ARMED CAMPS IN IRELAND

Many Think Prospect of Bitter Civil is Best Safeguard for Peace.

NATIONALIST ARMY GROWING

Number of Men Enlisted is Estimated at All the Way from Eighty Thousand to Quarter of a Million.

LONDON, July 6.—With every week of suspense in the settlement of the future government of Ireland, the menace of the military preparations by the Ulster and the Home Ruler volunteers increases. The present tendency among the volunteers of the south is to accept leadership by the nationalist party which John Redmond offered them. Thus led, there would be a clear division of Home Ruler and anti-Home Ruler men into hostile camps. The very danger of a bitter civil war which such a division presents, furnishes the best safeguard for peace.

Correspondents of the Associated Press at Dublin and Belfast have written of the situation from the nationalist and Ulster points of view, respectively. The most interesting development is the plan, hitherto unpublished, of the Orangemen under Sir Edward Carson for taking charge of affairs by force if a provisional government is set up, and the fact that the commercial men of Belfast have used their influence in Ulster councils to postpone radical action until a Home Ruler parliament has been established in Dublin. The great question which confronts the Nationalist volunteers is how far their American sympathizers are likely to come forward with funds for their arms and equipment.

Strength of the Nationalists. DUBLIN, July 6.—Estimates of the number of Irish Nationalist volunteers vary between 80,000, which is the Dublin castle figures compiled by the police, and 200,000, which is the estimate given in platform speeches. Careful inquiry shows that there are 60,000 in Leinster, which takes the lead, about 45,000 in Ulster (increasing rapidly), 20,000 in Munster and 20,000 in Connaught.

The difficulty of exact estimate arises from the fact that the movement is not organized from the center. Forces have sprung up spontaneously in every parish, and so far are only loosely connected with the provisional central body. There has been a complete wiping out of all class distinctions, and the rank and file include every grade—farmers, laborers, shop assistants, clerks, doctors, lawyers and country gentlemen. There is a very strong leaven of time-expired soldiers—old Connaught rangers, Dublin fusiliers and Munster fusiliers, and their experience is proving useful in the drill.

Officers of Experience. The chief military commanders are Colonel Maurice Moore, who commands the Connaught rangers in the Bow-street, and Captain Whitey, a son of the General White, who defended Ladysmith. Recent accessions are Sir Henry Grafton Bell, a grandson of the great Henry Grafton, who had experience in the fifth Dragoon guards; and Captain Hollingsham, brother of the marionettes of Bute, who is Lord present an excellent soldier. Military experience, however slight, is at a premium, and a medical student, with a little volunteer training, is commanding a sergeant's squad which includes among the privates, a university professor of law.

The army has extremely little equipment and almost no money. But the material is excellent and the enthusiasm unbounded. Mr. Redmond's open association with the movement will remove the difficulty of getting money. The men in charge of the movement are for the most part unknown and there has been much reluctance to provide funds till the public knew who would spend the money and for what.

Strong Central Body. The central body consists of twenty-five men, of them fifteen are said to be Home Rulers, in sympathy with Mr. Redmond, but the more active, influential and effective spirits are members of the Sinn Fein party. They have few supporters in the country and the great bulk of the volunteers are supporters of Redmond. Mr. Redmond offered his cooperation to the central body if he was allowed to nominate an equal number of men on it, pending the election of the volunteer branches of the central executive. Falling acceptance he will recommend each county to govern itself.

This offer was rejected at a hastily summoned meeting of the executives who proposed that each county should elect a representative to sit with them. This has produced a strong protest from Prof. Kerr who says the meeting was not properly convened and asks for a full meeting when the members would accept Mr. Redmond's offer. Mr. Redmond cannot allow a movement mainly composed of his supporters to be commanded by a self-qualified body, of which the most active members are opponents of his. Once the volunteers members can hold their convention to check an executive, the matter will settle itself. Meantime there may be friction which will be obviated to a great extent by making each county govern its own volunteers.

ACCIDENT REPORT FOR IOWA

Twenty-five Occur in Hawkeye State During Two Days.

