Extra Cars for the Fourth—Out in the state on some of the branch lines the Nebraska roads will run extra coaches on the passenger trains in order to take care of the Fourth of July crowds that are expected, but there will not be any special trains. It is figured that with the great number of automobiles in use, special trains will not be needed to carry people back and forth from towns where celebrations are held.

Measures Are Taken to Stop the Plague

NEW ORLEANS, June 29.—Following the death here today of Charles Landene, whose malady yesterday was diagnosed as bubonic plague, and the discovery of a second case at Governor Hall of Louisiana, Mayor Behrman of New Orleans, members of the legislature and health authorities held a conference to determine on methods to be employed by the city and state in stamping out the disease. The legislature is expected to take action immediately to stop the spread of the plague.

TENDER-HEARTED MOTORMAN AND BRICKBAT SAVES CAT

One black cat and a yellow mongrel dog held up traffic for a number of minutes at Sixteenth and Harney streets during the early part of last evening. The black cat, scolding from under the fence of the new bank building, caught the eye of the dog just when it was too late to retreat. The cat, being unable to escape, was forced to do a regular Huerta stand and fight right in front of the southbound car. The promenade at that popular corner quickly gathered and began yelling encouragement to their favorites. The blockade was complete.

The motorman of the southbound car, being possessor of a tender heart, refused to budge an inch until the cat was removed. Its ruffled fur and extended claws did not invite interference.

A well directed brick by the ever present small boy effectively took all the rage and prejudice out of the dog, and with a yelp he was gone, and the car moved on.

DIRECTED HER OWN FUNERAL

Obsequies for Mrs. Tilden Carried Out as She Had Wished.

MANY FRIENDS AT SERVICES

Well Beloved Woman, Noted for Labor for Public Good, Led to Rest in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

In the funeral and burial services Sunday afternoon for Mrs. Ida V. Tilden, wife of Dr. George Tilden, whose death occurred last Thursday, detailed directions written by Mrs. Tilden several years ago for the conduct of her funeral were carried out to the letter.

In the course of her orderly and systematic life she had written out complete and minute instructions where she wished her funeral to be held, what minister she desired to officiate, what kind of a casket she wished to be buried in, with no floral tributes on the casket except a flower cross from her husband, what music and speaking she wished at the services, and even which of her many intimate friends she wished to ride together in the various carriages in the funeral procession.

In accordance with her written request, the funeral service was held in the auditorium of the Young Women's Christian association building, Mrs. Tilden was active president of the association for many years, and at the time of her death was its honorary president. She was a leader in the campaign to finance and erect the new building a number of years ago.

Because of her wide acquaintance and many friends, and on account of her prominence in association work and many other philanthropic, religious and uplift organizations, it was decided to hold the funeral publicly, and to have the body of Mrs. Tilden lie in state in the association building before the funeral services.

Many at Public Service. Over 600 men and women crowded into the auditorium of the building for the public service. Several thousand people, who were downtown at noon to attend churches, filed past the beautiful gray casket for a last glimpse of the features of the departed woman, whom all revered and respected for her long and unselfish service for the public good in Omaha.

A simple but fitting service was conducted by Rev. Edwin Hart Jenks, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Tilden was a devoted member for thirty-six years. He said that the attendance of so many people was impressive testimony to the esteem in which Omahans hold the memory of one whom prominent citizens had frequently designated as "the foremost woman of the city."

The minister referred to the epitaph of Sir Christopher Wren, architect of St. Paul's cathedral in London, and applied it to the work of Mrs. Tilden. "Look about you for her monument," he said, "and you will find it in the splendid Young Women's Christian association building, in the Old People's Home and in the many other useful and charitable enterprises, to which Mrs. Tilden devoted her life. Her loss is mourned by the whole people, for her spiritual energy and practical capacity were no great thing, scarcely any movement for the public good failed to find in her an ardent champion."

Inspiration to Her Friends. In conclusion, Rev. Dr. Jenks, commended her zeal for good works to the emulation of her many friends, who would undoubtedly find inspiration and help in her life's record.

