Charles D. Beaton is the new King Ak-Sar-Ben XX. Mrs. Frances Hochstetler, is his queen and gracious consort.

Surrounded by the knights and ladies of the realm, and personally attended by many of the bravest knights and most beautiful ladies, the king and queen were crowned at the royal castle last night.

The coronation ceremony began at 9 o'clock. After the coronation had been completed and the king and queen had taken their places upon the throne, the annual ball, accompanying the ceremonies, began, and continued far into the night.

Follows Court Ball.

The ball and coronation followed explicitly the ceremonies of a court ball of Europe of the period of 1830. Promptly at nine bells of the clock, the governors of the Realm of Ak-Sar-Ben, clad in the garb of knights, entered in two groups from either side of the rostrum. Slowly they strode down the broad stairway, upon the main floor of the castle, and formed themselves into two ranks.

With drawn swords held on high, they formed an arch of steel through which immediately following, the three pages, the cardinal, and his majesty, the King, strode to the throne. His majesty wore a gorgeous costume of white satin brocade. (Continued on Page Twelve, Column One.)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9.—Playing with the same sensational speed that marked their rush from last place to the position of pennant winners in the National league, the Boston Braves crushed the Philadelphia Athletics here today in the first game of the world's series by a score of 7 to 1.

Although the newly constructed baseball machine of "Miracle Man" Stallings wabbling once or twice, it never left the track and under the guiding hand of Pitcher Rudolph clashed through Connie Mack's championship Athletics, scattering dismay and disappointment in its trail.

Victory Well Won.
The victory over the two to one American league favorites was well won, no lucky breaks or base ball flukes figuring in the defeat of the famous Mackman club. By sharp, heavy and timely hitting the Braves piled up an offensive lead, which, coupled with Rudolph's sterling box work and the general defensive work of his teammates, left no opening through which the Philadelphia club's attack could penetrate.

The Boston team drove Bender, the Athletics' star right-hander, from the mound by terrific hitting, which the Braves pieced together when his mount runs Gowdy was the hitting star for the Bostons, getting three safe blows in three times at bat. One of Gowdy's hits was a double and the other a three-bagger, his third hit being a single.

Holds Macks Spellbound.

Rudolph pitched a game of first water for his club, when he held the Athletics spellbound by slow balls which came up to the plate as big as a toy balloon. The Athletics could do nothing with his delivery. The Boston rooters paraded out of the grounds after the game led by a brass band.

The official figures for attendance and gate receipts and their division for the National championship, players and clubs is as follows:

Attendance, 20,562.
Receipts, $49,320.
National commission, $4,951.90.
Players, $26,905.
Clubs, $17,870.10.
Each club's share, $3,966.02.

Bender Lost on Field.

The players of both teams were on the field before 1 o'clock, with the exception of "Chief" Bender, who did not emerge from the Athletics' dugout until fifteen minutes before the game started. He warmed up slowly, stopping occasionally to oblige a photographer by posing for pictures. After the usual prolonged conference of the umpires and Captains Evers and Thomas play was called at 2:05 p. m.

Moran of Boston, the first man up, let Bender's opening pitch go by for a strike. The second pitch was a foul strike, the third a ball, the fourth a foul and then he sent up a high foul fly to McInnis, and the Athletics rooters cheered. Captain Evers was given a hand by the crowd as he stepped to the plate and shot a high fly to Collins, who had to step backwards to get it. Connolly, the heavy hitting outfielder, was next up. He took a strike, and, after fouling off another, missed Bender's next offering, and the side was out.

Oldring Sacrifices.

Eddie Murphy, for the Athletics, also let the first ball pitched by Rudolph go for a strike, but he laced the second to center field. Oldring laid down a sacrifice in front of the plate and Gowdy made a high throw to first, which Schmidt got after a fine effort, and put his foot on first base for the out, Murphy taking second. Eddie Collins waited while Rudolph pitched three bad balls and eventually got a pass to first.

Then up came "Home Run" Baker. The crowd cheered the slugger and then roared when he sent a high foul to Schmidt. Murphy on the out tried for third, but a beautiful throw by Schmidt to Deal nailed him, thus combining a double play and ending the inning.

Whitted, for Boston, in the second inning was given a base on balls by Bender. After Schmidt had litted a fly to Oldring, Gowdy came to lime with a vicious two-base drive to left center field and Whitted rushed all the way home with the first run of the game.

Maranville Shoots to Center.

Little Maranville started a tremendous outburst of cheering by the Boston fans by shooting a single to center field, and Gowdy raced across the plate with the second tally. Deal ended the inning by hitting into a double play, forcing Maranville out at second, Barry to Collins, and going out himself. Collins to McInnis.

