

WELSH IS WINNER ON POINTS

Briton Beats Willie Ritchie in Twenty-Round Bout.

FINAL ONE SWIFTEST OF ALL

Briton Has Better of the Last—American Several Times Cautioned for Holding in the Clinches.

LONDON, July 7.—Freddie Welsh, light-weight champion of England, today beat Willie Ritchie on points in the twenty-round fight for the light-weight championship of the world at Olympia.

In the opening rounds Welsh scored more points than Ritchie. In the fifth round, however, Ritchie forced the fighting and in this and the next two rounds there were some sharp exchanges and heavy fighting in which Ritchie generally got the upper hand. Several times the American was cautioned for holding in the clinches.

In the eighth round the Welshman recovered his frivolous and in this and the ninth round forced the fighting and had the better of the encounter.

Ahead in First Half.

When half the match was over Welsh led easily on points. Ritchie revived somewhat in the eleventh.

He had the thirteenth all his own way. The fourteenth was also all Ritchie's. Then both allowed up. In the seventeenth, Ritchie got home a number of sharp body blows.

Welsh obtained more points in the eighteenth, which left Ritchie with a bleeding lip. The nineteenth was even, with Ritchie forcing the fighting.

The final round was the swiftest of the whole fight and Welsh had the better of it.

Of the twenty rounds ten were undoubtedly Welsh's.

Fight by Rounds.

Round 1—Welsh wins the race and kept the corner he originally entered. Welsh got in a few blows in the clinch which immediately followed. Ritchie responded with a straight to the jaw. Fighting followed, with Welsh getting the best of the argument. When they squared off, however, Ritchie delivered several body blows.

Round 2—Ritchie swung hard with his right and missed. He was cautioned by the referee for holding in the clinches. Welsh got in some vicious jabs in the infighting.

Round 3—Ritchie opened with a left swing, but in a clinch Welsh landed on the body in close quarters. Welsh got in a couple of heavy blows. Ritchie retaliating with a left to the jaw. Welsh followed with a right to the same spot. The round ended with Welsh landing lightly on the face. Ritchie was again cautioned for holding.

Round 4—Welsh fought for the body. In a clinch he gave Ritchie two of three left blows on the jaw, followed by a right swing on the same spot. Welsh appeared the fresher of the two, smiling when the round closed.

Round 5—Ritchie got one to the face, Welsh replying with a left to the jaw. Ritchie then swung a right arm swing and a heavy body blow. Ritchie forced the fighting, but was repeatedly cautioned for holding.

Two Eyes Damaged.

Round 6—Ritchie's left eye seemed to be slightly swollen. Welsh's left eye was also damaged. Ritchie played for the bad eye. Welsh edged right-arm swing aimed at the bad eye. Welsh's footwork was much the quicker, but his blows seemed to have less steam than the American's.

Round 7—Half of the round had passed before Ritchie began forcing the fighting. He landed two smart blows on the face. Ritchie responded, but the American covered up well and the round ended in his favor.

Round 8—The work of both fighters this far had been very constant and sharp. Most of the fighting had been head hitting, ending in clinches. Welsh appeared to be beginning to husband his strength in the clinches. He then put on more steam and gave the American one good body blow and seemed the fresher at the end than at the beginning of the round.

Round 9—Welsh forced the fighting, opening with a left to the face, an operation which he quickly repeated. Ritchie's legs continually fell short, while Welsh, acting a furious pace, got several blows to the body and got the best of the infighting. This was Welsh's round.

Tenth Round is Welsh's.

Round 10—Welsh forced the fighting, scoring repeatedly on Ritchie's jaw. He then eluded one of Ritchie's famous right-arm blows. Welsh had the better of the fight thus far.

Round 11—Welsh, who came up smartly, landed a sharp left on the face. Ritchie again failed to reach the spot effectively, with his buoy right. In this round Welsh again forced the fighting and Ritchie regained some of his ginger.

