GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Shorts May Have to Bid in Pit to Cover Trades.

MAY WHEAT APPEARS BULLISH

OMAHA, March 17, 1914. OMAHA, March 17, 1914.

Holders of the May wheat future in the Chicago market, while keeping a close watch on conditions surrounding that month, are making no demonstration that is likely to attract attention. There is a good szed open interest in the May future here to make the position of holders of that future stronger than it otherwise would be they own the larger part of cash wheat. Those who are short will ether be obliged to bring the grain in here for delivery during May or they will be forced to go into the pit and bid against each other.

Conditions surrounding May wheat are

Conditions surrounding May wheat are the principal builish factors in this market at present. With the May wiped off the map, the bears would doubtless have smooth sailing. The May is an old crop option and there is little to encourage the horts in the way of favorable crop pros-smooth sailing. The May is an old crop option and there is little to encourage the shorts in the way of favorable crop prospects.

There was some undoing of spreads yeaterday by big professional speculators, who sold May and bought July. These men were auxious to even up their position in order to take the May off their books, as there are some who believe the May future will not give as good an account of liself as generally expected. They consider the month a dangerous one and some of the larger commission houses are advising their customers to speculate in the more deferred futures.

The corn market closed ragged, yet the prices chanses were small. The nearby futures were lower, while the deferred were higher. The cash demand here was dull, sales being only 36,000 bushels. Omaha reported a big cash demand.

Oats were about a standatill, with no outside trade.

Provisions closed higher for pork, lower for lard and unchanged for ribs. The volume of business was good, but was mostly between professionals.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS Features of the Trading and Closing

' Prices on Board of Trade. CHICAGO, March 17.—Sprinkles of rain over northern and eastern Kansas falled today to relieve, except in a transcient manner, the fear of a dry weather scare regarding wheat. The market closed firm regarding wheat. The market closed firm at a range varying from 149%c off to a shade advance. Corn finished with a gain of 1484c to %c; oats, the same as last night, and provisions, unchanged to 2149

Reports of continued heavy winds and duststorms in southern Kansas were what renewed apprehension on the part of the wheat trade. s the official farecast gave no promise of any additional moisture, speculators who had early in the day when to the bear side, were more and speculators who had early in the day taken to the bear side, were more and more inclined to a reversal of judgment later in the session.

New crop features developed a notice-able tendency to be independent of the May delivery of wheat. The nearby month

May delivery of wheat. The nearby month was under much greater seiling pressure. Undoing of a big apread between the two options was going on, and was said to account largely for the narrowing of the discount of life in the last rew days. weeks ago. As compared with a year ago, there is a gain of about 1,800 head. While the moderate receipts would naturally have a tendency to make a firm market, the fact that conditions at other selling points were so unfavorable rendered the market alow and dull on all kinds of killing cattle.

Beef steers were very dull, with prices anywhere from about steady on the more desirable kinds that just happened to please buyers to as much as 10c lower on other kinds.

Stock cows and helfers were active sellers at firm prices, but fat coys and helfers were alow and a little lower again than yesterday.

Stockers and feeders were in active demand at steady to stronger prices. As high as $5.25 was paid for good western Nebraska feeders.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Stronger Tone Rewards Dealings in Wall Street.

BROAD. UPWARD MOVEMENT Builish Rumors, Most of Them Obviously Without Authentic Basis, Current-Bond Market i

NEW YORK, March 15.—A stronger tone pervaded the dealings in stocks to-day. When trading began there was nothing in the narrow, uncertain fluctuations to indicate that the market would break away from the monotony of recent coloriess sessions. During the day, now-ever, there was a broad upward movement. Gains of one to two points were attained by many representative issues. The street was filled with builtish rumors, most of them obviously without authentic basis. Two of these rumors, which found widest circulation, were to the effect that a decision in the railroad rate case, favorable to the roads, would be announced shortly, and that an important change for the better in the Mexican situation was at hand. While these reports influenced stocks to some extent the movement appeared to be due more directly to the strong technical position. The market had become oversold and traders found it easy to run up prices on the shorts.

The bond market was irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,461,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.
