R. THOMAS J. FITZMORRIS, a member of The Bee staff, and Happy are they who are 4,000 miles from the edge of war." Mrs. Fitzmorris, who are now marooned in Liverpool, were probably the last Omaha people to have an audience with the Reed-Jones Wedding. late Pope Pius X.

Mr. Fitzmorris writes from Liverpool, August 21:

Yesterday's papers announce the death of Pope Pius X. July 7, just Mrs. J. R. Jones when their daughter. The wedding at this time comes as a six weeks ago I had the privilege of meeting him, with twenty others, in He appeared to be in good spirits and cheerful in conversation and not feeble, and I little thought the grim messenger hovered near. We Presbyterian church, of Fort Wayne and that Mr. Roed, who was master machanic formed a semi-circle in his private audience chamber, the simplest in furnishings and decorations of the fourteen chambers through which we had passed. As he walked around the half circle of kneeling people he conversed cheerily with those who spoke Italian or French and gave each the de chine trimmed with white chiffon drapprivilege of kissing the Fisherman's Ring. Then, standing in the center, with right hand uplifted and first and second fingers extended, he pronounced the Papal Benediction and Blessing. The scene was very impressive because of its simplicity, unaffected dignity and fatherly good will. Undoubtedly, the transformation of northern Europe into a slaughter house of humanity hastened the end of this lover and exemplar of peace.

A short time ago we read some interviews published in an eastern paper by men who had been successful-if success is to be measured by DOLLARS. One interview was with a man whose business was conceived in iniquity, nourished on falsehood and developed through fraud. He talked of honesty in businesstruthfulness in advertising, etc., as being the foundation stones upon which he had builded. How his Satanic majesty must have chortled. He may have fooled the interviewer-perhaps fooled some of the readers-but he never fooled himself one minute.
