

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Stockmen Ready for Long Trip Beginning Monday.

BIG CASSIDY TRACT IS SOLD

Buyers Plan to Lay it Out into Fine Building Sites—First Serum Firm Licenses.

When the hats are given out at the Union stock yards there follows some jubilation, for generally the dispensing of the big white felt means something is about to break. Saturday the final preparations for the two weeks' trip to the northwest were made and the white hats to be worn by the men from South Omaha were given out by Traffic Manager William Shillberg.

The delegation of stockmen and stock yards employees will leave South Omaha over the Burlington on Monday at 2:55. The trip will not end before April 26, when the aquad is expected to return. The trip takes in all the big cattle and stock centers of the northwest and ends at Billings, where there will be a convention.

Conventions all along the route will enable the delegation to get together with the stock growers. Secretary-Traffic Manager A. F. Stryker will be in charge of the outfit.

The following is the itinerary: Leave Omaha April 13 3:55 p. m. Arrive Rapid City April 14 10:17 a. m. Arrive Bellefourche April 15 10:17 a. m. Arrive Deadwood April 15 7:50 p. m. Fifteen minute stop at Harrison, Neb., on return trip to Omaha. Cassidy Tract Sold. Cassidy tract, one of the real estate landmarks of South Omaha, changed hands Saturday for the first time in more than half a century, at a cost of $5,000. The tract consists of thirty acres located at Thirty-sixth and Q streets, running west. The property was bought by H. M. Christie and W. Farnam Smith, real estate men of Omaha. J. H. Kopsitz of South Omaha also has an interest in the deal. J. F. Murphy, real estate man of South Omaha, handled the deal. The property is situated between Thirty-sixth and Thirty-ninth streets and runs from Q to N street. Developments on the land will begin at once and the new owners are prepared to spend $20,000 to make the site one of the finest residence sections of South Omaha. It will be leveled to grade and streets. Sidewalks will be laid and water and gas mains installed. The sites will be subdivided into lots and building sites will be placed on the market without delay. It is the intention of the new owners to lay down building restrictions so complete as to make the place a desirable home site.

The property is located in that part of South Omaha, which is least affected by the odors from the packing houses. It is served by three car lines and is in direct line or the extensions of Omaha building. It is understood that in buying the property the new owners had in view the time when the two towns will be united as one.

The Cassidy tract, as it was known for years, has never been transferred since the year 1857, when it came into the hands of Edward Cassidy. In the year 1887, the last of the Omaha "boom times," Mr. Cassidy sold the land for $30,000, but the deal was never completed.

Word from Washington yesterday was that the Axtell Serum company, one of the newest companies at the stock yards, has received its license from the national government. The Axtell Serum company is composed of Guy L. Axtell and Dr. H. C. Miller of South Omaha. The factory is located on the Guy Barton farm near Gilmore station.

Demos Want Office. In these any jockeying in South Omaha for political places among the democrats. Every other democrat on the street seems to believe that he can defeat the Hon. Charles Otto Lobeck for congress. There are lots of Irishmen in South Omaha who do not take kindly to support of the tolls bill or anything else that comes from what Jerry Howard terms the "sassa-nach." Therefore, Mr. Lobeck is expected to have considerable trouble in explaining away the liberality of his views in matters pro-British. And by the same token there are about a dozen who say that if the democrats will only send them to congress they will do everything that is printable and much that is not to the British lion, Wilson or no Wilson.

No democratic name is mentioned in opposition to Sheriff McShane, at least as far as South Omaha is concerned. In fact the sheriff has incited fear into the local powers that be. They thought to call his hand once and he had four aces. He broke up a negro dive which the police could not find and carried about two dozen people to jail. Naturally it would not be healthy for the local administration to encourage democratic aspirants for the sheriff's star.

A lot more of the peanut brand of politics is being played in the Magic City just now.

Corrigan Benett. George Adkins, manager of the Bessie theater, has announced that he will devote the proceeds of his show house Friday night to the Corrigan Benett. At least we will provide fare both ways. Adkins told the men having the benefit in charge. A number of business men have set April 25 as the date of the Corrigan Benett ball. Corrigan has been released from duty.

Animal Industry Men Meet. Classified services, salaries and provisions for retirement with pay were subjects discussed at the annual meeting of the Animal Industry at the Redman's hall Thursday night. The occasion was the annual election of officers. J. J. Rhodes, former president, was re-elected for another term. T. B. Rea was chosen vice president; Robert Benson, treasurer, and Fred S. Russell, secretary. Advisory board: E. P. Lee and H. C. Sloan. Delegates to the national convention: D. J. Stauffer, J. J. Rhodes, T. B. Rea and E. P. Emmerson.

