There were no hedging sales at the northwest or in this market, and the offerings were light in consequence. The producer of grain in all sections of the country believes that the war will be a long drawn out affair, and that there will be but one course for breedstuffs, and that much higher prices will be seen. Wheat off the English coast was firmly held, and spot prices were generally id. dd, and spot prices were generally id

It was a steady, irregular market in provisions yesterday, with lard occupying the center of the stage as far as activity was concerned. Long lines of September product was a feature.

Wheat was 256c higher.

Corn was 14615c higher.

Reports confirm the advice of damage to corn crop due to hot weather. Through sections of lows. Nebraska and Kansas there has been irreparable damage to the crop, and the rains of the past few days served more to refresh pastures than to aid the growsing corn.

There was good buying of deferred corn futures at this market yesterday. The market was also affected by the profound strength in wheat and by smaller offerings from the country.

The extest demand for oats fell down sharply yesterday, sales from here to go abroad being reported at only 20,000 bushels. There were rumors that much more

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Features of the Trading and Closing Prices or Board of Trade.

Prices or Board of Trade.

CHICAGO. Aug. 25.—Board of Trade markets, affected by the war, soared to new high levels today, led by wheat, which closed $\frac{1}{2}\scrt{c}$ to $\frac{1}{2}\scrt{c}$ over yesterday. Corn advanced $\frac{1}{2}\scrt{c}$ to $\frac{1}{2}\scrt{c}$ down to $\frac{1}{2}\scrt{c}$, while provisions were $\frac{1}{2}\scrt{c}$ down to $\frac{1}{2}\scrt{c}$, while provisions in wheat were spectacular the story behind them was simple—namely, the belief that the war means still higher prices. Lord Kitchener was another a series of the struggle and miliers were buying wheat said to be for the $\frac{1}{2}\scrt{c}$ prices were allies were properly hought out considerable profit taking, but prices were not materially affected and stop loss orders were uncovered within $\frac{1}{2}\scrt{c}$ of the top and the price was hig up on a market practically bare of offerings.

within 5c of the top and the latter was hid up on a market practically bare of offerings.

Advances in corn, oats and provisions were due mainly to the war as reflected in wheat and the tone was strong. Country offerings of corn and oats were small and the eastern shipping demand good. There was some liquidation of September hog products. There was a good demand for January deliveries, and a fair one for spot.

The buying power of the past ten days has demonstrated the fact that the speculators of the old world believe that the sar now waging is likely to be continued indefinitally and that breadstuffs are to sell to a much higher level in consequence.

The foreign buying orders received from two houses. These buying orders come direct from the old world and are fairly well scattered throughout the nationa now engaged in the greatest war ever known. Some of these purchases of wheat are purely apeculative, but many of them are made with the idea of the grain being delivered.

The number of wheat bears, as well as other points, are decreasing daily, while the number of bulls are increasing. We have had an abnormally strong wheat market of late, and at the close of every day there are many who ask the question as to the identity of buyers. The selling has been led by those having profits.

Any export business in cash wheat that the speculative points are contended to the selling has been led by those having profits.

All other markets were reported as opening dull and in spite of the fact that the local supply was far from heavy, that the local supply was far from heavy, buyers were very slow in starting out. First bids made were all of a nickel lower, but as the cliers were asking stronger prices nothing was done for some little time. Things dragged along until towards it o'clock, when with offers aimost steady with Tuesday sellers finally began to cut loose slowly, and in spite of the bearishness of the buyers managed to land the big end of the supply at prices that were anywhere from steady to a shade lower.

to land the big end of the supply at prices that were anywhere from steady to a shade lower.

From this time on the market moved along sluggiship without showing much change until towards the close, when with twenty-five or more loads still unsold values weakened, and bids dropped back to their early level, that is a flat nickel lower than Tuesday.

At this trade, which had been very slow all morning, came almost to a standaill. A few sellers cashed in as soon as prices began to slip, but most of them held on for a return to the earlier figures. Instead of regaining what they had lost however, bids if anything became weaker still, showing in some instances a decline of fully 1600. The market failed to show any life after this time, and while buyers were gradually cleaning up the balance of the supply at their own figures, there were several leads still unsold at mid-day.

Taking the trade all the way through, prices are anywhere from steady to a nickel lower, and in the case of some of the closing sales 1600c lower. The average market is just a shade lower than Tuesday. The big end of the sales landed at $8.75, with a fair sprinkling around $8.80, and some of the later ones at $7.70, and below. The few hogs bought early by shippers were fully steady, and in the case of tops a nickel higher, the high price reaching $8.10 today.

steers, and the market as a result was generally steady with yesterday. Among the offerings today were yearlings good enough to bring $10.18, with some heavy cattle good enough to bring $10.18, with some heavy cattle good enough to bring better than $10.00.

Cows and helfers were in active demand and the market folly steady. In fact, if anything, the feeling was a little stronger in spots than yeaferday.

A few of the best feeders were firm and in active demand. On the other hand, there are a good many medium grades of feeders and stockers still in the hands of speculators, and the feeling on that kind of cuttle is weak, with the trade slow and at the best no more than steady with yesterday.

The lamb market presented an active appearance contrasted with the first two days of the week and the result was very few lambs were unsold after 10:30 o'clock a complete clearance being fairly early at prices fully steady to a dime higher. In some cases the sort was a little heavier than yesterday, but in others it was lighter.

In the neighborhood of fifteen cars made up the aged sheep supply and with the exception of about half a dozen cars everything was on the feeder order, being mostl yewes. Mutton was quotably strong, being slow to move early, but active later on in the forencen. Nothing choice was on sale. The swea sold around $5.500 his and some wethers were good enough to bring $5.50. No yearlings were in sight.

The feeder irade was similar to that on the former fars of the week, the demand being still keen at good, strong prices for the best feeding lambs available and fully steady on the common kinds. There was also a good inquiry for breeding ewes and as a fairly good supply was on hand quite a few sold for that purpose. Feeding lambs changed hands at $6.5007.25, according to weight and quality.
