(From a Staff Correspondent.)
DES MOINES, June 5.—(Special Telegram.)—Active agitation among the stationary engineers for a special board to examine and license engineers in Iowa will be the outcome of the state convention of engineers here today. Some of the cities now license engineers, but there is no state regulation.

Plumbers to Plead Soon.
It was decided today that the indicted plumbers will be asked to report to the federal court by July 7 and plead to the indictments found here.

Two Days' Turnout at Holstein.
IDA GROVE, Ia., June 5.—(Special.)—Two thousand people, not only from northwest Iowa, but including delegations from Clinton, Des Moines, Davenport, Burlington, Muscatine, Ia., and Rock Island, Moline, and Ottumwa, Ill., are expected to be in attendance at the twenty-first annual turnout of the upper Mississippi Turn-Bear, to be held at Holstein, this country, June 12 and 13. Music will be furnished by the Cherokee and Holstein bands, and each day there will be two seasons of athletic events for women and for men. The program includes apparatus and field sports, special drills in calisthenics, mass drills and model exhibitions. The meeting will close with the awarding of prizes and a grand ball on Saturday night.

OVER THREE SCORE CHILDREN TAKE PART IN ACTIVITIES

Some congregated so closely in such a small area.
A crowd of thirty-five thousand. At a conservative estimate, over 4,000 persons, including 13,000 school children, participated and 20,000 in the audience, parked themselves on the parade grounds at Fort Omaha Friday afternoon at the public school play festival. From 1:30, the scheduled hour to begin the exercises, to 4:30, when the entire assembly rose, bareheaded, to sing the strains of the national anthem, "America," the immense gathering of people remained to look and wonder, despite the fact that a pitiless sun beat down upon their heads and a threatening storm was gathering.

The program did not start until after 3 o'clock, but no impatience was expressed by anyone. The band drill inaugurated the festivities. Five thousand pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades assumed their places on the parade grounds and sang a volume of melody echoed over the huge parade ground adding to the intensity of the most inspiring spectacle of the year and causing every last person present to go home with the breath of childish voices in his or her ears.

grounds and to the accompanying music of the Omaha High school cadet band swung their wands in perfect unison. It was a most inspiring spectacle and brought a hearty cheer from every pair of lips on the grounds. Twice the youngsters went through the drill in order that proper moving pictures could be made, and both times it seemed as if not one lad or lassie missed a single stroke.

Following the band drill came the two relay races between the boys of the different schools. The first division was for schools of over twelve rooms and the second for schools of under twelve rooms. Central Park school won the first division race and Miller Park the second division race. Each team in division one contained forty runners, while each team in division two contained thirty runners.

Held Competitive Games.
A series of competitive games including basketball, volleyball, arch ball, playground ball, long base, soccer foot ball, dodge ball and three deep and dodge ball and the better goes around were played between teams selected from the different schools. Boys and girls played alike and an intense desire for victory was shown in every child, making the competitions thrilling from gun to gun.

Concluding the program was the folk dances. Norwegian, Danish, English and Scotch folk dances were displayed by different classes and a Maypole dances was given by the eighth grade students of all the schools in Omaha.

All Sing "America."
The last number of the afternoon was the singing of "America." With the high school band leading all of the participating children marched to the center of the field and raised their sweet young voices in the national hymn. Instantly the spectators joined and when the fourth verse was being sung a volume of melody echoed over the huge parade ground adding to the intensity of the most inspiring spectacle of the year and causing every last person present to go home with the breath of childish voices in his or her ears.

has been looking over the situation with the intention of either filling for the republican nomination or getting out of the race entirely. Ross L. Hammond of Fremont, who has already filed for the republican nomination, was in town with a bunch of good friends from Omaha and Harry E. Sackett of Beatrice, who has filed for the bull moose nomination for governor, came last night by auto and was compelled to stay over on account of the rains.

Both Mr. Kemp and Mr. Hammond think the situation looks good for republican success if the right sort of man is nominated, but their natural modesty of course would not permit them to say for publication just whom they thought the man ought to be. Mr. Sackett would not make any predictions. The bull moose fellows are not showing much exuberance of feeling over the result of the Iowa primaries and the evident falling off in third party strength.

LEDYARD DEFENDS MORGAN

New Haven Director Finishes Discussion of Mellen Incident.

OFTEN OPPOSED THE MAGNATE

Connecticut Directors, He Says, Were Fine Bunch of Men, Careful, Energetic, Conservative, Worthy of Respect.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Lewis Cass Ledyard, continuing his testimony on New Haven railroad financial affairs before the Interstate Commerce commission, denied that the New Haven directors were "dummies" or that the late J. P. Morgan or former President Mellen dominated the board. He said he often had opposed Mr. Morgan; that the board meetings were well attended and that generally all the directors took part in the proceedings.

