

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Louisville, Ky.—"I think if more suffering women would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound they would enjoy better health. I suffered from a female trouble, and the doctors decided I had a tumorous growth and would have to be operated upon, but I refused as I do not believe in operations. I had fainting spells, bloated, and could hardly stand the pain in my left side. My husband insisted that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful I did, for I am now a well woman. I sleep better, do all my housework and take long walks. I never fail to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my good health."

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

How Elizabeth's Pretty Name Came to Be Selected

The doll which The Bee is this week giving to the little girl cutting out the most pictures is named "Elizabeth," and back of this name is a pretty little story. The doll is named after one of The Bee's earliest subscribers who lives in a nearby town, and who wrote to us this letter:

BODY OF H. W. YATES IS BORNE TO REST

Funeral Services for Pioneer Banker and Citizen Are Held at the Trinity Cathedral.

BURIAL IS AT PROSPECT HILL

Funeral services for the late Henry W. Yates, pioneer banker and citizen of Omaha, who died at his home here last Saturday night, were held at Trinity cathedral Tuesday afternoon and large numbers of friends, neighbors and business associates followed the body to Prospect Hill cemetery, where it was laid to rest in the family lot.

The attendees at the funeral of the late Henry W. Yates was very large, men and women from all walks of life being present in numbers sufficient to fill the immense auditorium of the cathedral. The love and respect in which he was held by those who had known him so well and so long was manifested by the floral offerings, coming not only from people of Omaha and nearby cities and towns, but from as far away as Chicago, Kansas City and St. Joseph.

Funeral Services Simple

The funeral services were simple and in accordance with the rites of the Episcopal church, of which Mr. Yates had been a member practically all his life. They were conducted by Dean J. A. Tancok of the cathedral, assisted by Bishop Williams of Omaha and Bishop Beecher of Kearney.

Occupying seats within the chancel were Rev. F. D. Tyner, Rev. John Williams, Rev. T. J. Collier, Rev. T. J. Mackay, Rev. John Albert Williams and Herbert Moore, O. H. Cleveland and Rev. Mr. W. H. B. King, W. B. Caldwell and Clement Chase, laymen.

During the services the quartet sang the hymn, "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God of Hosts," by Gounod, was played during the saying of the funeral rites.

At the conclusion of the services and as the casket was being taken from the cathedral, Mr. Stanley played the Beethoven funeral march.

Out of respect to the memory of Mr. Yates, all of the banks of the city, the clearing house and a number of trust companies were closed during the hours for the funeral and most of the officers and a large number of the employees of these institutions were in attendance.

W. F. Critchfield, Well Known Lawyer, Buried at Fullerton

W. F. Critchfield of Fullerton, one of Nebraska's ablest and best known attorneys, who died Monday afternoon in Omaha at the home of a friend on Davenport street from an acute attack of pneumonia, has been buried in the family lot at Fullerton. Deceased had contracted a bad cold about a week ago and came here for treatment.

His splendid legal mind and his genial social qualities immediately brought him into prominence and he soon took a leading position before the bar of the state. His relationship to his clients was rather unique. It was more the relationship of the lawyer to his client in the early days of the country, when the lawyer's clients not only consulted him in all legal matters, but were his devoted friends as well.

Mr. Critchfield had a most lovable nature. He was a philosopher as well as a keen lawyer, and many members of his profession, recognizing his keen grasp of the fundamental principles of law, loved to consult him whenever they had a particularly knotty problem. He was universally loved and his death will be mourned by a host of friends and the profession will suffer a distinct loss.

How Thin People Can Put On Flesh

This men and women—that big hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of it? Did it all go down your throat and into your stomach? Did it pass through an open gate? The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folk—their organs, their nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are really out of gear and need reconstruction.

Should Guarantee to Conventions Be Given Under Bond?

Should a city guarantee by a bond that it will fulfill its end of the contract in the entertainment of a convention when it makes a convention an offer of a bonus to meet in that city? This is substantially the question E. V. Parrish, manager of the bureau of publicity of the Commercial club, is to discuss January 20 at a meeting in St. Louis of the Association of Convention Secretaries.

This will be the first meeting of the organized convention secretaries. The meeting is set for January 19 and 20. It is a convention of delegates composed of those engaged in the convention industry of the various civic and commercial organizations of the American cities.

Hanscom Parkers Complain of City Water as Unhealthy

Complaining of the excess of alum in city water, a number of Hanscom park residents have gone to City Commissioner J. B. Hummel, superintendent of parks, with the request that he have the Hanscom park pump fixed so that they can get the pure spring water to drink while the city water is objectionable to them.

Navigator Organize for the Work Ahead

The first meeting of the investigation committee on the prospects for Missouri river navigation between Omaha and Kansas City was held yesterday at the Commercial club rooms. The committee simply met to organize and prepare for its work. This body was appointed at a mass meeting last Friday night, their duties being to make an investigation as to the monthly tonnage that could be expected in and out of Omaha on a river barge line if one is to be established.

The Spirit of Public Service When the land is storm-swept, when trains are stalled and the wagon roads blocked, our repairmen must keep the telephone highways open. These men face hardship and danger, because they realize that snow-bound farms, homes and cities must be kept in touch with the world. This same spirit of public service animates the whole organization. It is found not only in our linemen and repairmen, but even in the girls at the switchboard, who, on countless occasions, have proved themselves heroines in times of emergency. In response to the telephone needs of the public, this company has grown to be a large organization. But mere size should not be considered a sin nor business success a crime. A corporation that renders big service to the public must be big and prosperous or the public will suffer because of poor service and poor pay-rolls. "Big Business" means big salaries—yes—but it also means big men, big brains, broad-minded policies, intelligent organization, proper supervision, and big service to the people. Big business, properly conducted and regulated, means better service to the public at less cost. "We Advertise So That the People May Know." NEBRASKA TELEPHONE COMPANY BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES
