The Busy Bees

ANY of the Busy Bees call on the editor on their way downtown ONE OF THE BRIGHT, INDUSTRIor to the library . They are prodigious bookworms, and I am very happy to say that they read the very best classics. Tennyson's King Arthur stories, the "Arabian Nights" tales and fairy tales vie in popularity with most of the little readers. Busy Bees should exercise a great deal of care in the choice of books and read only the best that the library affords. With the shelves upon shelves of books on varied subjects from which to choose, you should show your appreciation by reading only the best-those which will do you the most good. How happy Abraham Lincoln would have been to enjoy one corner of the wonderful libraries which are placed at the disposal of children today, instead of having to walk miles and treasure carefully the volume that some kind friend had permitted him to borrow.

Be sure to glean some good out of every book you have read, else do not recommend it to anyone else or waste time in reading another one like it. Interesting letters for this page may be written, describing the kind of books you like to read and what are your favorites.

This week first prize was awarded to Rosella Klein of the Blue Side, second prize to Florence Seward of the Blue Side and honorable mention to Genevieve Rounds of the Red Side.

Little Stories by Little Folk

(First Prize.)

The Christmas Ship.

By Rosella Klein, Aged 10 Years, 814

Hickory Street, Omaha. Blue Side. All the Busy Bees are very much interested in the Christmas Ship, which is soon to sail for our cousins in Europe. Already one carload has been sent on its way from Omaha, and another will be ready in a few days.

It will be hard this Christmas for old St. Nicholas to find his way around to the different homes there, for this year he is so busy doing other things. So all the Busy Bees have decided to help out our dear old Santa Claus and send as many things as possible. And I believe when old Santa fills our stockings this year he will put in a larger sugar plum than ever, when he remembers we have done what we could to help cheer our little cousins so far away.

(Second Prize.) A Willing Sacrifice.

Florence Seward, Aged '8 Years 2520 North Nineteenth Street, Omaha, Blue Side.

Once upon a time an old man came our door. He was poorly dressed. He asked for some work. He said he would sweep the sidewalk for a nickel. My grandmother said that he could sweep the sidewalk. Then she got a broom. When she handed him the broom he began to sweep.

My grandmother did not think when she hired him that she did not have any change. I was fust ready to go to the store for some candy with my nickel. I said: "I would rather give him the nickel than to get some candy." When he got through I handed him the nickel, and he said." Thank you." cheerfully, and went away down the street asking for work. I hope he earned lots and lots of money, don't you? I would like to be a Busy Bee and join Visits On Farm. By Genevieve Rounds, Aged 11 Years. Emerson, Ia. Red Side. This is the first time I have written to the Busy Bee page, but I read the stories every Sunday and enjoy them very much. Friday afternoon I went out Marjorie Snodgrass. It was getting quite inte, so we thought we would go after the cows. We went to the barn and got two horses and then started after the cows. We got them in about 6:30 o'clock. I stayed all night and in the morning we went out to watch them husk corn.

We both got on the same horse and

We did not have any saddle, so it was not very easy to get on. We did not know where they were husking the corn, so we had a time to find them. After a while we found the Red side. them and we stayed there about an hour and started back. We got bock about il o'clock, and in the afternoon we we started to walk to town about ten minutes to 1 o'clock, and got to town twenty five minutes after 1 o'clock. It was two and a half miles to town. I surely had a fine time while I was out there.

Hallowe'en Games.

By Mollie Corenman, 805 South Seventh Street, Omaha. Red Side. I thought I would write and tell the Busy Bees some of the games which my brothers, sisters and I played on Hallowe'en night last year.

One of the most interesting games was to take a tub of water and put some apples in in. We all had our hands tied up besides, papa, I would be happier, as I behind us, and then we tried to catch an would get nice fresh air. In the city it apple with out mouths. Oh, what fun it was! Another apple game was to tie an apple up on something and then try to take a bite off it. I remember that and I shall take a walk in the country. I only got two bites of the apple last Tomorrow at 7 o'clock come to my room

A Pleasant Walk.

By Mary Grevson, Aged 12 Years, West Point, Neb. Blue Side. Dorothy Williams was a little blue-eyed girl. She was 8 years old. But Dorothy never had an appetite, and she soon grew pale and thin, Her father, a wealthy man in the city, also saw that omething was wrong with his little girl. So one day when she was in her own om she heard a knock at the door. She went to the door and said, "Oh," papa am so glad it is you. I was just thinking how happy it would be to take a walk in the country every morning before breakfast. I do think it would give me an appetite so I could eat more, and is so close that I am sure to get sick." "Yes, Dorothy, I think you a very reasonable child, and every morning you and we will take a walk." So the next morning at 7 o'clock two and many rabbits. They sat down on beach to rest themselves, when a little brown squirrel came near Dorothy and seemed to say, "Have you any nuts for us. little one?" Then Dorothy said, "Oh, papa, see this pretty squirrel. I do wish could take him home."

"No, Dorothy, you cannot do that, but every morning we will come here low we will go farther on." They crossed a little brook where they saw little fishes, and Dorothy was very glad when her father said she might play there awhile. So Dorothy played there

For Our Little Busy Bees

WHO GOT THE FIRST ONE?

Irene Conrad, who collected 954 pictures. My, what a lot. We don't believe it will take as many pictures to get Dorothy, but we can't tell. You just keep pegging away and collect all the pictures you can, and maybe you will win her. There's one thing sure, some little girl will win her this week. Some say she is even more beautiful than Alice. Anyway, she is certainly very pretty, with her dark hair and eyes; beautifully dressed, and 25 inches high.
