OMAHA, Oct. 24. 1914. An enormous business was again transacted in cash wheat yesterday. The sagerness of foreigners to absorb every point of this grain, whether in a de-sirable position for immediate shipment or whether it could be obtained later in the year, reflected the present sime as some of the important nations. There has been up to the present time a scarcity of breadstuffs offering for export. During this week the clearances of wheat, with flour included as wheat, from America were only 5,500,000 bushels. And while this was 225,000 bushels in ex-cess of the previous week, it was 3,55,000 bushels smaller than the corresponding period last year. There are some of the lightweights in the various markets of the country who doubt the big sales of wheat for export as reported because of the comparatively small clearances from week to week.

week a total at 22,352 head. This is 2,600 heavier than last week, but is a shortage of nearly 4,000 head as compared with a year ago. The decrease for the year continues to mount and now stands at more than 22,600 head. The bulk sold at 46,5567.00, the long strings landing at 36,90 and 36.96. With a slack shipping demand tops failed to go over $7.06. For the week prices are gen-erally 25c lower. Light and butcher weight hogs have received the most of the being fully 30c off, while the heavy grades are in most cases not over 30c lower. On days when the trade was in good shape quality was the big item, but on a down market, weight was more of a factor. Science vs. Statistics.

Belance vs. Statistics. Science was horrified when statistics discovered that babies to the economic value of $200,000,000 perish cach year. "This must cease," exclaimed science ascitedly. "It's up to you," replied statistics, without emotion. But no sooner had science, by various devices, caused the babies to stop perish-ing than statistics discovered that half of these were girls, and 520,000,000 wouldn't begin to dress them, Science looked rather foolish. "The laugh is on you," quoth statistics, grimly.-Life.

ATTACKED BY PIGMY RATTLER

Harmless and Venomous Reptiles

Encountered in the Wilds

In a small pond we captured several of the banded water snakes (Tropidonotus facciatus). One, a large and richly marked specimen, was lying coiled under the water, which was about four inches deep, and lyings as he was among the short growth of vegetation, I nearly stepped on him before I gaw him. On placing the forked stick over him he wound up it as far as he could and struck victously at everything in reach, but was soon grasped by the neck and placed into a bag. These water snakes, though nonvenomous, wera by a great majority of the people we met.

Many anakes were uncovered in turning over the fans; mostly very young cotton-mouths, which very strongly resemble the young copperheads (Ancistrodon contor-trix) and the pygmy rattlers (Sistrusus milarius). The diminutive rattleanake would generally be found colled on the projecting base of a palm and covered by a paim fan. None that we caught made any attempt to escape, but they were ready to do mischief if they had the chance. They were so small, generally from 12 to 18 inches, that their rattling could not be heard unless held close to My partner had a narrow escape from being bitten by one of them. He had broken open a hollow log on the inside of which were a number of empty shells of anake aggs-probably the kinganake or blacksnake-and as he reached to pick one of them up for closer examination, he caught sight of a pygmy rattler colled partly under some pieces of the rotting core of the log and jerked his hand away just in time, for the little snake we found, and in doing so found several very fine specimens of the kingsnake (Ophibolus getutus). Usually when we found one we would find another one very close by. These snakes, while of rather quarrelsome disposition among themselves or with other snakes, are remarkably gentle with man. Not one of the several we caught made any attempt to bite, nor struck viciously, narrowly missing it. We broke open all the hollow logs which thought to be very polsenous.

Do as thousands of others are doing every day. Put in Tecumseh Coal and save from $2 to as part the mines. And you gas, mine prices, eliminating the coal middlemen and making their pro-fits your savings. Be coal "wise" now, put in Tecumseh Coal and cut your coal bill nearly in two.

Weight and Quality Guaranteed Under Bond

Every pound will produce 13,400 B. T. U.'s with only 2% ash and 2% moisture. Our mines, located near Vincennes, Ind., are close at hand, insuring on-time deliveries and also cutting the expanse of long, costly hauls from Eastern mines.

The Tecumseh club idea has been worked successfully by thousandw. Split a carload with a friend or two. This plan en-ables the small coal user to buy at mine prices and to make these big savings.
