PIONEERS TALK OLD TIMES

Early Settlers of Nebraska Tell of Hardships They Endured.

SOME BATTLE WITH INDIANS

Each Has Story of His Efforts to Assisting In Conquering the Glorious West from the Redman.

More than 135 visiting Nebraska pioneers registered at headquarters in the court house at noon yesterday and more were arriving from all portions of the state. The exhibit, including various articles of early days, is installed and is attracting much attention, the museum being visited by large numbers of city people and visitors.

The program was in the nature of i round table talk, pioneers telling of their early experience. It started with a piano solo by Mrs. Alice A. Minnick, 1857, now residing in Dundee, who formerly, with her parents, located at Nemaha City and afterward removed to Brownsville, which, at that time, was Nebraska's metropolis

Colonel Hopper of Comana, 1860, recounted the fact that soon after his arrival he enstaged in freighting between here and Denver, incidentally being lured to Pike's Peak in the hope of finding gold. Returning to Omaha, they stopped for the night near where the town of Chappelle is located. That night several of their homes were stolen and twentyfour hours later the bodies of two of the thieves ornamented two of the cottonwood trees along the Platte.

Came with Ox Team Milton May, 1859, North Bend, noted the fact that he drove an ox team all the way from Iowa City and after getting here could not make a living. He went back to Ohio, but the western fever again attacked him and he returned to Nebraska, filed on land in Dodge county and resided there many years, subsequently aiding in the establishment of the wholesale grocery firm of May Broth-

Two Claim the Honor from De Sota arrived and laid claim to being the oldest Nebraskan in point of residence. He came to the territory in April, 1964, and there was no perso except A. N. Yost who sought to dispute the honor. Mr. Yost came about the same time and the honors of being the first resident at this time are divided. The afternoon session started off by Elijah Allen, who came to Nebraska in 1859 and who is past 80 years of age, singing a solo. Mrs. Allen announced that she was also something of a singer and when her husband had concluded, she entertained with a solo, insisting that she did not want any piano accompaniment. When the two pioneers had concluded their soles, and all joined in singing America, after which Miss Blanche Soren-

Mayor Dahlman, in a short address, esscomed the pioneers to the city, assuring them they were most heartily weladding, "You are the men and omen who are responsible for the founfation that was laid to make Omaha the greatest city between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and Nebraska the greatest state in the union. Germans Confident Indians Will Revolt Against the British

COPENITAGEN, Sept. 14.-Articles and carleatures in German newspapers and other periodicals show that the Germans are still confidently expecting serious uprisings in India. The Rhenish-Westpha-Bia Gazette publishes, with approving comment the following letter:

"The expectation, frequently expressed that the Indians, when they learn of British defeats, will rise against their oppressors, may yet be fulfilled. I have just had an opportunity to talk with a that Great Britain is circulating reports in "The Indians believe these reports of victories since, they receive no other reports than such as are calculated to strengthen their belief that Great Britain is unconquerable. If this confidence should be ever so little shaken, the consequences for British rule in India could not be foreseen.

"It should therefore be the endeavor of the German government to see to it that miles northwest of the town, the latter who are eager for freedom. Will Spend His Time in Campaigning for the Office of Sheriff of Douglas County-Pay for Half the Time.

Before beginning his thirty days' furough granted yesterday by the fire and Police board of South Omaha, Chief of Police John Briggs addressed the South Omaha police force on the general conditions of the city. He spoke at roll call last night at the station house. The chief ordered the police to clean up all pool hall hangers-on and specifically stated that any pool ball habitues without employment were to be locked up and brought before the potice magistrate on charge of vagrancy. "If the police judge turns them loose and they do not get work at once then you men are to rearrest them until they go to work. They must work or go to jail," said the chief. There is a deep seated belief that the murder committed last week was done by loafers or pool hall bums.

The police, with the exception of the detectives were ordered to wear uniforms on duty and all arresting officers were directed to appear at court to prosecute their prisoners as is done in Omaha. Detective Michael Gillin was appointed acting chief of police during the absence of the chief. Chief Briggs said that he felt it just to temporarily sever his connection with police affairs during his campaign for sheriff. He told the police, however, that in case of any serious trouble he would consider himself on duty even without pay and expected that he be notified at once.