Round 12—Welsh scored a left hook on Ritchie's neck. Ritchie repeatedly led off hard left-handers, but Welsh was always too quick for them. The Welshman scored three or four punches in this round, but they seemed to make no impression on the American, who showed great stamina.

Thirteenth is Ritchie's.

Round 13—Ritchie smartened up and landed two straight rights on the face and a sharp uppercut. The American forced the fighting all through the round, Welsh slowing up considerably. It was a good round, all in favor of Ritchie.

Round 14—The American got in a short left on the body. Later he repeated with the right. The fighting was fast and fierce to the end of the round. This, like the preceding, was Ritchie's round.

Round 15—The first half of the round was a hugging match, with both men working hard in the clinches. Welsh trying to wear his opponent out. There were a couple of rallies, but no damage was done. The round was even.

Round 16—There was more infighting, each receiving a good tap on the face. The Welshman ducked a terrific right-hand. The fight continued a fine exhibition of boxing by Welsh, who played entirely on the face, while the American tried for a body knockout.

Ritchie Appears Stronger.

Round 17—The men again went into a clinch at the sound of the bell. Upon breaking Ritchie landed a hard left-hand swing on the face and followed it with a series of sharp body blows. Ritchie rushed the fighting and appeared the stronger. Welsh covered well and was too quick for his opponent.

Round 18—Ritchie blew Welsh from the lip. This was a very fast round, in which strength against quickness continued to be displayed, but the Welshman got a little the better of it.

Round 19—Welsh was getting all the applause, being the favorite with the crowd. But Ritchie was doing the fighting. Welsh landed a right on the face and got one in return. There was a smart rally and the round was even.

Round 20—They started mixing it hard with both hands for the body. Welsh ducked a fierce left uppercut and gave the American a sharp left on the cheek. The fight ended with the swiftest kind of work. The Welshman pressed the American round the ring in the last few seconds. He was carried out of the arena amid great cheering after being declared the winner on points.

Find Maimed Body of Their Daughter

POCATELLO, Idaho, July 7.—James T. Henderson, a rancher at Robin, and his wife, returning from a dance early Sunday morning, found the body of their eight-year-old daughter mutilated, in a spring.

Alfred Henderson, who is not a relative, was arrested in his bed, a mile away, and brought here for safe keeping. His clothing was spotted with blood. Robin is an isolated hamlet, thirty miles south of here.

Heavy Rain Breaks In the Roof of Old Burns Pie Factory

Two men narrowly escaped with their lives shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the roof of the "P & F" skating rink at Twenty-fourth and Grant streets collapsed beneath the weight of the heavy rain.

The building is the one formerly occupied by the Burns pie factory and was partly wrecked by the tornado.

The mishap of yesterday left four bare walls standing, but the inside of the place is a wreck. The heavy roof crashed in a fine hardwood floor and ruined expensive decorations.

Metcalf to Prepare Campaign Textbook

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, July 7.—(Special Telegram.)—Richard L. Metcalf, one of the aspirants for governor of Nebraska, has been selected to get out the democratic congressional textbook for the approaching campaign and tonight was in conference with Representative Frank E. Doremus of Michigan, chairman of the congressional committee, and other administration leaders.

The task of getting out the textbook is considered doubly delicate this year because the democratic party is dominant in the government and directly responsible to the people. Indeed, not since Cleveland's second administration, has the work been considered of such importance and significance.

Mr. Metcalf was in charge of the compilation of the textbook in 1908 and assisted in getting it out in 1910. His intimate knowledge of the affairs of the democratic party and his experience as a journalist, are regarded as preeminent qualifications for the work.

State Golf Meet Opens Wednesday at Happy Hollow

Happy Hollow club was bustling with activity this morning, in preparation for the state golf tournament which opens here tomorrow morning. Many players have already arrived, and are giving the course a try-out today.

