Victory of Teuton Squadron Off Chile, Definitely Shifts Command of Southern Waters to the Kaiser.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 4.—The brilliant victory of the German squadron over the British off the coast of Chile places a new aspect on the naval situation in the Pacific.

For the present, at least, it definitely shifts command of southern waters to the Germans, and until there has been a readjustment of forces will make itself felt in the movement of all cargoes between the Pacific coast and Europe.

Which way the Germans will elect to turn next is pure speculation, but they are free to move northward to the mouth of the Panama canal...

At the same time the trade lanes between San Francisco, Puget sound and the Orient, already heavily policed by Japanese and British, are now cleared of menace...

The engagement accounts for all German warships at large in the Pacific and east of Suez, except the Emden, whose repeated raids on British commerce in the Indian ocean have been so costly.
