwal, R. P. Moran, Vaclav Buresh, Dan B. Butler, Val J. Peter, George W. Henry and John T. Yates.

BOSS HOWELL AGAINST BONDS TO BOOST THE POTATO CROP

Decides He Will Work Against Purchase of the Auditorium.

TO GIVE HIS VIEWS TONIGHT

Offers as Substitute Scheme that the City Build Big Auditorium on High School Grounds for Students Also.

Concluding that it is to be the winning side, Boss R. B. Howell of the Water board is out against the Auditorium bonds.

"This is simply Fred Nash's scheme to unload an unprofitable business on the city," said Howell.

Howell has a little plan all his own. "Build an auditorium on the Central High school grounds," he says, "and permit the high school cadets to use it regularly as an armory. It would be centrally located and would serve all purposes."

Improvement clubs and civic organizations, which have unanimously endorsed the Auditorium bonds, have taken up the issue with Howell and are not on his trail. Commercial club members are considerably riled and citizens generally are rising in indignation.

A circular denouncing the Auditorium bonds is being issued by the Water board boss. He is also circulating the town for the proposition to sell seven street car tickets for 25 cents.

Who Owns the Stock? "What about this Auditorium bond proposition?" said Howell, rehearsing his arguments. "Who owns the stock? What kind of a building are we buying? The fact is that the South Omaha stock yards, packing houses, electric light company, gas company and street railway company own 87 per cent of the stock. They say they will sell the Auditorium for some private enterprise if the people do not buy it."

Do not be misled. There is no danger of them selling it. To whose profit is it to maintain this Auditorium? Why, clearly to the profit of these stockholders. Will they dispose of it? Huh!

Howell said: "If Nash had a good business proposition in the Auditorium he would not be eager to sell. Nash has been opposed to public ownership of everything, but he now comes out for the public ownership of the Auditorium in order to unload on the people."

Y. M. C. A. Plans for Big Campaign to Get New Members

At the Young Men's Christian association Thursday night plans were made for a continued campaign for new members during the year 1914, with the goal of 3,000 on January 1, 1915. The association now has approximately 2,300 members. This means an increase of 700 in the current year.

The membership committee will plan some social occasions to deepen the spirit of fellowship between the members.

The men on the committee are: St. A. Wilcox, president; W. A. Fixley, vice president; Alfred C. Kennedy, Jr., secretary; and Harry E. Mahaffey, C. C. Crowell, Jr.; L. M. Holliday, Fred Kavan, T. F. Sturgess, W. H. Hunt, A. L. Laurance, Paul A. Havens, Elmer G. Sandburg, M. A. Kohn, J. M. McLean, Albert Cleveland, Will Wentworth, R. F. Curtis, C. C. Wilson and Mark O. Ward.

SETTLEMENT TO HOLD ITS ANNUAL MEETING SATURDAY

The annual meeting of the Social Settlement will be held this evening at 7:45 o'clock at the Young Men's Christian association. Judge Howard Kennedy will be the principal speaker. Reports of the head resident, Miss Clara Schaffer, as well as those of the committees, will be received. The new board members will be elected. The board of directors meets Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the settlement house, 219 South Thirteenth street, to elect officers for the ensuing term.

Northwestern Tries to Increase Both Yield and Acreage.

STARTS ON A BIG CAMPAIGN

Railroad Greatly Encouraged Over Result of its Daring Campaign and Hopes to Do Likewise with Potatoes.

The sending of Prof. Grubb's book, a treatise on potato growing to the farmers along its line in northern Nebraska, is but the beginning of a campaign that the company proposes to induce better farming.

A couple of years ago the Northwestern sent its dairy experts into the country along the Nebraska line, where they remained several weeks, going from farm to farm, giving practical and scientific lessons in the modern methods of caring for milk and producing cream. The result has been, it is said, that in the counties visited by the experts, farmers and dairymen have increased the cream output materially, thereby increasing their profits correspondingly.

The plans of the railroad company this year contemplate aiding the farmers in raising better potatoes and more to the acre. The potato text-books by Prof. Grubb, the Colorado expert, are going out in large numbers and General Manager Walters is of the opinion that the money invested by the company in the purchase of these books will bring good returns, not only to the farmers, but to the railroad company in the matter of freight that it will receive on potatoes shipped to Omaha and other markets.

Great Potato District. The counties of Holt, Rock, Brown, Sheridan, Dawes, Sioux and part of Cherry, all in Nebraska, are looked upon as comprising the great potato raising belt of the United States. It is said that in these counties the soil is especially adapted to the growing of its particular branch of the root crop family, that the potatoes yield more to the acre and are of a much better quality than those grown under irrigation in Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho and Montana.

Last year the counties heretofore named raised and shipped out something like 1,000,000 bushels and everywhere they went onto a market in competition with potatoes grown in other sections, they sold at top prices. This year, with the encouragement that is to be given them, it is believed the farmers in the area named will more than double their acreage planted and consequently will more than double their yield and profits.

Handed Bushels to Acre. Throughout northern Nebraska there always has been an abundance of rain to mature the potato crop and make it profitable. Last year the potatoes turned out better than 100 bushels to the acre and there were but few instances where they sold for less than 50 cents at the stations to which they were hauled. Many fields where the cultivation was kept up during the season and where the plants were kept free from insects, yielded as high as 175 and some of them went to 200 bushels per acre.

The Northwestern people do not propose to intimate to the Nebraska farmers that they do not know how to raise potatoes and get results, but they intend to bring to their attention the knowledge of the experts and induce them to adopt some of the newer methods.
