RAILROAD MANAGERS WORRY

Scarcity of Cars to Move Crop is a Problem.

GOVERNMENT REPORT FINAL

Heavy Movement Will Store and Money Will Pour Into This State.

Railroad men in Chicago are experi-Each house has living room, dining encing no small amount of anxiety over coom, kitchen, a bedroom and a bath the probable scarcity of sufficient cars com, and a good cellar, located I blocks to move the bumper wheat crop this season," said John Utt, general agent for will sell on easy terms. For futher in- the Rock Island, who has just returned

"Within a month or six weeks the movement of new grain will start, and indications are that every railroad in the middle west will be confronted with the difficult problem of securing a sufficient number of cars to transport the wheat from stations in the agricultural states to the central markets, in Kansas and Nebraska the situation promises to be particularly distressing, and departmental heads are worried over the problem which now confronts them."

The government estimate of the crop has been the last straw in convincing even the most skeptical of the enormous amount of grain which will be moved to market this fall. While the railroads have been busy for several weeks preparing their equipment for the transportation of grain, none of them has been able to expand their equipment as rapidly as the crop has developed. With harvest coming a week or ten days earlier than usual in the middle west, the situation promises to be an acute one from the very start. Never in the history of the country have such crops been promised all through the wheat belt, and while railroads have been taxed before, the greatest in the history of any of the lines west of the Missouri river.
