FRIDAY, APRIL 24, 1914.

TRIED to count the various names for the new curls millady is wearing this spring. Listen to some of the names of this quaint fashion—there are fish hooks, side curls, cheek curls, forehead curls, devil curls, beau catchers, spit curls, and all kinds of names for these little wisps of hair.

The "forehead curl" is one of the most becoming of this popular mode; this is simply a ringlet on each side of the forehead. Miss Blanche Bates, the popular actress at the Orpheum this week, chooses this curl, and she wears her hair in the newest approved style, back from the forehead into a long French roll.

The "devil curls" curl up from the temple not unlike the proverbial little horns.

The "cheek curl" is the most popular of all; this is worn literally on the cheek—whiskers, someone aptly called them. This ringlet often reaches far out on the cheek, and is held in place either with a veil or with some sort of "stick tight" or art gum. Valeska Suratt at the Orpheum wore this fashion.

The "ring curl" is more graceful and not as stiff as the "cheek curl." It looks as though the wearer had naturally curly hair and a curly lock on either side (just in front of each ear) had become loosened from the well-groomed coiffure.

The new side curl is not as easy as it looks. It must be cut exactly to the prescribed length, curled in the prescribed manner and affixed to the cheek quite flat by means of stick tight. To be correct, it should be curled once round only, so as to look like a mark of interrogation lying sideways across the cheek, with the ear for its dot.

Baker-Foard Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Nellie Foard and Mr. David C. Baker of Wichita, Kan., took place Wednesday at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. George Foard, and Mrs. Foard, Rev. J. Franklin Haas of the First Memorial church performed the ceremony. The bride wore a gown of light blue crepe de chine, with overdress of shadow lace, trimmed with pink rosebuds. Mr. and Mrs. Baker will make their home at 2823 Spencer street, this city.

Arrangements have been made for a soiree dance to be given at the Grand hotel, Council Bluffs, Saturday evening, April 25. Miss Irene Hatchford and her party will demonstrate the latest society dances—the maxine, tango, hesitation, one-step and also the turlina, which was recently approved by the pope. The public has been invited.

The patronesses are: Messdames—C. T. Stewart, H. E. Hoff, Conkock, Leonard Evert, Wickham, Fred Davis.

Anderson-McKee Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Ethel I. McKee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. McKee of Kansas City, Mo., to Mr. Clark Lester Anderson, is announced. This wedding is the culmination of a southern romance. Mr. Anderson went to Little Rock, Ark., two years ago to engage in business. About this time Miss McKee visited her relatives in Little Rock, where she met Mr. Anderson. On March 23 she started on her return journey to Omaha to engage in new and permanent work in this city, but she stopped over the following day in Warrensburg, Mo., where Miss McKee was visiting a sister. The same day they were married and came on to Omaha. At present they are residing at 141 Lake street, with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben S. Anderson.

The Omaha Junior Club.

The young men of the Omaha Junior club will entertain at a dancing party this evening at Tupper's academy. A number of the young married set have been invited as special guests at this event.

HOME VEGETABLES ON MART

Asparagus is the First to Appear from Local Gardens.

STRAWBERRIES ARE CHEAPER

Coffee is Liable to Cost More Because of Mexican Situation—Pineapples Are Plentiful and Cheap.

The first batch of home-grown vegetables has made its appearance on the Omaha market. Asparagus was the first of the home-grown vegetables to appear, but radishes and onions are both now on sale.

Asparagus is selling at 7 1/2 cents a bunch, radishes three bunches for 5 cents and onions 10 cents for a dozen bunches. The supply of these vegetables promises to be ample this year and the prices should be very reasonable.

The home-grown spinach will soon be ready. Probably the first part of next week will see the green on the market. Other home-grown vegetables will be a little later.

Green peas have come in from the south. They are selling retail at 10 cents a quart, which is reasonable for early sale. Pineapples are coming into Omaha from the south. The first carload came in this week and the prices demanded are as reasonable as midseason prices. Five lbs are selling for 20 cents, 2 1/2 for 15 cents and 3 1/2 for 12 1/2 cents.

Strawberries Cheaper. Strawberries have gone down. The red berries are now selling at 10 cents a pint. The first part of the week 12 1/2 and 15 cents was standard.

Sugar has advanced in the wholesale price, but the retail price has not gone up and there is no likelihood that it will. Five cents was added to a 100-pound sack, but the retail price is still twenty-three pounds for $1.

According to Al King, manager of Hayden's grocery department, the price of coffee can be expected to go up on account of the Mexican war. A great deal of the coffee used in this country, according to King, comes from Mexico, and serious trouble in the Central American region will mean a decrease in the imports of coffee into this country, which will bring about the increase in price. No other articles are apt to be affected by the war.

