Kansas never had a chance, never had the ball at any time within striking distance of the Husker goal line and it might even be said that Stiehm's youths could have added several more points to the ultimate count if they had so desired.

Coach Wheaton's proteges uncovered a as to puzzle the Cornhuskers defense. But that is all they did-uncover them. For that bunch of Nebraskans promptly busted up all formations, cute and otherwise. And while that indomitable line, humanity as Halligan, Abbott, Cameron, Jayhawk rushes, Rutherford. Potter, Chamberlain and Delametre were pounding their way through for touchdowns. The Kansas defense couldn't even get in the way of that back field let alone stop it successfully and it was the unanimous opinion-excepting of course those Kansans present-that a larger score could have been complled.

Howard Comes Back.

One of the bright spots in the battle was the come back of one Warren Howard, of this city. Howard had been playing below standard, but today he entered the game with a vim and spirit that was irresistible. Playing his last game on Nebraska field his punting was the best execution in his career. He averaged forty-eight yards and every Omaha lad also starred at capturing forward passes and several of Nebraska's long gins were netted through the ir line to Howard.

start, but later in the afternoon the weather cleared and was not quite so disagreeable. When time was called a drizzling but very damp rain was falling, which served to make the spectators uncomfortable and the field slippery, hindering the end runs a bit.

Kansas won the toss and chose to kick off to the east. Sprothers made the kick to Rutherford. Potter signalled for a return kick and Nebraska kept kicking for, the most part of the first quarter. Kansas failed to gain and was compelled to kick, and here Nebraska made gains, as Howard surpassed Sprothers in that de-

Yale Makes Touchdown. First period: Yale won the toss and kicked off to Princeton's 35-yard line. Three exchanges of ounts followed, then, with Yale holding the ball on its own 45-yard mark, a penalty of 15 yards put the blue within striking distance. Two attempts at laternal passes "smeared" with a loss in each instance, and Legore's forward pass bounded beyond the T.ger's goal line. Princeton was given the bail on its 40-yard line, but another punt was forced. Aided by a penalty and two short line gains, the Elis made a first down, then Amsworth got loose and ran twenty-eight yards Working from the Tigers 30-yard mark, the Elis made another first down and advanced to the 14-yard line. Here the home team stiffened and Legore missed a field goal. Brown took Shea's place. Wilson made a yard through tackle and on the next play made a lateral pass to Legore, who run well to the right, along Princeton's 37-yard line, then forward passed to Ainsworth, who raced down the side line and scored a touchdown.

Yale Outplays Princeton. Second period; Knowles and Ainsworth began the quarter by making first downs. A lateral pass and a for ward pass failed and Princeton took the oval. F. Trenkmann replaced Gilck.

Yale caught Driggs' punt at the forty-eight yard mark. Tibbott intercepted a forward pass and Driggs punted to Yale's twenty-five yard mark. Lamberton took Highley's position and on the first play blocked and recovered a punt on Yale's thirty-five yard mark. On the second down Princeton tried a forward pass, but lost the bail on the visitors' twenty-five yard line. An exchange of punts gained eight yards for the Blue. Knowies broke through Shenk for nine yards and Ainsworth went past Captain Ballin for an equal distance. Knowles made four through center, but fumbled and F Trenkmann recovered. On Driggs' punt both teams were off side. On the next attempt he kicked to Yale's thirty-five yard line. Legore was forced back nine yards by Ballin after ne had made the catch. Another exchange of punts followed. On the third down Knowles went outside of McLean to the thirty-yard mark. On three tries ten more were made through the line, then Knowles went through McLean for thirteen more. Knowles was used twice and went to the four-yard mark. Trankman stopped Wilon. Ray Hill went in for Lamberton and Dickerman for Tibbott. Dickerman also stopped Wilson, but on the next play Legore shot a forward pass across the line to Brann for Yale's second touchdown, Legore kicked goal. Score: Yale, 13; Princeton, 0. Legore caught the kickoff and ran back twenty yards, the half ending as he was tackled.

During the first half of the game Yale completely outplayed Princeton on the offensive, using forward passes and lateral passes cleverly mixed with short line plunges and end runs. Just outside tackle the Blue constantly worced the ball into the 'Tigers' territory. Both touchdowns came as a direct result of wide open and overhead plays. Legore constantly outpunted Driggs in the exchange of kicks and Princeton's policy of returning these punts on the first or second down gave little opportunity to gauge Princeton's offensive strength.

Yale Scores Again. Third period: When the second half started Lamberton returned to the game and Ray Hill took Brown's place. Boland
