Had We Been Less Alert We Would Not Have These Laces Now

LACES adorn and emphasize the "style feminine"—and lace may be used to your heart's content in the autumn and winter dress effects. The lavish use of lace, the fact that we safely landed European selections, attaches more than usual importance to this lace exhibit Monday.

The popularity of the dance is responsible for the scintillating iridescence and lightness of spangles, then there are the no less important gold and silver laces, jet and all black chantillys, Point Alençon, Herre, Point Applique, colored silk nets and chiffons in plain, flowered and striped effects woven for daylight and evening beauty in colors and tints of indescribable softness.

But we've only told you here enough to make apparent the dominance of lace fashion. Come, view the display.
