Omaha members, of course, will be admitted also on this Wednesday evening, even though their ticket books will have been consumed. The cover of the books turned in at the gate will take the place of a ticket for this occasion.

SHRIVER FINDS BUSINESS CONDITIONS IN EAST GOOD

W. G. Shriver is back from Pennsylvania, where he visited his boyhood home. In Pennsylvania he found business conditions fairly good, but there did not seem to be the prosperity noted in Nebrasks. The Pennsylvania crops have been about the average, but high prices are bringing the farmers more money than normally.

Mr. Shirver noted that all of the larger steel mills are in operation, but not overcrowded with orders. He was told that the war had resulted in curtailing the output, as but few new enterprises are

NEW YORK CONCERN WILL HAVE WAREHOUSE HERE

Omaha is to become the location for a warehouse or charging station for the Linde Air Products company of New York. The company has just decided to establish such a warehouse here, making the fourteenth warehouse, or charging station of the company in the United States. The industrial committee of the Commercial club made some endeavor to nduce the company to establish a manufacturing plant in Omaha, but it was decided by the company officials that the quantity of their product in the immediate vicinity did not warrant the building of a factory here.

Laces Were Never So Much In Demand and Never So Lovely in Ornamentation As They Are This Season

N OT for years have laces enjoyed the favor promised this Fall and Winter and never have they been so beautiful, so lovely in design, so gorgeous in ornamentation, so magnificent in effect. Metallic laces in gold and silver perhaps deserve most mention, while crysta spangled flouncings and black jet flouncings are a close second. Then there are the Lierre laces, the ancient Alencon, the delicate tracery of Flander's needle point, the Venice combinations, gorgeous colored effects and so on. Our showing is very complete.