McInnis in the Athletics turn at bat waited and got four balls. Strunk hit a sharp single to right field which Moran let go through his legs and before the right fielder recovered the ball and threw

War Summary

German heavy artillery is pounding Antwerp, the last remaining stronghold of the Belgian army, while German armies to the west continue the struggle with the French and British allies.

Beyond this little is known of the developments in Belgium and France. The situation at Antwerp is in doubt. The censorship which masked the fighting there until the Belgian government was compelled to withdraw to Ostend, is now veiling the attack on the city proper. Reports coming through London refer only to events of yesterday morning, or earlier.

King Albert is variously reported as leading a part of the Belgian army out of the city with the intention probably of effecting a juncture with the British and French, and as having arrived at Selszaete, a village on the Dutch frontier. Refugees from Antwerp continue to pour into Holland. They report that the German guns already have done much damage in the city.

The bombardment of Antwerp's inner forts is said to have begun at 12:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Two of these forts are reported to have been silenced and fire is said to have been started in four parts of the city.

The most recent statement by the German War office said the Germans had crossed the flooded area along the river Nethe and continued to make progress. The general situation in the west has undergone no change, says a French official announcement made yesterday. The battle continues along the line of Lens, Arras, Bray-Sur-Somme, Chaulnes, Roye and Lassigny. An artillery duel is occurring in the Woivre district. Otherwise nothing of importance on the right or on the center of the allies is reported by the French.

The Paris announcement says that Montenegrin troops continue their advance on Sarajevo, the capital of Bosnia. A similar report has been made almost daily for many days.

The Austrian War office, in its most recent communication, reported successes against the Montenegrins and a decisive blow against the Serbian invaders of Bosnia at Vlahograd.

The Austrian headquarters also reported the recapture of Przesow and the repulse of the Russians, who are marching on Przemyśl, in Galicia.

Number of Previous Attempts to Force Passage of River Under Cover of Artillery Fire Had Failed.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Concerning the operations around Antwerp, the correspondent of the Daily Telegraph in Belgium, under date of Wednesday, says:

The Germans today succeeded in forcing the passage of the river Scheldt at a point between Schoonaarde and Eigenem. They did this under cover of a heavy early morning fog.

During the last few days the Germans have brought up large reinforcements. They are no longer depending on the landwehr and the reserve troops, but are bringing up troops of the first line. At least one army corps is concentrated at Assche from which they advanced

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The bombardment of Antwerp has been terrible, says an Ostend dispatch to the Reuters company under date of Thursday. "The Germans threw incendiary bombs," the dispatch adds, "with the result that many parts of the town between the railway station at the south and the Palace of Justice are in flames.

"It is rumored here that the Germans have been repulsed on the left bank of the river Nethe.

"A Taube aeroplane flew over Ostend at 4 o'clock this afternoon."

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(Via London).—The bombardment of Antwerp's inner forts and the outlying parts of the city started at 12:30 Thursday morning. At noon the city was burning in four places.

It is reported that inner forts Nos. 4 and 6 have been silenced. The exodus of the panic-stricken people of Antwerp continues. It is reported that the dikes have been opened.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—So far as England knows this morning, Antwerp, the latest of the cities of Belgium to be beleaguered, is still holding out against the German onslaught. King Albert has withdrawn from the city toward Ostend, where the administration is now fully established, but practically the entire Belgian field army has remained to resist, as long as possible, the fire of the great German guns, the horrible effects of which were made plain at Liege.

The nations opposing Germany hoped that the defenders could hold out till the allies delivered some decisive blow along the battle line in France, which has now almost reached the North sea, and taken in conjunction with the fighting which extends across the Belgian frontier to the northward of Lille, makes a gigantic front sprawling like a snake half across Belgium and across practically all of northeastern France.

The siege of Antwerp and the battle of the Aene are thus becoming more closely related, and both Germans and allies are making the most desperate efforts to smash through the ever-lengthening western wing.

It is contended that the Germans failed in their efforts to drive a wedge through this region, and the latest Paris communication contends that the situation is stationary, though most violent fighting continues.

If Antwerp falls it will prove the ineffectiveness of modern fortifications against modern guns, for Antwerp is the last word in impregnable barriers.

The situation on the East Prussian frontier is becoming more like that in France after the German invasion and retreat. Being driven from Poland, the Germans are making a stubborn stand, and with reinforcements from Koelnsberg, will doubtless give a battle, which will determine whether the Germans will again invade Russia in this region.

Tombston dispatches reaching London from Petrograd say that a new Russian army has arrived at the frontier near Posen, while another is marching toward Thorn.