A prayer and scriptural reading, and music by the quartet of the First Presbyterian church, completed the services. "Lead, Kindly Light," was sung by the quartet, which consists of Mrs. Walter E. Dale, Miss Ruth Gannon, William H. Hunter and George S. Johnston, director. Mr. Johnston also sang a solo, "Face to Face." R. S. Walker, church organist, played the piano accompaniment.

A corps of women as honorary pallbearers, composed a guard of honor at the association building. They stood on either side of the casket, while the crowd filed by to view the body.

They were selected as representatives of the various organizations, in which Mrs. Tilden was active, and included:

- Mrs. G. E. Abbott, Edward Johnson; Mrs. Philip Taylor, Philip Potter; Mrs. J. N. Wilhelm, S. D. Barkalow; Mrs. E. K. Spalding, Watson B. Smith; Mrs. E. O. Loomis, C. B. Jettie; Mrs. G. E. Test, W. N. Halsey; Mrs. Robert Dempster, W. P. Harford; Mrs. C. L. Bradley, S. W. Fitch; Mrs. Draper Smith, J. A. Aiken.

The active pallbearers were: C. C. George, A. D. Schermerhorn; H. A. Doud, C. M. Wilhelm; Robert Cowell, John C. Wharton.

After the funeral services downtown, the body was escorted to Forest Lawn cemetery by many friends, and interred there in the Tilden family lot, where a son is already buried. Many beautiful floral pieces were sent by individuals and organizations.

A memorial service was held last evening at the University of Omaha, in connection with the Omaha Summer School of Missions, with which Mrs. Tilden had been closely connected.

Carranza Says U. S. Is Dictating

LAREDO, Tex., June 29.—"Constitutionalist leaders who have the sympathy of all the people of Mexico behind them will not allow the dignity of the nation to be lowered by the interference of any foreign power in the international affairs of the country."

This declaration was made by General Carranza at a banquet at Monterey Saturday night, according to travelers who arrived here today. Carranza, it was said, asserted that the United States was assuming a dictatorial attitude. The 400 Mexicans who attended the banquet received the declaration with cheers, it is declared.

"The constitutionalist movement has proceeded to such a point," the first chief is quoted as having said, "that the party has nothing to fear except from the Judases in its own ranks." He mentioned no names.

One Man is Killed in Explosion in Mine

TRINIDAD, Colo., June 29.—One man is reported dead in the shaft of the Royal mine of the National Fuel company near Aguilar as the result of an explosion tonight. Officials of the mine have declined to confirm the report. No report has been made to the coroner. The man reported dead is said to have been the only one in the mine when the explosion took place.

Burlington Track Worker Is Killed

Frank Kowalski, a track worker on the Burlington, was killed last night at the south end of the sixteenth street viaduct when a switch engine in charge of Engineer G. Miller, 312 South Second street, sent a string of cars into a bunk car under which Kowalski was sleeping. All the men in the car were sleeping on the grass near the tracks and when it began to sprinkle slightly they moved under cover. Kowalski getting under the car. John Kim suffered a dislocated arm.

AUTOISTS NARROWLY ESCAPE

Max Geisler and A. Witaschek Jump Train Hits Car.

ON DODGE ROAD U. P. CROSSING

Two Men Beach Track Just as Passenger No. 8 Approaches and Leap in Ground for Safety.

By jumping out of a moving automobile just a moment before it was struck and completely demolished by eastbound Union Pacific train No. 8 at the Dodge road crossing on the Lane cut-off, about eight miles west of Omaha, Sunday afternoon, Max Geisler and A. Witaschek of this city narrowly escaped the fate of probably instant death by Geisler's driver, Dr. A. H. Koenig, who was called, gave it as his opinion that the woman had been dead several hours. The gas in the room had been turned on.

For some time Miss Huffman had worked in South Omaha restaurants. Her health is said to have been poor and she never seemed to hold one place long. She is said to have sought for work in vain all day Saturday. Late in the evening she is said to have applied to relatives for money. It is thought that when the money did not arrive she gave up the fight. After her death Deputy Coroner Larkin is said to have found 50 cents in her purse.

