The Bees-Home - Magazine - Page

A Spring Suit and Afternoon Frock

This smart afternoon frock, on the left, simulates in its lines the tailored suit. It is fahioned of the new supple moire relieved by a collar and vest of striped faille in violet and maize shades. The coat is a kimono, the fullness of which is gathered up in two wide tabs crossing in the chest to form the front revers. The ends of these tabs are drawn round the waist to be fastened on each side by an embroidered button of the same color. A basque starts under the ends of the vest on either side and finishes in a swallow-tail effect at

Of the vest only the smart lines of the Jocrisse collar and two waistcoat points below the waist line are allowed to show. The skirt is drawn up at the center front in wide folds which are caught under the girdle. Vanilla brown serge is here combined with chestnut and white striped golfine in this pretty little spring suit, on the right.

It features the very short coat that is so becoming to slim figures and so suitable for spring wear. Kimono lines are used in the little jacket and the sleeves stop at the elbow, where the chestnut and white golfine is used for cuffs to match the little square collar. Flounces of plaited maline outline the neck and finish the sleeves.

The walst is piped in the striped materialand a single button accents the end of this piping. The skirt is plaited—and has a plain panel in front trimmed by four buttons of the vanilla serge.

OLIVETTE.

Does Your Scalp Itch And Hair Fall Out

Because of DandruffandEczema? Cuticura Soap and Ointment

Promote hair-growing conditions when all else fails.

Samples Free by Mail Cutiesca Soap and Cintment sold throughout the orld. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. 202. Address "Cuticura," Dept. 1831, Boston.

WHEN AWAY FROM HOME The Bee is The Paper you ask for; if you plan to be absent more than a few days, have The Bee mailed to you.

Madame Ise'bell's - Beauty Lesson-

LESSON V-PART II. The Eyes-Is Face Powder Injurious.

That reading in bed is bad for the thing very pleasant is necessarily bad. Most people like to read in bed-an unsociable habit which when indulged in by one member of the family is ant to be frowned on by the rest. But, in truth, the only reason why reading in a reclining position should have bad consequences is poor light and incorrect habit of holding the book or paper. If the light is directed on the printed matter and this is so held that the eyes are kept wide open, no harm will result. If the light is insufficient or badly directed and the reading matter held so that the eyes are half closed eye strain and improvement of the eyes is to keep them

Repeat this exercise at intervals during the day and it will not be long before the improvement is permanent.

The bad effect of relaxed muscles are shown in several ways; the flesh at the outer corner of the eyes drops, fans of wrinkles form, and the skin beneath the eyes draws up towards the inside corners. For the lines at the outside corners I gave directions in my last lesson n facial massage, but I will repeat them

Beginning with the left eye, place the first and second fingers of the left hand one above and one below the eye ball. slightly stretching the skin. Moisten the second finger of the right hand with a reliable massage cream and, with a series of little rotary movements, massage the coace between the two fingers. Repeat on the right side."

This is better done at night, for the reaon that the good effect of the ironing out of the skin will continue during sleep. For the wrinkles that firm beneath the eyes, converging toward the nose, recommend the following massage move-

"Anoint the second finger of both hands with massage cream, place them at the the leading theaters in New York is corner of the eyes near the nose and move causing discussion, much of it serimonieyes has become almost a truism, partly them, lightly and briskly beneath the our, and all of it wandering. It is an due to the Puritaniam existing in most eyes and towards the temples. Repeat unpleasantly realof us which bids us believe that any- this ten times every evening, using all the istic drama whose cream that the skin will absorb. In the motive is a wo morning bathe with cold water.'

Advice to Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Personally, I think an indiference which open and not to allow the muscles about I am sure is feigned is in better tasts them to relax. Look in the glass, open than a public display of affection. Rethe eyes and draw up the muscles about member, you are not engaged and any them: the face immediately looks younger | display of affection on the part of either and better, and the eyes feel better of you will only make you ridiculous.

Not This Spring! ::

In the Spring a Young Girl's Fancy Lightly Turns to Thoughts of Love

By Nell Brinkley

but it isn't true this spring. I'm ditched! She's too busy. What on her cheeks, the new veil a la mask, that's worn across nose and eres with barefoot sandals and anklets, green and purple wigs, the wild, and forelocks, the trouser skirt and the bustle! With all this on her new bit-liddies, the new hair-do with a bare ear and a sidelight curl mind this spring she'll never have time for love! I'm crowded out." (and let me tell you this sudden bare-ear business is a shock stripped

NELL BRINKLEY,

The Consolation of Clothes

By ADA PATTERSON.

