three could do nothing.

It looked promising for Omaha in the seventh when Grover got his second single with one down and Schipke hit a sizzler drive past first which looked good for three bases, but Mullen made a wonderful catch and doubled Grover at first.

Again in the eighth Krug singled sharffly to center and took second on Miller's second error. Thomason and Congalton failed to hit, however, and Omaha's chance to pcore was gone.

Rob! Burns Cigar 10<sup>4</sup> Little Bobbie 5<sup>4</sup>

How to discover "Satisfying Mildness"

You've heard men speak of the "satisfying mildness" of Robert Burns eigars.

Naturally, you've wondered what it all meant. No use asking them. They could not explain it in words. There is only one way to find out.

In the meantime - you are missing a great deal of tobacco pleasure by putting off your introduction to the Robert Burns Cigar.

AT the time when Lincoln was still a lawyer, the first Robert Burns was made. That was in 1857.

There were many other brands of cigars being made at that time.

With the one exception, the names of these brands are forgotten. The Robert Burns alone has stood the test of years.

The reason is not hard to find. Almost any tobacco and any kind of workmanship was considered good enough for other brands. But not for the Robert Burns. It has always been made according to a higher standard.

Its tcbacco is selected with the greatest care and cured to fullest-flavor before it is accepted. This same skill and care are used in blending these selected tobaccos in order to obtain uniform delicacy of flavor.

Has its old-fashioned honesty of workmanship and splendid tobacco been appreciated?

57 years have passed.

Today the Robert Burns is the most famous mildsmoking cigar on the market. It is sold at many of the millionaires' exclusive clubs, at the best hotels and at the finest tobacco shops from coast to coast.

Whenever men smokeregardless of the size of their check-books - the Robert Burns is always demanded because of its proved repu-tation for delicacy of flavor and satisfying mildness.
