Huge theater hats are the rage in New Tork, and this was probably the last note to come from Paris. These large and feathery head dresses of the last dec-

This new fad of wearing hats in the evening is probably due to the fact that the theater patrons nearly always go to matron in society who will leave the hat is in better taste and more becoming. the south, where her husband's business Gainsborough with his wonderful portraits probably started this new mode, and although they are awkward at times, it has been difficult to keep them out of fashion. Black velvet with pink flowers and pink plumes are the favorites.

It is prophesied that there is to be famine in black velvet, but all of the hats shown are in this popular material. The small hats for motoring and street wear, the Georgette sallor trimmed for dressler occasions, and the restaurant and theater hats all are of black velvet. The best of this material comes from Lyons, France, and when the present supply is exhausted, we will have to change to other materials.

For French-Congdon Party.

The wedding of Miss Caroline Congdon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Congdon to Mr. Herbert French Thursday evening at the bride's home will be the first large social event of the season. Mr. French arrived last evening from Louis-McLeod of Minneapolis and Mr. Ned Sheridan of Chicago, will be here Tuesday. Many social affairs are being given for Miss Congdon and Mr. French.

Mrs. Ralph Peters gave a luncheon Friday at her home. The guests were Mrs. Ben Wood, jr., Miss Silver, Miss Dinning. Miss Gladys Peters and Miss Caroline

French, parents of the groom, will entertain the bridal party at dinner at the Country club. The ceremony Thursday evening will be followed by a reception,

European Travelers.

Mr. Gould Dietz left Thursday for New York to meet his brother, C. N. Dietz, and Mrs. Dietz, who are expected to land today or tomorrow from Europe.

Miss Hanscom and Miss France, who were abroad this summer, landed last Saturday in New York on the Campania. A letter Thursday from the three 81b bernsen boys, Clarence, Drexel and Albert, who with their mother, Mrs. I. Sibbersen, are in Copenhagen, Denmark, says that that city is overrun with Americans, walting to secure passage for home. Mrs. Sibbernsen and her sons have engaged passage on the Frederick VIII, sailing At Happy Hollow. September 3, and in the meantime enjoy-

Omaha Girl Home from Europe.

Miss Hannah Logana, one of the forrecent voyage from Europe, is a guest of her sister, Mrs. L. I. Bogen. in Lincoln. Miss Logasa was enjoying a trip through Europe when the rumors of war came. Fortunately she arrived in England before any of the actual declarations were made. Her brother sailed some time before on the Laconia. She was forced to take passage in the third class section of the Baltic. She tells of the high bids which Americans made to secure accommodations. In a letter to Doctor Bogen Mus Logues's brother tells of the trouble securing money. Many Englishmen wanted to discount American gold 50 per cent. He finally succeeded in getting off with a discount of 13% per cent. Miss Logasa was formerly connected with the Giadys Wright.
