Commy Burles a Find.

Comiskey's $12,000 Milwaukee recruit, outfielder Felch, will not be seen in a White Sox uniform until next spring. Comiskey has paid fabulous amounts for many a ball player and has set all of them back from one to four or five seasons by popping them right into the lineup for advertising purposes. Blackburn and Chapelle are notable examples. By the time Felch appears for his trial the folks will have forgotten that approximately $15,000 has been paid for him, and his chances of making good will be just so much better.

The local branch of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company held its first annual picnic with thirty-four present, including the salesmen and the office force and their wives, providing there happened to be any. The married men and the single men locked horns in a base ball battle and races were run and games were played. The married men capped the game and the girls won most of the races. A big chicken dinner was the closing event of the day and it proved to be the most popular. The affair will be an annual one according to Local Manager Harpam, who was more than pleased with the interest taken.

SPEEDWAY GOING FORWARD

Jack Prince's Motorcycle Sauer Being Pushed to Completion.

FORTY CARPENTERS ON THE JOB

Hundred and Fifty Thousand Feet of Lumber and Eleven Tons of Nails on Ground and Work is Over Half Finished.

With over 100,000 feet of lumber already in place, the big stadium speedway being built by Jack Prince near Locust street in East Omaha is being rapidly pushed toward completion. From present indications, it will be finished in time for several days of practice riding by famous speed kings, before the opening of the Ak-Sar-Ben fall festival, September 30.

When throngs of Nebraskans and Iowans will crowd to the novel saucer track to witness hundred-mile speed on powerful motorcycles.

Since work began, forty-five union carpenters have been putting in full time, and they even drew over-time wages for a full day Sunday, in order to hasten the gigantic job and yet have it perfectly done under Prince's experienced direction. By Friday of this week it will be about two-thirds finished, with the entrance subway entirely completed, so Prince says the many people interested in the project will be welcome visitors after that.

Eleven Tons of Nails.
Eleven tons of nails alone will be required for the work. Another 100,000 feet of lumber are still to be put in place on the stadium, which covers nine acres of ground. Prince has leased twenty-five acres, which lie just across the Carter track street car tracks, directly west of the Young Men's Christian association park, one block north of Locust street. The track is circular, 300 feet in diameter and measures one-third of a mile. The space for spectators is inside the track, the latter being inclined at an angle of sixty degrees, to permit the riders to make great speed without flying off at a tangent.

In order to finish construction by the latter part of next week, Prince will soon increase his force of workmen to seventy-five. In regard to the details of construction, Prince has received the following advice in a letter from J. A. McNeil of Los Angeles, a world famous professional rider:

Expects to Break Record.
"Be sure to bank the speedway at least sixty degrees, so as to let us beat 100 miles an hour safely, for I am certain my "Cyclone" can exceed that speed if given a chance."

At present, the world's record for motorcycles on such a track is 92 miles an hour. Prince says that when the riders scheduled for Ak-Sar-Ben tune up on his new track, they will easily boost the record to 100 or better. All the riding by professionals will be done on fast racing motorcycles, specially built for record breaking and capable of beating 100 miles an hour under perfect conditions.

Amateur riders will be given every opportunity to try out, Prince says. As local riders will not be accustomed to the convex and inclined track, he has offered to teach and coach those who have already inquired, promise to give plenty of expert instruction free to all who apply, and will stage some amateur races after the locals have caught the idea from all parts of the country to race during Ak-Sar-Ben.

"Anarchist is Man Who Has Two Wives"

"What is an anarchist?" District Judge Charles Leslie asked of a foreigner who was being examined for naturalization at Blair Monday. The applicant for citizenship smiled knowingly and answered: "An anarchist? It is a man wot has got two wives."

Even at that, however, the man made a good impression on other questions, and after some instruction, was accepted.
