

By MELLIFICIA. Monday, August 3, 1914.

MISS MARY DENMAN of Des Moines, who has visited in Omaha with two Ak-Sar-Ben queens, Miss Elizabeth Pickens and Miss Elizabeth Davis, played with one of Omaha's prominent young club men and tennis players, Arthur Scribner, and won the mixed doubles tennis championship of the state of Iowa in the Iowa state tennis tournament last week.

Miss Denman is very well known in Omaha society, but few knew that she was an expert tennis player.

Mr. Scribner and Miss Denman defeated J. H. Felt of Des Moines and Mrs. Foster of Kansas City in the final round after a hard battle by 6-4, 6-4. For winning Miss Denman received a silk sweater and Mr. Scribner a thermos bottle.

Arthur Scribner and Harry Koch both took part in the Iowa tourney and were runners-up in the doubles, for which they were presented with handsome traveling bags.

Mr. Scribner won his way into the final round of the semi-finals of the singles, only to be beaten by Fred Bradley, one of the Des Moines players.

Mr. Koch did not participate in the singles, as he was at the Western tourney in Chicago during the early days of the tournament.

Roland Hoerr of St. Louis, who played at many of the tournaments held at the Field club and was one of the most popular of visiting tennis players, won the championship by defeating Mr. Bradley. Mr. Hoerr is a great favorite socially in Omaha.

Subway Tax Law to Be Given Legal Test

A test of the law taxing subways will be instituted by George E. Barker, following the order of the city council to close the subway under the sidewalk of the Orphanum building, because Mr. Barker refused to pay the occupation tax.

Mr. Barker told the city council the tax was unjust and would not stand the test of the courts. He said he would spend $1,000 to contest the right of the city to tax him in this manner.

City Commissioner Dan B. Butler of the department of finances and accounts said $1,000 has been collected in taxes from subway owners, many of whom, like Mr. Barker, receive no rent from the subways.

The building inspector was instructed to close two subways at the Paxton hotel, the proprietors of the Paxton saying they did not need them and preferred to have them closed rather than pay the tax.

STREET CLEANER GONE FROM HOME AND FAMILY

Unexplained disappearance of Peter Sylvester, an Italian, who was formerly a city street cleaner, whose home is at 1412 South Seventeenth street, has alarmed his wife, who appealed to the police to find him. She says she fears some harm has come to him.

GENERAL JONES SHOPS HERE

Demand Part of Theater Receipts for "Votes for Women" Cause.

HIKES TO REACH FARM WOMEN

Is to Make Three Speeches in Omaha Tuesday After Trip to Lincoln Then Makes Tour of South Dakota.

"General" Rosalie Jones won't speak at the Empress theater Tuesday evening, not unless Miss Margaret Frank Harris will "divvy" up part of the proceeds to the suffrage fund. "I'll submit to the ridicule and all the rest that the speaking implies for the suffrage cause, but not to put money in somebody's pocket." This ultimatum, delivered by "General" Jones of suffrage hikin' fame, caused consternation in the ranks of local suffrage workers this morning. "But we've advertised it and given our word to the manager of the theater and he's liable to sue us," pleaded one of the workers.

"So much the better. The agitation will give us publicity," replied the fair Rosalie and remained obdurate. "I had just finished reading in the New York papers that suffragists in Washington were going to sell kisses on "Sacrifice day," August 15, for the suffrage cause, when a telephone call apprised me that Rosalie could be found at the office of her cousin, W. F. Shelton, in the McCague building. I hid me there and was told by Mr. Shelton that Miss Jones had gone to the postoffice and would spend the morning shopping at Thomas Kilpatrick's.

"She's just your size and she is dressed all in black, you know, all in black. You won't have any trouble finding her," Mr. Shelton assured me. "With this softening description I hastened to the postoffice, but no Rosalie was in sight. Then I went to Kilpatrick's and after noosing around until the clerks began to eye me in suspicion, I decided that she wasn't there. Then she must be at the Brandeis store. I thought, so I went there and just as I walked in at the entrance I spied a young woman all dressed in black just going into the elevator. I hurried in after her.

"Pardon me, but are you Miss Rosalie Jones?" I asked and just then caught sight of the "Votes for Women" button that she wore. "Goes Shopping with the General." Yes, it was she and wouldn't I come shopping with her? But it wasn't about walking boots or anything of that sort that Rosalie wanted to buy. She wanted a black and white afternoon gown, "quite dressy, don't you know, and no silks, please," that Rosalie wanted and she is a very fastidious shopper. We went to every shop in town, something I haven't done since the spring fashion show, but Rosalie couldn't be suited to just the dress that she wanted.

While the clerks showed us frocks, we talked about Rosalie's famous hikes. The "general" stoutly denies that she hikes were undertaken to gain publicity. "We did it to reach the farmer's wife who didn't read the papers so much and was untouched by the suffrage agitation. We were very well received by them and oftentimes they would march part of the way with us. Of course it was a very trying experience and our feet were terribly blistered.

Believes in Speeches. "I think the street speeches are the most far-reaching of any," said Miss Jones. "Theater audiences or amusement seekers are not interested in suffrage speakers but the street speeches attract larger crowds of all kinds of people besides which you can hold them wherever and whenever you like and can do the most good." Miss Jones has recently returned from a trip abroad and has a brother and sister in Germany now. "But I'm not nearly so worried about conditions there as I am about that railroad strike. I am scheduled to be in New York after my South Dakota trip, and I don't want to have to walk there," she said. Miss Jones is not sent out by the National Suffrage association, but travels on her own initiative. She fills engagements according to schedule until she gets tired and then she hires ahead and cancels them. She had previously arranged to spend six days in Nebraska, but feels that the campaign in South Dakota will be very strenuous, so she will speak only in Lincoln and Omaha. She left for Lincoln at 1:40 this afternoon, but will return to Omaha Tuesday morning. She will speak at noon in front of the court house, and at 8 o'clock in the evening at Fifteenth and Douglas streets. Arrangements have been made for the meeting at the Empress.

CONTRACTORS TO ASK FOUNDATION AMENDMENT

A large committee of contractors asked the city council to amend the building ordinance by striking out the clause compelling contractors to put twelve-inch foundations under small houses. They say the ordinance puts them to a needless expense.

KEPT AWAKE WITH ITCHING PIMPLES Got Larger, Festered and Came to Entirely Covered. Impossible to Work. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In Three Weeks Well. Valerius, Ind.—'Almost a year ago my face and neck were entirely covered with sores. First they broke out in small red pimples which itched and distressed me very much. Finally they got larger, festered and ran to a head. The itching was so intense and the irritation so bad it kept me awake sometimes during the whole night. My body, arms and hands broke out in the same way. They were entirely covered. I could scarcely bear to lie down. My condition at that time was a pitiful one. At last I gave up my position for it was impossible to work. "I tried many different prescriptions, getting scarcely any relief and no benefit in the way of healing. A friend advised me to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment which I did. The first application gave more relief than anything, which convinced me I had found the right remedy. They began to heal and the irritation stopped. After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment three weeks I was well." (Signed) Frederic Wells, May 12, 1914. Samples Free by Mail A single cake of Cuticura Soap (5c.) and box of Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are often sufficient when all else has failed. Sold throughout the world. Sample of each mailed free, with 25-p. skin book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."