Woman Has New Way to Punish Bad Boys

For the first time in his stormy career as health commissioner Dr. R. W. Conall was today completely flabbergasted. A woman called up and demanded that the health department put the son of her neighbor in the pest house.

"What's the matter with him?" asked the doctor.

"He's a nuisance."

"But we can't put him in the pest house because he's a nuisance. Has he got any contagious disease?"

"No, but he probably will have small-pox or something. He ought to have, anyway."

With that the irate woman hung up the receiver.

FATHER OF NINE DESERTS HIS FAMILY AT HASTINGS

Alfred R. Baker, husband of Mrs. Meagle Baker of Hastings and the father of nine children, has deserted his wife and little ones in Hastings and is thought to have come to this city. Once before Baker came to Omaha secretly and was found here by his brother, who forced him to return to his family.

Baker left his wife without funds to provide for her family and she is incapacitated because it is necessary that she care for her youngest baby who is only 4 weeks old. Mrs. Baker will endeavor to leave Hastings herself Saturday and will come to Omaha to look up her husband in case he is not discovered before that time.

Baker is 48 years of age, six feet tall, has dark hair and dark brown eyes, is smooth shaven and limbs slightly.

Yager Would Keep Political Colonels from the Volunteers

The Omaha delegation to the United Spanish War Veterans' convention at Lincoln has returned. At the meeting several Omaha men landed in the official roster, and the principal excitement was furnished by a motion by George E. Yager of Omaha that the organization go on record as opposed to appointing to head volunteer organizations men who had not had previous military experience. Mr. Yager explained that sixteen years ago the appointment of high regimental military experience was a source of discontent and criticism, and had injured the service. He referred to the appointment of W. J. Bryan as colonel of the Third Nebraska when he hardly "knew how to mount a horse." These appointments are always made by governors because of politics, said he, and not because of fitness for the places. He anticipated something of the kind in the present situation. Adoption of the motion was only prevented by its being ruled out of order.

Twelve new policemen were appointed recently and these will be placed on beats.

Commissioner Kugel has arranged to purchase two more motorcycles for the "flying squadron."

Joe Baughman, police chauffeur, has been transferred to a beat. Lee Fleming, garage helper, a brother of Detective Ed Fleming, has taken Baughman's place as the police patrol chauffeur.

LOCAL MARINES ANXIOUS TO GET INTO BATTLE

The call of the sea and the big guns, with its throng of sailors and other things, had come to the naval recruiting station in Omaha. Every "extra" is forthwith sought and studiously pursued by the eight men who form the recruiting company here. All of the men have been in the service, and "going back to sea" is the chief topic of conversation among them. Two of them have already asked to be returned to the fighting vessels of the navy and several others of the party have made their personal affairs ready to return to sea at once if war is declared against Mexico.

PARDINGTON MEETS WORKERS

Vice President of Lincoln Highway Addresses Enthusiasts.

MONEY IS FOR ROAD MATERIAL

Funds Being Collected by the Association for Purpose of Joint Expenditure with Various Localities.

A dozen good roads enthusiasts of Omaha met A. D. Pardington, vice president of the Lincoln Highway association, at luncheon at the Commercial club and heard him talk Lincoln highway for a solid hour. Among those present were H. B. Waldron, H. E. Fredrickson, S. R. Seare, Harry Lawrie, Randall Brown, Ed George and several others.

Mr. Pardington has been on a tour through Iowa touching the towns through which the Lincoln highway is to pass. He has held meetings throughout the state of Iowa. He is to return to Peoria tonight.

Mr. Pardington pressed home the point that the Lincoln Highway association is not a constructing organization, and that it does not expect to construct the road. He said the $10,000,000 the association expected to spend would be spent through the various communities, that is, through the county or state organizations. He said the plan was not quite worked out as to how the money would be spent, but it is his opinion that the association probably will be buy cement and other material and depend on the counties and states to furnish the money for the construction work while the association will supervise the construction.

Mus. Make Improvement.

He said there are 2,000 miles of the road west of Chicago that will need improvement. This he said would call for the expenditure of some $12,000 per mile, on the average. He told of the good work being done in Iowa, Illinois and other states and praised Nebraska for the fact that it bears the distinction of having held the first Lincoln Highway meeting in the United States after the association was organized. This was the meeting at Central City last year. W. F. Coan of Clinton, Ia., state consul of the Lincoln Highway for Iowa, was, with Mr. Pardington, Mr. Coan said had been busy deciding disputes in the various places in his state and that the route would be changed in perhaps two towns in Iowa. One of these, he said in Denison, Ia., at which point there is a dangerous railway crossing, where six persons were killed in a year in automobiles. He says the highway will be laid out likely a mile north or a mile south of Denison.
