PUBLIC CONFIDENCE

As Seen by the General

Public confidence is the greatest asset that any house of business can possess. It is more to be desired than the ability to make money.

There are degrees of public confidence. It may be zero, a minus quantity, or a plus quantity. At zero no confidence exists—nobody is for or against such a house. But this condition can exist only where the house or its goods are unknown, and as soon as the public has given the house a trial it will pass judgment, and public confidence will then be expressed by a plus or minus sign, according to the approval or disapproval of the public as to the goods and policies of the house. If the goods are not as represented, or if the policies are not in accordance with the ethics of good business, public confidence will drop to a minus quantity and the people will transact business with its competitors whose business ideals are on a higher and more satisfactory plane. If the goods are satisfactory, and if the policies of the house are right, the people will continue to do business with that house and will help to build it up.

The plus sign of public confidence is always attached to the name of a house of business that considers service to its customers, absolute integrity with reference to its goods, and high ideals in its business policies, as being of greater consequence than the mere earning of dividends. A well satisfied community of customers is the key to the success of any house of business, and, having entablished this, dividends will be sure to follow.

Employment and Lodgings Bureaus and Looks After Students Without Charge-Educational Notes.

The University Young Men's Christian association employment bureau has issued a statement of the work accomplished during the first month of the school year. The bureau, with its office in the lobby of the Temple building, secures jobs for students who are making at least a part of their way through the university, keeps a list of rooming houses and in other ways helps the men students. No fee is charged when Jobs are secured, but the bureau is maintained by the Young Men's Christian association for the unrestricted use of the students.

Fifty cadet commissions were presented to the officers of the regiment at the banquet of the Cadet Officers' association Friday evening. The event was the occasion of the first annual reception of the new officers into the club by the old officers, the officers' association being organized last year. The principal work the association will be to keep the fficers who graduate in touch with the department and to keep up the interest of the older alumnt in the work being carried on by their successors in the regiment. An office will be opened this week, room 303 Armory, where the records will be kept, and where military publications will be kept on hand for the men interested. An address list of the alumni, dating back to the first year of the department, is being compiled by A. H.

interfraternity council was held at the call of Prof. P. M. Buck, chairman of the pearance Tuesday morning in the way of council, to discuss the matter of securing an interfraternity secretary. The duties of the office would be to look after the membership of the different fraternities and to do the buying for all of them on a co-operative basis. This movement was started last spring, but at so late a date that no decision was reached before the summer vacation. At this meeting it was decided to create such an office and to receive applications at once. The salary will be paid by the fraternities and the office will require possibly five hours daily. Students who understand buying and can handle the business end of the proposition are eligible, but the office will not necessarily be limited to a student. Applications should be sent to Prof. P. M. Buck, and the election will be held soon.

Prof. F. H. Frye and Prof. S. B. Gass. both of the rhetoric department, are expected to arrive in Lincoln the latter part of the week. They have been in Europe since the outbreak of the war.