The Lincoln delegation leads the out-of-town golfers, some fifteen men arriving for the competition.

Arthur Herr, professional at the Lincoln Country club, arrived Sunday to make arrangements for the Lincoln party, and will remain through the tournament this week.

The course at Happy Hollow club has been put in excellent condition, the showers of Tuesday being exactly the proper thing for the greens, which have been out close. The course, according to local golfers, is in better condition than it has ever been, and Charley Johnston, professional at the Happy Hollow club, is well satisfied with the result of his labors for the last month.

Militants Bombard The King and Queen With Paper Missiles

EDINBURGH, July 7.—King George and Queen Mary were bombarded with suffragette literature today by militants on their arrival here.

Two women obtained possession of a balcony in a house opposite the station and as the royal carriage emerged they threw down upon it a lot of suffragette appeals. Two detectives seized them, spotting their aim.

The king, looking up, saw the women struggling in the arms of the officers. They were removed to the police station, the crowd along the way giving them a mixed reception of cheers mingled with hissing.

The women gave the names of Lock and Ames. Among their missiles was a paper ball containing a message "to show King George that women are being persecuted for defending their freedom."

CITIZEN OF SIOUX FALLS DIES OF ACCIDENTAL SHOT

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., July 7.—(Special Telegram.)—A. G. Hahn, one of the most prominent citizens of Sioux Falls, was accidentally shot and killed this evening while ostensibly engaged in cleaning a shotgun. The accident took place at the family residence. Rumors of alleged suicide were set at rest by Coroner Miller tonight when he stated he would not summon a coroner's jury to investigate the tragic death, but instead would file a certificate of accidental death. The dead man is survived by a widow and several children. He was engaged in the real estate business and by his ownership of thoroughbred horses was widely known in racing circles throughout the northwest.

British Tennis Team Regarded as Weak by Sporting Public

FOLKESTONE, Eng. and, July 7.—Although a despondant view of England's chances of lifting the Dwight F. Davis international lawn tennis trophy this year is taken by the English press and the sporting public, much interest was displayed in the preliminary round between England and Belgium today for decision here today, tomorrow and Thursday.

The English team is composed of J. C. Parke, H. Roper Barrett, A. H. F. Kinross and T. M. Marrogardato. The Belgian team consists of P. de Borman (captain), W. H. Davyvier, L. Transmitter and L. G. Watson.

The selection of the English players has been much criticized. Parke, it is pointed out, proved a great disappointment at the Biechenham tryouts, where the tennis papers declare he was "intensely out of form." The judges, however, found it impracticable to leave him out of the

Diehards in Lords Are Reduced to Ten

LONDON, July 7.—The House of lords today passed by 23 to 10 the second reading of the bill to amend the Irish home rule bill.

That the House of Lords would pass the bill in order to amend it in committee was a foregone conclusion, but there was surprise that only ten "die hards" could be found to vote for its rejection.

In 1913 the English team should win from Belgium; it will meet the French team at Wimbledon on July 11, 12 and 14.

"NATIONAL HERO SERIES" NO. 4

Lord Nelson—Old England's Great Naval Hero

WITHOUT Horatio Nelson, England would have been invaded and perhaps conquered by Napoleon. At Trafalgar he smashed forever the French Emperor's hope of creating a naval power. Never was man more idolized and beloved—not only by all of England's people who breathlessly awaited news of his telling victories, but by every man of his fleet. A true Anglo-Saxon, he detested tyrannous powers and legislative usurpations of every kind. He was particularly opposed to prohibitive enactments governing the diet of his men, who, like him, enjoyed Barley-Malt brews, even as their fathers did for countless generations before. Good beer, according to Lord Nelson, has ever been good food. Budweiser Beer for 57 years has been the product of an institution holding the highest ideals known to the ancient art of brewing. The output, due to Quality and Purity, has increased every year until 7,500 men are daily required to keep pace with the public demand. Budweiser sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles.
