VEN the children are moved by the appeal of the Visiting Nurse association and the announcement of the Tag day to be held Wednesday for its benefit. At a meeting of the workers held this morning at the city hall little Carl Renstrom and Earl Kingston, each of them 11 years old, approached Mrs. Adolph Storz.

"May we help on Tag day?" they asked. Mrs. Storz promptly enlisted them as her assistants.

Mrs. Ellen Stewart and Miss Bessie Randall, superintendent of the nants, bunting and streamers. Official Commercial club and Secretary J. D. tor's bills have been ruled as being covnurses, responded to a call for volunteers to be at the market district at badges will be distributed on the trains 6 o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Philip Potter admonished the women to be on hand at the city hall promptly at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning to receive the keys of the nants may also be secured from Secrecity from Mayor Dahlman.

"If the mayor will be on hand that early, you ought to be here also,"

The women decided to station no workers near the school buildings for fear the children would torment their teachers the rest of the day with their tags and because the schools give generously to the Visiting Nurse association at Thanksgiving time,

About seventy-five women were present at the meeting.

> CONTRACTORS' BONDS TO DOUBLE IN THEIR COST

An increase of 100 per cent in the cost f contract bonds, effective by September is worrying contractors. For years the rate has been one-half of one per cent, but notice just received in Omaha from headquarters of the bonding companies is to the effect that it will be advanced to 1 per cent. Explaining this raise, Harry Koch says:

"Formerly, contract bonds were only to insure faithful performance of the were discharged, as it appears the only But court decisions have contract. gradually increased the scope of the bond, ered by the ordinary contract bond.