A play occupying the stage of one of clothes, leading her into unfaithfulness

to her husband. Could a woman care so much for fine raiment that she could be induced to dishenor a husband whom she loved and who loved her? New York is asking the question and, ac-wrinkles will be the consequence.

Eye health and eye beauty are one; what is good for health is good for beauty. If you feel the need for squinting, there is something wrong with the light, or the eyes need strengthening. The first step in the beautifying and That's No trime.

That's No trime.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a young girl and I am deeply in love with a man three years not be and I am deeply in love with a man three years not be and I am deeply in love with a man three years not be and I am deeply in love with a man three years not be and I am deeply in love with a man three years not be and I am deeply in love with a man three years not be and I am deeply in love with a man three years not he metropolis are divided and sets different towards me when other heads a little light, or the eyes need strengthening.

The first step in the beautifying and into two camps. One believes that other women, but they are dissemblers. burst into a passion at any moment, and that the passion may consume her honor and happiness.

> ing hats and a few rare jewels merely was speaking the truth. marks a woman normal. The woman Why do we instinctively send flowers over clothes.

who is without this liking lacks one of the component parts of a well balanced character, a sense of beauty. A same admiration for beautiful clothing springs from the same impulse as the pleasure we enjoy in a brilliant sunset, a purple manteled mountain, a rose garden in June, or the red and yellow blaze of the woods in autumn. It is the artist in a woman that fundamentally leads her to study samples of the season's new shades in cloth and that keeps her long before mirror comparing the becomingness of a large black hat with a small blue one. Imagine a woman without the senses of beauty and fitness good dressing disclose and you will find a most unwoman'y woman, an inhuman woman for he sure that men, too, admire pretty gowns and becoming hats. Men's idmiration for pretty clothes are the oil poured upon the fuel of woman's sosalled love of green, for after her innate sense of beauty and fitness, follows shops and buys pretties C. O. D. when the prompting to dress well that she may she has had a quarrel with her flance. please the menfolks of her family. Some women say they dress to please escaped the widespread argument is that ness that feed the flame of a woman's in clothes woman finds consolation. new dress will comfort me," said an rious winter wardrobe against a good to a sick room or to a person for whom we wish to express our sympathy? Be- It is Just Natural cause we know that the sight of their beauty will be to some extent comforting. A picture of a landscape or a glimpse of a garden through an open window or door has soothed a burdened heart. When a thoughtful woman said to me, "There is no condition in life which money does not ameliorate," she did not mean that money in itself could soften grief or mend a broken heart, but that the contemplation of the rugs and draperles, the soft lights and the beau tifully curved and shining furniture lifted the weight of the grief a bit and fur nished balm for the fractured organ.

No same person ever sees for long anything out of its right proportion. The beauty with which a few extra dollars may surround us in times of physical pain or mental anguish have only a transitory effect. Like laying a cool hand on an aching head, they offer brief relief. That is all that can be claimed for them. But that is one of the reasons women buy at times, as it seems, in sanely. One woman always goes to the

"Miss Graham must be terribly blue today. She has been buying so much, the sales girl said while I was waiting One phase of the discussion about for Miss Graham's delayed return. This woman's love for clothes that has is no excuse for the vanity and selfishextravagance. It is no plea for a woman "I am never so blue but that a pretty so mad as to weigh for a second a luxuaverage woman in average circumstances, man's love. But it is a ray of light on A liking for pretty frocks and becom- and because I knew her well I knew she the darkness of the problem so mystifring to men of "why women go crazy

To Admire Babies

Our altrustic nature impels love for the cooing input. And at the same time to the physical comfort of expectant motherhood is a subject that has interested most women of all times. One of the real helpful things is an external abdominal application sold in most drug stores under the name of "Mother's stores under the name of Friend." We have to We have known so many grandrelied upon this remedy, and who recommend it to their own daughters that it certainly must be what its name indi-cates. They have used it for its direct influence upon the muscles, cords, liga-ments and tendons as it aims to afford relief from the strain and pain so often unnecessarily severe during the period of expectancy. Every woman should mention "Mother" Friend" when the stork is the subject of conversation. An interesting little book is mailed free upon application to Bradfield Regulator Co., 405 Lamar Bidg., Atlanta, Ga. It refers to many things that women like to read about. Get or recommend a bottle of "Mother's Priend" to-day and write for the book.