STANDARD OIL DEAL BLOW

Loses Fight Against Government Regulation of Pipe Lines.

OPINION OF THE SUPREME COURT

Uncle Sam Company, Independent Concern, Exempted from Operation of Act by Judicial Body.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Standard Oil lost its vigorously waged fight against government regulation of its pipe lines today when the supreme court upheld the validity of the amendment to the Hepburn rate law, which declared all pipe lines across state lines common carriers, subject to the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The court exempted from the operation of the act the Uncle Sam Oil company, an independent. Chief Justice White and Justice McKenna dissented from this action. Justice McKenna also vigorously attacked the constitutionality of the act.

An Act of Relief.
Justice Holmes pointed out in announcing the majority's conclusion that the act was passed to relieve the country from monopoly of the Standard Oil company and the mere fact that the Standard's pipe lines owned all the oil it transported did not take it out of the class of common carriers.

Justice McKenna insisted that the exemption of the Uncle Sam company left the way open for the Standard to avoid the operation of the law. He asked if the Standard's lines would not be exempted, just as Uncle Sam's, if the Standard ceased to produce oil.

"What then," he inquired, "would become of the independent producer?"
The pipe line companies, Justice McKenna held, had done nothing outside of the exercise of the rights which all property owners possessed, namely, to use their own property exclusively for themselves.

AFFECTS CANAL BENEFITS

Decision in Inter-Mountain Rate Case Has Wide Application.

WILL HELP INTERIOR CITIES

Under Old Regime Benefits of Reduction Due to Water Competition Would Be Confined to Coast Points.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—That the distribution throughout the country of the benefits of the Panama canal will rest with the Interstate Commerce Commission and not with the transcontinental railroads is one of the conclusions being drawn today from the supreme court's decision in the intermountain rate case, in which, after two years of consideration the court upheld the orders of the commission by unanimous opinion. It has been generally claimed that the Panama canal would reduce freight rates from Atlantic seaboard points to Pacific coast cities and vice versa, but the question of to what extent the railroads might allow interior points to share in the benefits is in dispute. The decision of the court is that the commission will answer those problems and that the railroads may simply proceed to haul the freight. Had the decision been to the contrary it would have rested in the judgment of the railroads as to how the interior cities would share with seaboard cities in the benefits of water competition.

Applications from railroads to put into effect long and short haul rates throughout various sections of the country have been held up pending the court's decision. It is expected that the commission will at once take up those applications. With the supreme court's decision sustaining the Interstate Commerce Commission's intermountain rate orders the way is opened for shippers to recover sums estimated as great as $10,000,000 from railroads which have been charging the old rates while the case was being fought through the courts.

How It Affects Railroads.

NEW YORK, June 23.—L. J. Spence, director of traffic of the Southern Pacific company, issued a statement here today relative to the decision handed down yesterday by the supreme court in what is popularly known as the intermountain case.

"The immediate effect of the decision," says the statement, "is largely within the control of the carriers, because the commission is expected to recognize the propriety of the transcontinental lines advancing the rates to Pacific coast terminals which are less than reasonable when ever they desire to do so, to a basis that will preserve the rates to intermediate points, the majority of which have been prescribed or found reasonable by the commission."

"The unfavorable feature of the decision is in the serious restriction which it puts on the transcontinental lines in their future efforts to meet sea competition, which in the near future promises to become more acute than it has ever been by requiring them to choose between making rates to Pacific coast terminals to retain business against the competition of the sea and reducing rates to intermediate destinations to conform to the prescribed formula of the commission, or abstaining from making rates to hold business against the competition of the sea and thereby surrendering a volume of traffic in which they might have otherwise continued to participate with a measure of profit."

VALUABLE DIAMONDS BACK

George White, Railroad Man, Says Advertisement Lands Them.

GIVES THE ROBBER $1,200

Case Which Has Baffled the Police is Ended When White Tells the Officers He Has Recovered the Loot.

A bold, bad, gun-toting robber, who in the still hours of the night robs people from their beds and despoils them of their valuables, is susceptible to the virtues of advertising, the Omaha police department learned, when George White, railroad man living at 202 North Eighteenth street, declared that the gunman returned $2,500 worth of diamonds and jewelry and accepted a $1,200 reward on a "no questions asked" basis. In this manner a case which for weeks has baffled the most cunning of the Omaha sleuths, is ended and the department has learned a new way to solve baffling cases.

PICKARD APPEARS IN COURT

Burns Detective's Hearing, However Postponed Till July 7.

WILL TELL THE WHOLE TRUTH

Accused Man Declares that He Will Shield No One and Everything that Transpired Will Be Divulged.

Inability of attorneys to appear Tuesday caused postponement of the preliminary hearing in Justice Britt's court of F. M. Pickard, Burns detective, charged with attempted bribery, and consequently of the sensational revelations promised when Pickard takes the witness stand in his own behalf.

Pickard appeared in court in accordance with the terms of his bond and his hearing was set for July 7. His attorney, he said, was unable to appear and County Attorney Magney also was absent, as he has not yet returned from an eastern trip resulting from his attendance at the Toledo convention of the Modern Woodmen. The county attorney's office was represented by Deputy Platt.

Pickard adhered to his former statement that when he takes the witness stand he will tell the whole truth, let it hurt whom it may. It is said that local police officials already have knowledge of a considerable part of the evidence which Pickard will present and that it is of highly sensational character.

It is known that Pickard is no longer in the employ of Burns and that he and his lawyer have determined to conduct his defense without attempting to shield Burns or the Daily News. Announcement to this effect was made by him following his release under bond several weeks ago.

Pickard's $2,000 bond was continued in force.

Olympic Committee Rejects Base Ball

James E. Sullivan, head of the American delegation, requested that base ball be included, but the president, Baron de Coubertin, reminded him that it was necessary, in order to have base ball considered an international sport, that six countries should play the game.

The congress also decided that notification of the number of entries must be made to the committee a month in advance and the names of the entrants fifteen days in advance. Archery and Rugby football were adopted as permissible sports.

Heard in the Wheat Fields of the State

The hot weather of the last few days has ripened the wheat more rapidly than had been generally anticipated and practically the entire southern tier of counties will be well into the harvest by the beginning of the coming week. While the harvest has not yet become general enough to produce a shortage of laborers to handle the crop, it is said that every available harvest hand will be put into the harness in Nebraska this year.