UNDER COMPENSATION LAW

Reports Filed Within Forty-eight Hours with Industrial Commission in Accord with Provision of the Newly Passed Act.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Ia., July 6.—(Special Telegram.)—Twenty-five accidents occurred in Iowa July 1 and 2, the first two days of operation of the workmen's compensation law, according to reports filed in the office of Warren Garst, industrial commissioner. The law requires reports to be sent in to the capitol within forty-eight hours. All of the accidents reported were of minor nature, and consisted of cuts and bruises. Several workmen had fingers and other particles lodge in their eyes.

Fruit Crop Is Not High Grade. The reports from the orchards in the central division of the state are this month somewhat discouraging as to the fruit prospects for Iowa. The hot and dry weather of the last month has been bad for the apples and most of the tree fruits, and the quality of the crop has deteriorated rapidly. The small fruit also has suffered nearly as much. The corn crop has been making wonderful strides and is standing up well. A larger part of the corn is finished off for the season than usual at this time. Harvest will begin in parts of the state this week and the small grain is reported to be generally good.

REFORM IN BANK CHECKS

Reform in the printing of bank checks is the latest move of the reformers in Iowa. It is headed by the officials of the State Banking association, who have hope that it may be extended to all parts of the country. In fact, it will be put up to the American Bankers' association at the Richmond meeting in October. The plan is to have the bankers all adopt a uniform size for all bank checks and drafts, probably having different sizes for the various kinds of papers. It is pointed out this would be of very great advantage to all bankers and all users of bank paper.

State Farm to Be Developed. The first work of the Board of Control in connection with the new farm purchased near Woodward for the epileptic village will be that of development of the farm, and to this end the board has employed F. J. McGuire of Cerro Gordo county to be superintendent of the farm. The state will work the farm from the first and cease renting it out. The board has just started surveys out to make a complete survey and topographical mapping of the entire farm so as to get the elevations and area ready for the work of building, which will commence as soon as the legislature approves of the plans made for buildings.

An Insurance Fight Is On. One of the first of the insurance fights to be started because of the workmen's compensation law is over the right of the manufacturers of the state to engage in mutual insurance. The outside casualty companies have caused to be started at Okaloosa a suit to compel the employers' mutual company to desist from writing insurance, on the theory that the company is writing policies that violate the law. This is the first of the mutual companies to begin work in the state. The old line casualty companies are declared to be much exercised over the plan to have much of the insurance carried by the Iowa employers in mutual companies.

TWO CONFESS PART IN TRAIN ROBBERY IN OREGON

The slain man, they said, was Charles Manning, cousin of Hugh Whitney, a notorious desperado. Whitney, the men said, gave Manning the watch by which the body at first was identified as that of Whitney, himself.

Meadows and Stoner were caught late last night at Hilgard, Ore., and most of their booty was recovered.

Borah Fights to Force Debate on Treaties Through Open Meets

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Senator Borah of Idaho today began fight in the senate to force consideration of the Colombian and Nicaraguan treaties in open session. He presented a resolution also calling for the publication of all investigations by the foreign relations committee. It was put over until tomorrow, under the rules. "I cannot get the consent of the senate to have this Nicaraguan treaty considered in the open," said Senator Borah. "I will be forced to disregard the rules of the senate. I have not attended a single session of the committee since the present hearings began because I did not propose to submit the results of my investigation to the clamp of secrecy in executive session. If the Nicaraguan treaty is brought out into the open it will die, as it ought to die. I believe it is the outgrowth of deception, misrepresentation, fraud, tyranny and corruption and I'm prepared to show it."

Senator Borah declared the treaty was not being negotiated with "the people of Nicaragua or the officers they have set up and elected, but with puppets we ourselves have set up in their government." Under the rules the resolution went over until tomorrow. A resolution to investigate how the secret doings of the committee get into the newspapers was adopted.

BAPTIST SPEAKER ATTACKS THE 'OLOGIES' AND 'ISMS'

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 6.—"You can't harness up the holy spirit to work out your own little private schemes," Rev. E. W. Hunt of Boston said at one of the closing sessions of the twenty-first convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America, meeting with the Baptist Young People's Union of the South, here today. "The problem of the hour today is the problem of power," he said. "The question of the church is 'What has become of the power of God?' The wealth of the world is in our churches. The thing lacking is the power of God to build up and send them." Dr. F. C. McConnell of Waco, Tex., attacked the modern "ologies" and "isms," when he asserted that many of them make an attempt to undermine people's faith in the Bible. "I am not here to defend the Bible," he said. "It does not need any defense, but I believe that many of the 'ologies' and 'isms' of today are striking at the very bulwark of divine hope and joy and the point of attack is the Bible."

