Lightning Pierces Plates Near Pierce: Does Not Break Them

Up in Plerce county, north of Pierce the rain storm Wednesday night was accompanied by much lightning and in some places it played peculiar freaks. Bob ing," replied Mr. Moorhead. Tate of Omaha owns a ranch up there. that the ranch house had been struck by want to." lightning, though not much damage was

Tate's man on the ranch had just finished supper and he and the members of the family had moved back from the table. About this time the lightning atruck the chimney of the house and missioner, returned from Chicago after and got it. Holes were cut through the sanitation departments. plates as round and clean as if they had been made with drills. The plates were not broken

After the worst of the storm was over, the man in charge of the ranch went know, looking about, and on the table and on the floor found a lot of little balls as round as marbles, and of the same material as the kitchen dishes. He reached worth while. We ought to have medical the holes through the plates, melted the material of which they were made and then rolled each piece into a ball.

Uncle Sam Offers High Wages for a Skilled Farmer

Uncle Sam wants a farmer, an expert male farmer, if you please, and for the services of one who can qualify for the position, he will pay $1,500 a year, tomether with quarters, subsistence and laundry, or what is more familiarly known as "room and board." As wages for farm hands go, Uncle Sam is boosting the pay a little, for most private individuals would heaftate some time before offering $125 and board for a farmer.

However, the qualifications of the government are somewhat higher than the usual demands for farm hands. The applicant for this position, which is under the civil service, must be skilled in farm accounting, time keeping, reports and cost statements, care of gasoline engines and dairying as carried on in the irrigated districts, and the care of a range herd of more than 2,000 head of cattle. Examinations for this position will be held on June 17, at Omaha, and a number of other cities. Other examinations for civil service positions, as aid in handling poultry and eggs and for land grant college specialist, will also be held during

Burgess-Nash Co. Banquets Managers of the Departments

Fifty department heads of the Burgess-Nash company were banqueted by the concern at the Rome hotel Wednesday night. One of the most interesting features of the festivities was the absence of speechmaking and the entertainment was in the form of a musical and vocal program by Dick Bruun and the Solomon sisters, along with some vaudeville stunts.

The object of the banquet was to weld a closer relationship and acquaintance between the department managers and the concern, and as a step in the right direction, songs were sung in chorus by the whole attendance.

Toests were made to the new structure which will go up on the present site of the Boyd theater and which will give the present store much more needed room. The orchestra that furnished music for the banqueters struck up the melody, 'Maryland." to which the managers set the Burgess-Nash words.

The banquet hall at the Rome was especially decorated for the occasion.
