in England Holds Down Sugar Prices

LONDON, Oct. 3.-The report of the royal commission appointed at the outbreak of the war, with full power to deal with all questions on the public sugar supply, shows that a great experiment has been made with state socialism and with success, so that there has only been a small increase in price and no shortage of sugar.

The commission practically cornered the available supply and so checked speculation for a rise in the price. The sugar so cornered was sold to refiners at a fixed price, with the proviso that they in turn should sell to retailers at moder ate prices, which were definitely deter-The report gives all the necessary de-

"I inquired what had become of the population. It was a question to which no direct reply could be given. They had fled in all directions. Some had reached Antwerp, but a great number are wandering about the country, panic stricken and starving. Many already were dead.

Misery Among Civilians. "What had happened to Termonde was similar to what had happened in other parts of Belgium under the military occupation of Germany. The result is that conditions have been set for the civilian population throughout the occupied territory of unexampled misery.

Comparatively Few Refuges.
Comparatively few refugees have reached this country. Others remain wandering about Belgium, flocking into other towns and villages, or flying to points a little way across the Dutch frontler.

Sometimes when a town has been bombarded the Germans have withdrawn and the civilians have returned to their homes, only to flee again at the renewed attack. A case in point is Maline, which on Sunday last, as I was about to try to reach it, was again bombarded.

The inhabitants were then unable to leave, as the town was surrounded, but when the bombardment ceased there was a great exodus.

The whole life of the nation has been arrested. Food supplies which would ordinarily reach the civilian population are being taken by the German troops for their own support. The peasants and poor are without the necessities of life, and conditions of starvation grow more acute every day. Even where there is a supply of wheat available, the peasants are not allowed to use their wind-mills, owing to the German fear that they will send signals to the Belgian army.

"We are, therefore, face to face with a to afford no cover to the enemy. All fact which has rarely if ever occurred in the history of the world-an entire nudestroyed.
