WHEN not buying extras containing war news, the Omaha colony at Atlantic City, as well as most of the colonies from other cities, are taking special dancing lessons.

Each of the famous piers at Atlantic City have wonderful airy ball rooms cooled by sea breezes and the dancing floors and the music are perfect.

So, if you wish to learn the new dances, just watch the society columns and wait for the return of the Atlantic City colony, for they will show you all of the very newest ones.

I have not heard of any of the Omaha people riding in the hydroplane at Atlantic City. I believe that is more worth the money than some of the dancing lessons.

HOG PRICES GO SKYWARD

Short Receipts Bring Bullish Market Up to $9 Per Hundred. WHO IS GETTING THE PROFIT? While Packers Are Paying Less Than Dollar More Per Hundred They Are Asking Eight Cents More Per Pound for Loin.

Because of the short receipts of hogs at the south Omaha and other markets, as a result of the bearing conditions and price reductions last week farmers and stock raisers have turned bullish and are holding back their shipments with the result that prices are soaring.

Twenty-one cars of hogs on the South Omaha market brought around $9 per hundred, one of the highest figures ever reached there. The receipts were about one-third of the normal amount for Monday and it is expected that the quotations will go up to an high as $10 before the market again steadies down to a normal condition.

Prices for beef steers, cows and heifers ran strong to 10 per cent better and the outlook in their behalf is that the receipts will be held down until raisers are satisfied that the bearish condition has been overcome.

Who is Getting the Profit? "Who is getting the 8-cent per pound raise in the wholesale price of pork loins" is the chorus going the rounds at Omaha meat markets. Packers houses say they have advanced the price because they are paying more for hogs, and farmers point to last week's market with the declaration that it is not so.

Monday of last week the average price of hogs on the South Omaha market was $8.04, while this week it was $9, and less. Jacob Rosoff, manager of the Public Market, who supplies many of the restaurants and other big users of meat around town, was confronted with a list of "sicking" customers when they gave their meat orders for the day.

Last week, Postoffice clerks, that he paid 36 cents per pound for pork loins, but this week the packers are charging him 44 cents, and when he raised his price accordingly he was politely asked if he was crazy.

"Our profit remains just about the same," said Mr. Rosoff, "and we have to increase the volume of our business when we wish to make more money. The regulation of the price is not in our hands, but in the hands of the wholesalers, and we must necessarily abide by the standard they set for us."

Safe Home Matches are Wonderfully Cheap

A first-class mechanic could not make, in a day, as many Safe Home matches as you can buy for five cents. Even if he could, the matches would not be of uniform size, shape, length, strength or thickness. We make Safe Home matches by machinery—millions and millions of them daily. The wood is treated and cut, the sticks grooved and compressed, and the ends paraffined and "double dipped"—all by machinery. You pay no more for Safe Home matches than for the kind you now use. The price is the same—five cents for a large box of perfect matches. Why perfect? Because non-poisonous. Because non-sparking. Because the sticks do not break when rightly used. Because the heads do not fall off. Because the flame burns evenly. Because Safe Home Matches are impregnated to prevent live charcoal when the flame is extinguished.

All grocers. Five cents a box.

FACES SERIOUS CHARGE FOR STEALING MELONS

One thousand watermelons proved so great an attraction to Joseph Daily during the hot Sunday afternoon that he is charged with having broken into a Great Western freight car containing them. As the melons were an interstate shipment his alleged offense was brought to the attention of the federal authorities by Nels Turquist, special railroad agent, who made the arrest. Daily was arraigned before United States Commissioner Herbert S. Daniel and held on his own recognizance bond to the federal grand jury.
