Good Ship Water Wagon Overhauled for Long Cruise

Out from the dark recesses of Public Conscience dry dock, where it has rested in disuse for, so, these many months, comes the good old water wagon tomorrow, to be overhauled and redecorated in preparation for its annual New Year's day cruise.

Plans are already made for impressive ceremonies to mark the 1915 sailing, and just now the repair committee is concentrating attention upon the seaworthiness of the craft itself. Every seam in the stately old ship will be caulked and tarred, and every leak will be plugged. The present intention is to enlarge the craft to accommodate at least 100 per cent more passengers than were cared for last year. Another important change will be in the manner of navigation. Heretofore hot air and wind furnished the motive power. This year chasers are to be used in addition.

Two flags will fly from the mainmast. One, a lily white background will probably proclaim the ship's motto: "Safety First." The other will show a skull-and-cross-bone rampant on a fallen demon. The boat will be manned by a crew made up of members of the Independent Order of Night Loafers. The skipper has not yet been chosen.
The song, "Yo, Ho, and a Bottle of Demon," will be barred on board ship as a violation of neutrality, but encouragement will be given to "It's a Long Way to Tipple Mary."

Denver and Topeka Want to Learn of Commerce School

Denver and Topeka are planning to establish public commercial schools modeled after the Omaha High School of Commerce.
Superintendent E. U. Graf has received a letter from Denver asking for detailed information about the Omaha school.

Principal L. C. Ruemmel of the Omaha High School of Commerce was asked by the Denver Board of Education a year ago to appear there and discuss the Omaha school. He also went to Topeka for the same purpose at the instance of the school authorities there.

There are some bills the club will seek to get the entire Douglas county delegation to introduce. There are others that will be introduced by perhaps a single member of the Douglas county delegation.

COLOR-BLIND PAINTER SEEKS NAVY ENLISTMENT

A color-blind painter, who applied to enlist in the navy furnished amusement to the recruiting staff when his faulty eyesight was discovered and his occupation became known. The man was not accepted in the service.
"You don't seem to know green from blue, or brown from pink," Chief Petty Officer John W. High told him.
"Well, I never was any good at matching colored yarns," the applicant explained. "But I can mix paints, all right."
As he claimed to have a good job as a painter in Omaha, Officer High did not give out the man's name for fear it might cost him his position.

STAUFFER HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM WRECKS

After being in two railroad wrecks without even being scratched, J. F. Stauffer of the navy recruiting station here has returned from a holiday vacation trip to San Francisco. He left the diner of a Southern Pacific train and entered another coach near Inlay, Nev., last week, just five minutes before the second section of the train crashed into the diner. Then, on the return trip, while near Palisades, Wyo., his train was derailed.

CORNELL SINGERS ADEPTS AT THE ART

Musical Clubs from Ithaca Charm Big Audience at American Theater.
MANDOLINS ARE VERY TAKING Hearers Are Responsive and Give Expression in College Style to Their Appreciation of the Program.

A capacity house, vociferously enthusiastic from the rising of the first curtain until the last number had been sung, extended a royal greeting to the Cornell Musical Clubs which gave a concert at the American theater last night as part of the twenty-third annual Christmas tour.

Graduates of long years ago, graduates of more recent years, under-graduates home on their vacations, graduates and undergraduates from other colleges and some who are not so fortunate as to boast of an Alma Mater made up that capacity audience and if the Cornell Musical Clubs find audiences in other cities half so appreciative they will be fortunate indeed.

Setting Picking Pianos. If a distinction could be made, the mandolin and banjo clubs found the most favor with the audience last night. Playing in perfect harmony, it seemed as if they could not play enough to suit the Omahans present. They played popular melodies and vivacious dances in extensive numbers, but they never failed to receive ardent applause, some of which they could not acknowledge.
The mandolin club sextette was the hit of the evening and S. H. Worrell, the versatile trap drummer who played drums, bells, a xylophone, the piano, shot off a revolver and executed a buck dance, was the individual hit. The mandolin sextette in its playing fell asleep, all but the versatile Mr. Worrell. He, remaining awake, transferred instruments on each of his fellow members, but without effect for the banjoist proved as adept at the mandolin as did the mandolinist at the xylophone and the violinist at the guitar.

To the accompaniment of the mandolin club, Messrs. Adair and Boyle, attired in carnival costume, danced the tango, the hesitation and other society dances. Except that he could not boast a "perfect 36," Mr. Boyle proved a good female impersonator.
The glee club won its way into popularity with Omaha by giving several humorous, but harmonious numbers such as "Roll Them Bones" and a parody on the Wellesley college girls who hope to see a manless nation.

Omaha Boy on List. J. J. Hanthorn was the only Omaha boy with the clubs starting last night. It was explained that Hugh Millard, J. H. Millard and H. H. DAVIS are members of the club, but were not included in the roster which is making the Christmas tour.
Following the concert at the American, the Cornell musicians were guests at a ball given by the local Cornell alumni at the Rome hotel. About 150 couples attended the formal affair.

PROFFER OF ROME MAY BE REJECTED

Washington May Not Accept Italy's Help in Caring for Refugees in Syria.
KEENLY INTERESTED IN PLAN Government Officials Skeptical About Reports that North Carolina Threatened to Fire Upon Tripoli.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Department heads, although without official advice on the subject, were keenly interested tonight in a Rome dispatch saying the Italian cruiser Calabria at Beirut, Syria, had been instructed to co-operate with the American cruiser North Carolina in protecting refugees on the Syrian coast.

Secretary Daniels called the dispatch to Captain Oman of the North Carolina at Beirut, and to Captain Decker of the cruiser Tennessee, which left Jaffa yesterday, taking a load of refugees to Alexandria.

Repeats Request. Mr. Daniels also repeated his request for information from the cruiser commanders concerning a recent Athens dispatch announcing that the North Carolina had threatened to fire on Tripoli, Syria, when the Turkish authorities sought to prevent the departure of British and

JURY SAYS SIR KILLED SELF

Evidence at Inquest Shows He Threatened to Take His Life.
ALSO THREATENED DAUGHTER Bullet Was 32 Caliber and He Had Borrowed Revolver of That Size, Although Weapon Has Not Been Found.

Clement Sir, Bohemian, found near Thirty-sixth and X street, Saturday night, with a gunshot wound in his right temple, killed himself, according to the verdict of the coroner's jury this morning. For some time the police had feared that the man had met with foul play, because the gun with which the shooting was done could not be located. Sir owned a 22 caliber gun, but he is alleged to have borrowed a 32-caliber revolver a few days before his death.

The bullet found by Dr. Samuel McCannaghan in the post mortem held Monday, was a 32 caliber misme. The gun has never been found.
Testimony showed that Sir had threatened to end his life and that he was dependent because he could not get out of work for five weeks. His daughter, Mary Sir, 14 years old, testified that her father threatened her life lately.
