GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

No Action on Wheat Expected on This Market Next Month.

FARMERS ARE HOLDING GRAIN Winter Belt Growers Are Holding Back Their Offerings in Hope of Prices Taking to a Little Higher Level.

OMAHA, June 29, 1914.

There will be no action of wheat in this market during next month, and for this reason there will be little of this grain for delivery on July contracts. It is said there is still a good sized open interest in that month, which means that the shorts will either be obliged to go into the pit and even up their positions of purchase with the country and bring it in and deliver it. Condutions in the July future are abnormal. The largest wheat crop we have ever raised in this country is at our very doors, but it is said that the longs in the July will demand delivery of the grain bought, as they purchased it for the purpose of shipping it to the old world. There is no open interest in the August future, but the outward movement of wheat during the last month eill take care of everything that is sent here, as well as in the smaler markets.

minated the wheat market today, but not until after a buying flurry due in part to unfounded rumors of the discovery of blackrust. The market closed steady at a decline of % to %67%, compared with Saturday night. Corn and oats suffered a net loss of % to %6. In provisions the outcome was $667% to 100$21%c ad-

Although rushes to the buying side of wheat unsettled the market during the first half of the session, the upward ac-tion of prices invariably proved spas-modic, whereas the late decline had a unimodic, whereas the late decline had a uniform continuous character. Higher cables tended early to help the bulls, but subsequently were more than offset by the bearish aspect of the Kansas state crop report. The rust found in the spring wheat region turned out to be the red variety, which causes no damage. Pressure was put on the corn market as a result of rains, breaking the drought in Kansas and Oklahoms. Absence of relief in the Ohio Valley was lost sight of, and so also were advices of threatened delays to Argentine shipments. Hedging sales pulled down cats. Shorts taking profits seemed to be about the only buyers.

Provisions rose with hogs. Packers