CURTISS TESTS AMERICA WITH ONE MOTOR RUNNING

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., July 6.—Glenn Curtiss today made a test flight in the America, the Rodman Wainmaker Transatlantic flying boat, with only one motor running. The machine flew steadily and but little adjustment of the rudder was required to offset the torque of the single propeller.

It had been held that should one motor stop while the machine was in flight it would be necessary immediately to shut down the other in order to avoid overturning the craft, but Mr. Curtiss flew today with first one propeller stopped and then the other without affecting the machine's balance enough to be noticed by the crowd watching the flight.

ANARCHIST PLOT REVEALED

Inflammatory Literature and Death-Dealing Tools Found.

POLICE SEARCHING THE RUINS

Revered Head Clutching Two Small Pieces of Wire Made Ready for Connections in Uncovered.

NEW YORK, July 6.—In the ruins of the treatment wrecked yesterday by the explosion of a bomb, which, it is believed, was intended for use against John D. Rockefeller, Jr., the authorities today found evidence that Arthur Caron, who was killed with three others, had had his apartment as a center for the distribution of inflammatory literature and that it was filled with death-dealing explosives.

A small printing press, revolutionary pamphlets and circulars, an electric dynamo, two electric batteries, cartridges and bits of steel, were among the articles uncovered, which tend, in the opinion of the police, to show an anarchistic plot. Two of those killed in the wrecked building were agitators, who were to be placed on trial at Tarrytown tomorrow on charges of disorderly conduct in connection with the demonstration inaugurated against Mr. Rockefeller, as a protest against his attitude in the Colorado coal mine strike. The body of the fourth victim of the explosion was found today. It was that of Charles Berg, known in industrial workers of the World circles as the "big Swede," associate of Caron.

Other Victims.

The other victims were Charles Hanson and Mary Chase. The woman lived in an apartment next to the one occupied by Caron and his associates. Equally as interesting as the discovery of anarchistic literature and electric machinery in the ruins of Caron's room was the assertion by Industrial Workers of the World leaders that Caron was not a member of that organization, having recently been refused admission. They declared that the Industrial Workers of the World had nothing to do with the explosion. A gruesome but suggestive piece of evidence uncovered was a severed hand which clutched two small pieces of wire made ready for connections. The authorities believe that the owner of this hand was in the act of making an electric connection for one of the bombs and a battery when the explosion slew him.

Search is Meticulous.

The search for papers and notes was minute and some notebooks with the name of several anarchists were found. There were also pamphlets which had been sold at Industrial Workers' meetings. One poem, an attack on Christianity, is believed to have been printed on the little press. Another of the papers found was an appeal for funds to pay the fine of Lord Frank Tannerman, who was sentenced to a year in prison and fined $50 for disorderly conduct in connection with an Industrial Workers of the World demonstration.

Louise Berger and Eleanor Fitzgerald, a teacher in the Francisco Ferrer school, were questioned as to what they knew of bombing in the flat. They disclaimed any knowledge of it.

A general alarm was sent out today for the arrest of Michael Murphy, whose real name is said to be Aspentini, who was in the flat at the time of the explosion, and whose escape from death is considered miraculous. He was in the hands of the police a short time after the explosion, but before the real nature of the case was learned, he was released.

Alexander Berkman, anarchist and associated with Emma Goldman, in the publication of "Mother Earth," an anarchist paper, was questioned at length yesterday and tonight and said that none of the dead men was a member of the Industrial Workers of the World.

He said a number of anarchistic organizations were already making plans Saturday afternoon for a public funeral.

A party of sympathizers, including Berkman, will go to Tarrytown tomorrow, he said, to attend the trials. No unusual precautions to guard the Tarrytown court room have been taken. Sheriff Doyle stated today that he did not anticipate any trouble.

John D. Rockefeller went to church this morning at Pocantico hills. He intended to church, but insisted upon walking back to his estate, accompanied only by his superintendent. There were no Industrial Workers of the World about the place today or tonight and the guard on duty had little to do.