Mr. Ledyard's testimony was enlivened by a lively clash with Mr. Folk, in which the witness insisted on answering questions in his own way and appealed to Commissioner Daniels to sustain him. J. W. H. Crim, attorney for former President Mellen, read into the records Mr. Mellen's much discussed letter to former United States Attorney Wise at New York, assuming responsibility for the Grand Trunk deal under which Mellen was indicted. Mellen testified he took the responsibility to shield the late J. Pierpont Morgan.

Mr. Ledyard yesterday vigorously contradicted that contention. Mr. Crim merely read the letter and asked Mr. Ledyard if it accorded with his recollection and Mr. Ledyard replied it did. Mr. Ledyard told of Mr. Mellen telling him he had heard of some conference Mr. Morgan had with officials of the Grand Trunk and asked him to inquire of Mr. Morgan if he was worried about Grand Trunk matters.

"I asked Mr. Morgan if he was worried over Grand Trunk affairs and he said, 'Not a bit.'"
"Mr. Mellen sent the letter the same day he wrote it."
"My impression is he said he was sending it right along by messenger."
"Do you understand anything you say may be used against you?" asked Mr. Folk.

"Oh, yes."
"Your relations with Mr. Morgan were quite intimate. You made yachting trips with him and you drew his will and was made one of his executors?"
"That is correct."
Often Opposed Morgan.
Mr. Ledyard said he often opposed Mr. Morgan and had done so in the New Haven board.

"Did you oppose him enough to make him mad?"
"I never hesitated to tell him plainly what I thought."
Mr. Folk asked Mr. Ledyard about a small dividend in connection with an undivided syndicate which Mr. Morgan had urged him to accept, although he had said he did not want to take it.

"Well, you finally took it."
"Yes, as I have said before, I took it and gave it to a charity in which Mr. Morgan was interested."
"So he had his way, after all?"
"He had his way and I had mine," retorted Mr. Ledyard.

"You did not fuss with him very hard?"
"I refuse to answer that question."
Directors Are Strong.
"Were the Connecticut directors largely dummies?" Mr. Folk asked.

"I should not say that," Mr. Ledyard replied. "Mr. Mellen certainly was not a dummy. Charles F. Brooks was not. Mr. Brush was a most aggressive and obstinate old man. Mr. Whittemore was an able man of large interests. Mr. Frank Brewster was a young, energetic man, who asked many questions. Henry K. McHarg was a man of large interests."

Mr. Folk asked about Lawrence Minot. "He was a typical Boston trustee," Mr. Ledyard replied. "He was careful and conservative."
"How about James S. Elton?"
"He was a worthy and respectable man, who never impressed me as having a great knowledge of railroad affairs."

"How about Edward Milligan?"
"He made a good impression on me and when he first became a member of the board he showed a desire to know about things that were going on and never hesitated to speak out in meetings. This was rather unusual in a Connecticut director."

he is preparing to establish his provisional government. While no meetings between the mediators and either the American or Mexican delegates were scheduled for the day, the mediators themselves planned to act together to discuss the latest phases of the situation.

Villa Denies Friction with Chief.
CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, June 5.—The creation of the central division of the constitutional army and the placing of its command in the hands of General Panfilo Natera, are matters entirely within the province of General Carranza, commander-in-chief of the constitutional army, said General Villa today, when asked whether he wished to comment on the turn in military affairs in northern Mexico.

"I have always been ready to serve and have always served my country to the best I could, and will continue to guide my actions by what I consider to be the best in the interests of Mexico and its people," continued General Villa. "I will say that I am ready to make any sacrifice for my country, provided always that making such sacrifices will add the greater cause for which I have been fighting."

PRIMARY UPSETS DEMO DOPE IN IDA COUNTY
IDA GROVE, Ia., June 5.—(Special.)—One of the side features of the primaries week was an upheaval in the Ida county democratic camp. It is not often that there is a fight in Ida county over the election of democratic delegates, but there was one in every precinct of the county. Frank Hutton of the Holstein Advance intended to succeed Charles Britch as county chairman, and M. M. White was in command of his forces in the field. Opposed to the "slate" of the organization were those who wanted to put Julius Rohwer in as democratic county chairman. Major A. C. Johnson being in command. The Johnson forces won in seventeen of the twenty-one townships and Rohwer, who recently was elected to the office of state consul of the Iowa Modern Woodmen, will be the next democratic chairman.

LINER NORTHLAND IS ASHORE

Eastern Steamer Stranded on Reef Near New London, Conn.

