What the SAXON Coastto-Coast Trip Over Lincoln Highway Means to You

A Saxon car traveled 3389 miles overland from New York to San Francisco in 30 days across the Lincoln Highway.

It was the first automobile to make a continuous trip from New York to San Francisco over the Highway and the first car of its size and price to make the journey from coast-to-coast. It averaged 30 miles to the gallon on the long trip.

The same car, before starting on its transcontinental trip, ran 135 miles a day for 30 consecutive days-4050 miles-averaging 30 miles to the gallon of gasoline and 150 miles per quart of oil, covering the entire distance on the original set of tires.

In 60 days this car covered almost 8000 milesas far as the average owner drives in two years.

What this Proves to You

It proves that in the Saxon you have a two-passenger automobile equal to any test which you as a user would ever give it. A car that can fill your every need for business, for health, for pleasurea car you can afford to buy and to keep.

6000 satisfied owners all over this country are using Saxons and proving the economy and utility of these sturdy cars every day.

The Saxon car today is the best two-passenger automobile in the world at anywhere near its price.

The new Saxon with running boards and 38 other improvements is selling fast throughout our
