This is 18,000 smaller than last week and about the same number short of the cor-responding days last year. As was the case on Thursday packers started out bidding about 5c higher. Nothing much moved during the first rounds, as the salesmen were asking for a dime advance, but in the end bids were raised a shade all around, and when ac-tual trading began the market showed an advance of 56710c. Movement continued at these prices until toward the close, when buyers found their droves were pretty well filled out, and with close to twenty loads unsold prices rapidly eased off until the bids made did not look to be much better than yesterday. Most of the sales were made at $5.5085.55, tho latter price catching the longer string. Several loads sold as high as $60, the top, and on the close a sprinkling sold down to $8.65. The market for the week has not been any too satisfactory to the down to $5.50. The market for the week has not been any too satisfactory to the selling interests, and in spite of the fact that receipts have been very light the net advance for the week amounts to

No.

Inst receipts have been very light the net advance for the week amounts to only about 10c. In view of the light run and stronger markets at other points salesmen could not give any reason for so weak a close at this point and they refused to cut loose at the prices offered lats, preferring to take a chance on Saturday's market. Finding that they could not clean up the balance of the supply the way they were bidding packers finally raised their of-fers again, so that the balance of these is the box finally sold at figures that were weak to be lower than the early trade, or nearly a nickel higher than yesterday. The close was very draggy and a few scattering loads, including three that came in late and some rough packers that buyers dilacriminated against all morning, were still in first hands at midday. St.....130 190 SHEEP-There were indications of firm-ness in the sheep and lamb market to-day. A very fair run for the last of the week did not prevent sellers from lifting prices a little in some cases, the improve-ment in lambs being generally regarded as strong to a sinde higher. There were no material changes in ewes or yearlings, though what were offered sold readily at prices fully steady with yeaterday. A good representation of Mexican lambs were on haad, two cars of which were good enough to brins $8.30, a frash top since $8.35 was reached in January. The