PASSENGERS ARE TAKEN OFF

Attempt to Get Vessel Off at High Tide Fails—Part of Cargo Will Be Removed and Tugs Will Try Again.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 5.—The passengers from the Eastern line steamer Northland, bound from New York for Portland, Me., which went ashore on Bartlett's reef late last night, were safely landed in this city this morning and the ship later started for Boston and Portland on a special train. The captain and crew of the Northland remained aboard their ship, which is in no immediate danger, as the weather is fair. The passengers, seventy-five in number, were brought to port by the wrecking tug Tascos, which had been summoned by wireless.

The Northland grounded on Bartlett's reef, ten miles southwest of here, about midnight last night. There was a heavy fog over Long Island sound. There was little alarm among the passengers. An attempt to haul off the Northland was made at high tide this morning by three tugs, but the steamer remained fast on the reef. Arrangements were made to lighten the cargo, and at high tide another effort to float the vessel will be made.

It is believed here the grounding of the Northland was due to Captain Alfred Johnson, mistaking in the fog the Bartlett's reef light for that on Gull Island.

DEMOCRATS FACE DEFICIT

the country this year on the tariff law as it stands. Every effort will be made to avoid issuing bonds before the November elections. Being in power, the democrats are now on the defensive and they have enough to explain in the past year's record without adding a bond issue to it.

When the democrats took hold on March 4, 1913, there was a free balance in the treasury of approximately $15,000,000. That is to say, there was that amount available against which there were no charges of any kind. The free balance has now dropped to a little more than $7,000,000.

On the year's business up to May 25, inclusive, the treasury reports a deficit of more than $41,000,000. For the eleven-month period receipts from all sources aggregated more than $607,000,000, as compared with $580,000,000 last year, a decline of $27,000,000. Disbursements footed up to a total of $648,000,000, an excess over receipts of $141,000,000. Taking into consideration the decline in receipts, the increase in expenses and the steady inroads that have been made in the last year into the free balance, the condition of the treasury warrants concern on the part of the administration.

Budget Biggest Ever.

But this is not the whole story. Appropriations are piling up in this congress. The total budget for the year will be a record-breaker. It will surpass anything in the way of an appropriation record ever made by the republicans, who are noted as prodigal spenders. Last year the democratic congress appropriated $1,066,738,400. It is predicted that the appropriation of the current session, unless present tendencies are checked, may total $1,500,000,000. Herein lies the cause for nearly all the present worries.

With the returns from the income tax law the democrats might be able to show a surplus in the treasury in a few months. But on July 1 the new appropriations will become available, and the drain on the treasury will be renewed where it left off on June 30.

Within the last week there have been reports that the democrats were thinking of retaining a duty of 1 cent a pound on sugar as a means of bolstering up the revenues. On January 1, 1915, after a sliding scale of reduction in rates, sugar, by authority of the Underwood-Simmons tariff act, will go on the free list. Under republican tariffs sugar was the biggest single item of revenue. It yielded nearly $60,000,000 a year. The reduced rate on this product now in force has diminished receipts from this source and in a year or two sugar will not yield the treasury a penny.

Must Not Touch Tariff Now.

"We cannot touch the tariff before the November elections," said a democratic leader. "We've got to stand or fall by the law this year. After the elections we may have to revise the tariff, but if we have to get more funds before that time we will have to resort to a small bond issue."

The treasury statement of conditions does not indicate that business is bad throughout the country. Consumption, as indicated by receipts at the internal revenue bureau, is increasing. In the eleven months of 1913 receipts from this source aggregated $278,568,484.87. They increased to $278,521,758.12 in the corresponding period this year. While internal revenue receipts were increasing customs dropped from $278,000,000 to $267,000,000. Democrats have a lot of excuses to offer for treasury conditions. They say, in the first place, that with the growth of the country there is a consequent increase in the cost of maintaining the government. They aver that they expected customs receipts to decline and insist that the income tax will make up the deficiency on this account. They also have another excuse. They point out that the military operations against Mexico already have cost millions. One deficiency bill carrying $5,000,000 on this account has been passed. They expect to authorize further deficiency appropriations for the army and navy.

Trying to Keep Down Bills.
Democratic leaders responsible for the appropriation bills are making desperate efforts to keep expenditures within bounds. They have repeatedly given warning that the party would be called upon in the coming campaign to explain away the biggest budget that ever came out of congress. They are having little or no luck in curbing the member impetuosity to get appropriations on the eve of a campaign. The individual member takes little heed of the results of congress as a whole. At all times he appears to be concerned only with his own showing in the matter of appropriations for his district.

Up to date the "treasury watchdogs" have received little or no help from the administration in their efforts to keep appropriations within limits. President Wilson smiles when told about the appropriation trend in congress, but that is as far as he goes.

CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR GATHER IN CAPITAL CITY

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Neb., June 5.—(Special.)—Politics lived up a little today when two candidates for governor who have already filed and one more who has been considering the proposition were in the city at the same time. Senator J. H. Kemp arrived in the city yesterday and