The evening was largely devoted to the discussion of improvements of the civil service regulations governing the employees of the Bureau and the civil service department, generally. Such men as George Kieffer of Omaha, Magal, Sutton, Cook, Copenhagen and Dr. Bussman, discussed different phases of the government work.

High School Notes. The Vellum will hold its regular bi-monthly meeting in the auditorium of the high school next Friday afternoon after school.

Ray Wilson, freshman, was chosen as temporary captain of the freshman base ball team at their meeting Friday afternoon. All classes will have teams this year.

A mass meeting will be held next Friday morning in the auditorium of the high school to discuss the local team which will have with Temple High and Bellevue. Members of the two teams will speak last Saturday morning and the season will be opened tomorrow morning. Students will be present during the week and a complete schedule will be made out.

The second semester physics class, under the leadership of Miss Naughtin, supervisor, visited the Nebraska telephone office Friday afternoon and inspected the apparatus of the local receiving station.

The Gavel club will hold a meeting in the Board of Education room at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to attend because of important business requires transaction.

The regular issue of the Tooter came out Friday afternoon. Editor Emily Nyström announces that work on the annual comment issue has begun and asks for the co-operation of the students to help make it a success.

The local debating team will meet the Temple High school team of University Place in a debate on the trust question at the local auditorium next Friday evening. The topic of the local team will uphold the affirmative.

A practice debate will be staged between the first and second debating teams of the high school on the trust question to occur Tuesday afternoon, after school, as preparation for the two debates the latter part of the week.

R. O. Esby of the manual training department has finished a beautiful rose-wood gavel which will be adopted as the emblem of the Gavel club at its revival meeting April 25. President Emmet Doctor has authorized the chairman, Karl Lee of the program committee will make the presentation speech.

The music department of the high school, under the direction of Miss Emma Dickman, music supervisor, is working on an opera entitled "Lalla," by G. M. Stratton. Five courses of the school will take part in solos, duets, trios and choral work. This opera will be ready for the public on May 25.

The first debating team will invade Bellevue next Saturday evening to compete with the Bellevue team for championship of the eastern debating district. The local team will uphold the negative of the trust question. A delegation of 50 students will accompany the students and a special car will be chartered.

The Vellum club accepted the challenge to debate the suffrage question sent by the Gavel club. Louise Bratton and Marie Graham will uphold the affirmative of the question debated for the Vellum, while Frank Broadwell and Clyde Parsley will oppose suffrage for the Gavel club. The date of the debate has been set as the evening of April 28. The debate will be held in the auditorium of the high school as a part of a large program prepared by the Gavel entertainment committee.

At a final meeting of the special entertainment committee of the high school, senior A classes last Friday afternoon at the high school, it was decided to have a combination fair, will show athletic committees were appointed to take charge of booths and to take part in side shows which will be held in the auditorium. It was decided to convert the fan room of the high school into an "artificial" "Cave of the Winds" as well as to build a "Ketchikan Castle" and a modern "Trip Around the World." Preparations for the entertainment which will take place in two weeks prophesy a huge success.

Society Notes. Mrs. A. Coleman of Chicago is the guest of her mother, Mrs. N. H. Gilchrist.

Mrs. E. O. Puren has issued invitations for a bridge party for next Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. James Trimble was hostess for the members of the O. T. W. club Saturday night at a bridge party.

The Standard Bearers of the First Methodist church will entertain the members of the O. T. W. club Saturday evening at the home of one of its members. The place will be announced later.

Mrs. Bruns and Mrs. Cornevan will entertain the Ketchikan Lodge, Friday afternoon at the home of the former, 231 D street. Invitations have been sent out.

The Epworth league of the First Methodist church will give a character party in the church parlor next Thursday evening. This will be the first event of its kind to be held in the church and all members are urged to attend.

Mrs. J. H. Tobkin of Lindsay, Neb., who was visiting her sister, Mrs. E. P. Baker, was taken to an Omaha hospital Saturday morning where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. Mrs. Tobkin, was formerly Miss Ella Chace.

Cotton Talks to High School Boys. Clean athletics, clean living, clean speech, honest examinations and better scholarship, were urged upon older boys of Omaha's high schools Friday evening by Arthur N. Cotton, International Young Men's Christian association secretary for high school work. Almost 100 upper-class boys of the high schools attended a supper and meeting at which he spoke. His theme was along the line of making their lives count for the right things in school.

