Administration Measures for Opening Up Valuable Resources-

OPPORTUNITIES IN THE WEST

Proposals of Large Domestic Im portance Pressed Upon Congress -Legislative Program that in Worth While.

In the general preoccupation of the na tional government with Mexican affairs and related international questions, public interest is diverted from more sober proposals of large domestic concern now before congress. One of these described by the Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post is the bill drafted by Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, for the opening of our oil, coal, phosphate and potash lands under a leasing system. Secretary Lane has a legislative program of his own which he is taking up one item at a time, and which he hopes to complete before this session adjourns.

The Alaskan railroad bill was the first big item on his program, and that is virtually through. The Alaskan coal leasing bill is just reported out of the house committee on public lands. Senator Myers and Representative Ferris, chairmen of the public lands committees of the senate and house, have introduced the administration bills governing the development of western resources. These bills are the result of conferences between Secretary Lane, themselves, and other members of the senate and house, and are intended to make available the coal, oil, phosphate and potash deposits of the west for immediate development. The form and substance of these proposals meet the approval of Gifford Pinchot and the conservationists who are associated
