EDNA LEVINE WINS CONTEST

Gets Prize for Best Essay Among High School Writers.

FIVE OTHERS IN THE RACE

Two Besides Winner Read Their Disquisitions Before the Student Body at a Special Convocation.

Edna Levine, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Levine, 318 Cummins street, was awarded the $9 gold piece as first prize in the annual essay contest at Central High school, under the auspices of the Omaha Daughters of the American Revolution. She is a member of the senior class, which will graduate in June, and a prominent and popular student.

"Thomas Jefferson and His Influence on the Revolution" was the subject of the essays, which were judged by Rabbi Frederick Cohn and a committee of the Daughters. There were five other contestants besides Miss Levine. The winning essay and two others were read by the authors before the student body at a special convocation.

Howard H. Baldrige presented the award to Miss Levine and made an address. Mary Doud, a sophomore, 15 years of age, and Dorothy Black, a senior, received honorable mention. Rev. W. Jasper Howell pronounced the invocation at the student assembly, and musical selections were given by Hattie Predmetzky, Helen Sommers, Eloise West and Arthur Rouner.

Early Ability.

Miss Levine has distinguished herself in English composition throughout her high school course, and is now eligible to the commencement essay competition. When a little girl, attending Webster school, she began her writing, and sent many creditable contributions to the Busy Bee page of The Bee. She is a member of the staff of the Register, the school monthly paper, a talented musician and member of the Synopala club of high school girls. A college course is being planned for her. She was hurt in the tornado a year ago, and her parents lost all their possessions.

The committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which had charge of the essay contest, consisted of Mrs. R. C. Hoyt, Mrs. Walter D. Williams and Mrs. W. L. Selby.

CLEANUP DAY IS A SUCCESS

Hundreds of Tons of Rubbish Gathered by Cleaning Department.

MANY CALLS FOR THE WAGONS

Up to Noon 1,500 Requests for Teams Had Been Received at Commissioner Ryder's Office from Citizens.

Hundreds of tons of rubbish was gathered by the street-cleaning department Friday, the first of the two-day campaign to clean the city of the winter's accumulation of garbage.

Street Commissioner J. J. Ryder ordered 300 teams into the field to haul the rubbish to the dump grounds. The greater part of the refuse was dumped in a depression at Twenty-ninth and Cuming streets.

It was estimated that at least 10,000 persons joined in the cleaning-up campaign during the forenoon.

Commissioner Ryder's office at noon had received 1,500 calls for wagons to haul away the rubbish. In addition to the street commissioner's teams several private wagons were at work.

Fourteen Districts.

Commissioner Ryder visited the majority of the fourteen districts into which the city has been divided for the clean-up campaign and found the captains of the districts busy directing the work.

While the greater portion of the city will be swept clean in the two days of cleaning, the street-cleaning department will be kept busy for several days next week hauling the refuse away. The hauls to the dump grounds are so long that the teams cannot remove rubbish as fast as it is gathered.

Improvement clubs in all parts of the city took up the campaign and on their own account put several teams and many laborers in the field.

MICHIGAN DOMESTIC COURTS ACT IS VOID

LANSING, Mich., April 12.—The court of domestic relations in Detroit, established by an act of the last legislature, was held unconstitutional today by the state supreme court. Since the court was instituted its judge, Arthur J. Lacy, has granted about 80 divorces. The supreme court held, however, that these decrees are legal.

The opinion was based on the ground that the act falls within article 5 of the state constitution, which provides that the state legislature can pass no local or special act.

CREAMERY IS NOW TWO BITS

Fancy Butter at Twenty-Five Cents Pound is Market's Feature.

FRESH VEGETABLES COMING

Products of Early Spring Gardens Are Starting to Find Their Way to the Local Dealers' Counters.

Fancy creamery butter at 25 cents a pound, is one of the most alluring quotations the public has seen on this product in Omaha for a long time. Butter can be had at from 21 cents a pound to 25 cents. One big department store is handling dairy butter at 21 cents, fancy dairy table butter at 23 cents and fancy creamery butter at 25 cents, and the "best" creamery butter at 23 cents.

Fresh vegetables are beginning to find their way to the market now that spring has come. New cabbage is to be had at 2 1/2 cents a pound. Fresh beets, carrots, turnips, radishes, or shalots can be had at 4 cents a bunch. Fresh hothouse leaf lettuce is quoted at 10 cents for three heads. Fancy head lettuce is quoted at 7 1/2 cents.

California rhubarb is on the market at 7 1/2 cents a pound, new potatoes are still bringing 7 1/2 cents a pound. Ripe tomatoes go at 10 cents a pound, although the supply is not abundant yet. Large cucumbers are selling at 15 cents each. Cuban pineapples are selling at 15 to 20 cents apiece. Oranges can be had in almost any size and variety from 12 to 20 cents per dozen.

Sugar is now selling at twenty-three pounds for a dollar. Cornmeal is advertised at 15 cents for ten pounds of the best white or yellow meal. Best rolled or breakfast oats can be had in bulk 5 pounds for 25 cents.

Hand picked navy beans can be had at six pounds for 25 cents. Corn flakes can be had at 5 cents a package and yeast foam at 3 cents a package. Six cans of oil or mustard sardines are offered for a quarter.

All meats still hold up to a high price, according to Al King, manager of Hayden's meat and grocery department. Packers plead shortage of meat supply, saying that the run of cattle, hogs and sheep in the stock yards is small.