After a conference which he held with the executive committee of the state association, the latter decided to employ a secretary to devote his efforts to association work among high school boys of Nebraska. Mr. Cotton is on a 10,000-mile trip through the country.

LEARN HOW TO BE BEAUTIFUL

Brandeis Stores Give Complimentary Show at American Theater.

MODELS SHOW LATEST GOWNS

H. H. Harrison Cuts Silhouettes of Children, as He Will Do at the Brandeis Stores All This Week.

Women old and women young, blonde, brunette and white-haired, pretty and plain, "high-brow" and frivolous, all attended the complimentary beauty lectures and entertainments tendered by the Brandeis stores Saturday afternoon and evening at the American theater.

During several of the numbers beautifully-gowned models from the Brandeis stores promenade on the stage, which was attractively decorated in spring flowers. Stunning afternoon and afternoon costumes, Paquet, Paquin, Doucet and Callot models, were shown in all the newest shades, including the extremely good chateaux. With these were worn hats to match, some over the left eye, some over the right, set high in the back, or the drooping shape with the underneath plume. The fact was ably demonstrated that it is not necessary to go to New York for the latest models, since Omaha is making so authentic a display of fashions.

Madame De La Vie's health and beauty lecture was of principal interest to the large audience which had assembled to be instructed on "how not to look more than 35, after you have passed that milestone."

"More homes are saved from shipwreck by a judicious bit of rouge than by prayer," said Mme. De La Vie. She emphasized the effect on the average business man whose wife is careless of her appearance in the morning and who comes downtown and finds a well-groomed stenographer in his office. "Rouge and other toilet preparations have been termed husband-savers as well as husband-getters."

Mme. De La Vie then gave instructions on proper massage movements with Melorose cream to ward away wrinkles and explained the purpose of other Melorose preparations. "Above all, don't worry," she said. "Worry makes you fat, thin, old and wrinkled and makes your hair fall out."

Dr. Dunn gave a highly instructive lecture on "Scientific Corsetting and Corset Fashions," emphasizing the beauty and comfort of the 1914 models which are being shown at the Brandeis stores.

A. H. Harrison, exponent of the art of "scenography," who will be at the Brandeis stores all of this week and will make silhouette pictures of children, demonstrated his art with reproductions of Washington, Lincoln, McKinley and Bryan.

Ethel Kendall and Jack Lund, in exhibitions of the society dances, the hesitation, tango, one-step and maxixe, scored a great hit, as did Count Perrone in popular operatic selections. Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Jessie H. Curi and Miss Vera Long.

Following the entertainment, Mme. De La Vie mounted a chair in the foyer of the theater and answered all beauty questions that were propounded by the crowds of women that swarmed about her. The reporter hid behind a convenient door while several prominent members of the Omaha Women's club and prominent society women begged to know how to reduce a double chin, how to fill out hollow cheeks and what to do for facial blemishes.

Baptists Meet in Omaha Next Year. Seventeen out-of-town lecturers, teachers and speakers are scheduled to participate in the programs of the Baptist Sunday school and Young People's institute, to be conducted at the Young Men's Christian association building for six days, beginning Sunday, April 19. The institute will be conducted by the American Baptist Publication society, under the auspices of the Baptist churches of Omaha and Council Bluffs, and will commence with a mass meeting at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The out-of-town speakers will also occupy Baptist pulpits morning and evening of the opening day.

Regular sessions of the institute will be held continuously from 4:30 till 9 o'clock each day from Monday till Friday, inclusive.

Washed Air at the Federal Building. A $5,000 air-washing plant is being installed in the federal building. The air will be passed through a tank of water to remove particles of dust and other impurities, before being forced through the building's ventilating system. With this addition to the improvements made in the building during the last twelve months, a total of almost $25,000 will have been expended.

Other recent changes and betterments completed and to be completed include interior wall cleaning, rearrangement of interior lighting system, new skylight roofing of the mail department's center court, new swinging doors in rear entrances, partitions for general delivery department, and bronze lighting fixtures outside of each entrance.

PICKPOCKETS COLLECT WALLETS IN THE CROWDS. Pickpockets working the street cars and shopping districts last night, were able to collect $50 in half an hour's time. H. J. Hansen, Benson, lost $10 in a Fifty-third and Center streets, lost $20 in the vestibule of a West Leavenworth car at Sixteenth and Howard streets.

Both victims described the persons nearest them at the time, to the police, and from the descriptions the latter think that the same "dips" got both wallets.

