Mime. Vaccar achieved notable triumphs throughout this country upon her first of the First Presbyterian church, Seventeenth and Dodge streets, Sunday evening November 1. The quartet is composed of Mrs. Louise Jansen-Wylle, soprano; well.

At the dinner a group of violinists could be heard telling each other a string of anecdotes, several vocalists who happened to sit together conversed merrily on the same strain, the pianists could be seen here and there keyed up to the greatest enjoyment, while the organists opped everything to devote their attentions to the banquet. Through it all one could not refrain from noting the harmony which existed.

The climax of the evening was in the performance of Romberg's "Toy Hymphony," by the Clef Club Symphony orchestra, vulgarly known among its members as the "Clef Club Simms' Funny orchestra." with J. H. Simms, the chairman of the club, as conductor. This is a really truly piece of music, with beautiful melody and harmony, arranged for first and second violin, double bass, and toy instruments consisting of triangles, rattles, nightingales, qualis, drums, trumpets and cuckeos. It has been proven by sad experience in this dreary world that anyone, no matter who he is who rests at a great many bars, is likely to rest at one or two too many, come in late and get into all sorts of trouble Now in music the same is true. It wasn't the easiest thing in the world to count twenty-seven measure rest, and then ome in with three beats of tremulo on a triangle or two measures tatton on a drum. Many were the players who came to grief, especially the quartet of oos, who were rare birds and did net seem to be able to "toot ensemble." After some rehearsal, however, the orchestra gave a noteworthy presentation of the work, bringing out the majestic awing of the first movement, the tender sentiment of the Andante, which contains most effective cuckoo solo, the quaint daintiness of the minuet, the captivating follity of the Rondo, and the rapid sweeping climax of the brilliant Finale. was a great success, and a performance which has never been equaled in the histery of our city.

An interesting competition took place in Chicago last week, when the national plano prize contest was won by Pasquale Callerico in Orchestra hall. Mizz Carol sinson of Chicago won second honors The prize gave the winner the privilege of an appearance with the Symphony orchestra and $200. The standard of ex-cellence was so high in the final event that Charles G. Dawes, the donor of the prize, at the leat minute increased it to testants who participated in the event. The winner, though born in Italy, has studied in this country since his eighth year. The other five were prod-

Mrs. Maude Mueller Cooks of New York, formerly of Omaha, died Tuesday of last week. Mrs. Cooke was well known in Omaha musical circles previous to her marriage, when she was a student of both the piano and pipe organ, and held the position of organist at St. Mary's Avenue church.

Emma Eames announced recently that she has retired permanently from the stage and will do no more public singing.

Every musical magazine one picks up nowadays contains the notice of some prize of more or less money for the best music of some special kind by an Amer-ican composer. Surely, if the demand increases there should soon be a supply

The regular musical assembly of the Omaha Conservatory of Music and Arts was held last Thursday at 4:15-p. m. at the conservatory. Mrs. Frances Bastens had charge of the program. Selections by pupils from several departments were enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience. A male quartet, to be known as the Omaha Male quartet, has been organized by four young men, pupils of Mr. Emsile. The McDowell trio, consisting of Misses Goneva Foresman, Bertha Clark and Katharyn Bauder, are taking special training of Mr. Emsile preparatory to filling concert engagements.