The dead woman is said to have been married and divorced. Her father, John Huffman, is an Omaha real estate man and her mother lives in York, Neb. Pending the arrival of her mother the funeral arrangements will be withheld.

Plans of Some Candidates. Within the next few days democrats and republicans alike will be treated to the sight of certain old has-been politicians filing for state offices. At least one of the would-be candidates has been turned down by the people before this and it is quite probable he will meet a like fate this time. The latest platform of the men is incorporation talk. This is supposed to be said on the tails of the economic dinosaur. The second step is to advertise themselves as the chosen candidates of this corporation and that corporation. This last practice is now actually the order of the day in South Omaha. Just now the street car candidate is being made the goat. The said candidate is advertising himself as the elect of the street car company and the Union stock yards.

Police Investigate Holdup. James Burns is in the South Omaha hospital and his partner, Dr. D. Doyle, is in the city jail while the police are investigating a holdup story told by the two men, who say they are from Chicago. According to the men, they were waiting under the O street viaduct to catch a train out of Omaha. About 10:30 o'clock they were set upon by two white men who beat Burns up badly, cutting his throat and face severely. The highwaymen got 40 cents from their victims. One of the robbers was a tall thin man, while the other was short and stout. Dr. Humpl treated Burns and sent him to the South Omaha hospital.

Rolliska Cut on the Arm. Mike Rolliska, 2715 R street, was out over the artery of the right arm yesterday in an altercation with Joe Sviller while the two were having a celebration at the home of Rolliska. Rolliska's wounds were dressed by Dr. Humpl and Sviller was locked up. Rolliska says they were drinking when the trouble arose. Sviller gave expression to his dislike for Rolliska and the fight followed. In the fight Sviller is said to have pulled a razor and slashed Mike.

Garard Gets Cracked Skull. Frank Garard had his skull cracked yesterday afternoon in a fight with Walter Glow at Twenty-seventh and L streets. Glow and Garard work at Dan Hannon's coal yard. Yesterday they got into a wrangle, it is said, and Walter retired to a prudent distance and discharged his hand battery at Frank. Dr. Humpl attended the injured and sent Garard home. Glow was locked up.

Resters from Convention. Approving the Cummins bill, which eliminates the limited valuation clause in moving cattle and makes the railroad liable for the full value of the cattle injured while in transit, W. B. Tagg in his report to the South Omaha Live Stock exchange this morning of the doings of the national live stock convention just closed at Minneapolis announced a number of other interesting features about which things the bureau of animal industry was asked to inspect hogs at the scales instead of the method used at present. The convention was also opposed to the temperature tests now used by the bureau of animal industry in making tests on suspected hogs. The next meeting of the convention will be at Indianapolis.

Those of South Omaha who returned from the convention are: W. B. Tagg and wife, H. H. Roberts, E. W. Cahow, J. P. Frederick, W. J. Hoopes, Sam Wertheimer, wife and family, W. E. Reed, M. N. Flynn, A. F. Stryker.

Tom Moore, Bernard Gordon, Tom Laffried, Frank Rogers and Edward Jones were arrested last evening by Captain J. H. Carey and Special to the Chief Mike Gillin. The men were accused of having assaulted two little boys in the neighborhood of the Rock Island tracks in Alhright. The men were let off with sentences ranging from five to fifteen days each.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Lizzie Huffman Found Dead in Local Rooming House.

SUPPOSED CASE OF SUICIDE

Woman Out of Work, Out of Health and About Out of Money Puts an End to All Her Troubles.

Lizzie Huffman, waitress, 36 years old, sick and weary with the struggle of life, committed suicide by gas asphyxiation yesterday morning at her room, 22 North Twenty-fourth street. The woman's body was found about 9 o'clock by Mrs. Ralph Muller, who occupied an adjoining room. Dr. A. H. Koenig, who was called, gave it as his opinion that the woman had been dead several hours. The gas in the room had been turned on.

For some time Miss Huffman had worked in South Omaha restaurants. Her health is said to have been poor and she never seemed to hold one place long.