News from the Insurance Field

When in Good Health is the Time to Insure

When a man came rushing at a terrific pace to catch a Staten Island ferryboat and arrived just in time to have the gate-man shut the door before his face, a bystander remarked: "You didn't run fast enough."

"I ran fast enough," replied the disappointed man, "but I didn't start in time."

This story can be applied equally as well to the good "intentions" of some men. They believe in protection, they know it is a good thing, they intend to take it, but they put it off until it is impossible for them to pass a satisfactory examination, or until it is too late.

"There's one of the finest looking men I ever saw," said the son of an insurance man to his father. The latter explained that the fine looking man just crossing the street was a young fellow 30 years of age who had just come to our town to go into the automobile business. He had very little capital, but his credit was good because he was honest, so he was able to make a nice start in business with but little money. He had a wife and two children—fine little chaps, and they were the pride of his life.

"Well," said the boy, "if I had his physique I shouldn't expect to die for a hundred years," and perhaps he didn't.

The story is short. The strong man wore out a vicious attack of typhoid, only to find out a month or two after his recovery that in his weakened condition he had become the prey of tuberculosis—quick consumption—and in three months he was dead. But sickness is expensive, and after the funeral the young wife and the two children found themselves destitute. The widow had no relatives to whom she could turn and she was not trained for the world's work.

How she got on and managed to raise her children is not a pretty story, so we'll pass it; but there is a moral in this case of the "fine looking man" that the uninsured father ought to heed.

Insurance News. Tom Kelly, Cecil Vesey and A. G. Green have returned from the fifteenth anniversary celebration of the Travelers held at Hartford, Conn.

The insurance commissioner of North Dakota has issued a notice to fire insurance companies, holding that it is contrary to the state law for a nonresident agent to write or place insurance within that state.

The underwriters at Lloyd's, London, have raised the premium from $5 to $6 on policies indemnifying holders up to $50 for expenses incurred from operations inapplicable.

The city officials of New Orleans have asked the Louisiana Fire Protection Bureau to make a reduction of 15 cents per $1,000 on the fire insurance rates, because of improvements in water supplies, motor engines and other betterments.

Insurance Commissioner Preuss of Minnesota reports that the fire loss for 1913 was $4,420,841, which is the lowest record since 1907. He attributes much of the improvement to the campaign of education in the interest of fire prevention.

Reports come from Kentucky of numerous fires in which a large part of the values in the towns were destroyed. Most of the March renewals were written up before the companies suspended, but as insurance expires now it cannot be renewed.

The semi-annual meeting of the Iowa Fire Prevention association will be held in Des Moines, April 15. The organization of the Iowa Field Men's Social club is being discussed. If formed it will take the place of the Iowa Field Men's Club. The Iowa Field Men's Club was organized but did not get full return for the dues paid to the general organization.

Insurance Commissioner Ekers of Wisconsin announces that on April 1, 1914, the cash on hand to the credit of the state fire insurance fund was $30,551, with a net surplus over all liabilities of $166,301. The value of the property destroyed in the fire at the State Normal school at Superior was $100,000, which was covered in the state insurance fund to the amount of 90 per cent, or $90,000.

Frank Hasbrouck, the new superintendent of insurance in New York state, has been postmaster, corporation counsel and county judge at Poughkeepsie. So far as is known his only insurance experience consists in acting as counsel for the Dutchess Fire of Poughkeepsie. He succeeds W. T. Emmet, who has been appointed the new state public service commissioner at a salary of $15,000 a year.

Willis Evans, executive secretary of the organization, is also the executive genius of the expedition and will arrange for a parade to be given here on May 19.

Building Healthy, Happy Youngsters

Thoughtful parents are finding out that a child's strongest hold on future success and usefulness is a strong body and healthy brain. Body and nerve tissue, as well as brain cells, are formed from the food one eats. It is clear, then, that to feed right generally means to be right.

Grape-Nuts FOOD

is made of selected wheat and malted barley, and contains all the rich nutriment of these greatest food grains, including the vital mineral salts (Phosphate of Potash, etc.) in just the right proportion, grown in the grain.

When Grape-Nuts is selected, the greatest building food in the world is put to work, and the various parts of the body—bones, muscles, nerves and brain—can take up the particular kind of nourishment that each requires.

Grape-Nuts is an ideal food. It is scientifically baked, easy of digestion, and comes ready to eat direct from the tightly sealed package—fresh, and crisp. Children like the delicious flavour and thrive on Grape-Nuts.
