for Heavy Damages for Girl's Injuries

Louisa Metula, by her mother, Victoria Metula, has brought suit against the Nonparell Laundry company for $30,000 for a personal injury alleged to have been received during the time she was employed to operate an ironing machine. The girl, who is 17 years of age, is said to have been injured on March 17, 1914, when a bed spread which she was feeding into the ironing machine became wrapped about the upper roller, drawing her right hand between the hot rollers. The Nonparell Laundry company is charged with failure to provide proper safety devices on the machine.

FOSTER WILL NOT HELP TO COLLECT TAXI BILLS

Judge Foster, who resumed his place n the bench in police court after an absence of a month, let it be generally known through a decision that the police court will hereafter refuse to play the role of a general collection agency for taxi drivers and automobile renters. The case in question was that of W. S. Cline, whom Carl Baer had arrested for fallure to pay a bill of $10. Baer, on Cline's statement that he had not been given a chance to get the money, was also arrested, and both were released on bonds. After hearing the case the judge discharged Cline and caused the bond of Baer, who did not appear, to be forfelted
