Wheat suffered its greatest depression when the fact was made reasonable sure of that foreign buying had come to at least a temporary relative halt. The more or lew complete stoppage of Euro-pean demand was in a measure explained by a drop in quotations, at Liverpool said to be due to cheaper offers from Argentina and also from India. Somewhat increased receipts of wheat, especially at Minneapolis and Duluth, tended to discourage the bulls right at the outset. Then, too, snow falls were benefiting the domestic winter crop. Lessening of export sales acted as a handicap on corn and also did the break in the wheat market. Liverpool prices were unresponsive to yesterlay's ad-vance here. Moreover, big receipts added to the huge domestic stocks. Neverthe-less all attempts to stampede holders were stubbornly contexted. Make Your Hens Lay When Eggs Are High

Anyone can get plenty Anyone can get plenty of eggs when eggs are cheap—that's what makes them cheap. The people who make money from poultry get eggs when the others cannot.

You can make your hens hay and get your biggest profits when your neighbors' hens aren't earning their feed bills. It's all a matter of knowing how.

Poultry raising isn't a matter of guesswork any more. The breeder who makes $2.00 a year net profit from every fowl has got to know how to raise, feed and care for his flocks.

Get the special training that you need to make poultry-keeping pro-

The International Correspondence Schools will give you complete instruc-tion in every essential of poultry culture. They will show you the best way to hatch, feed and manage, how to build poultry houses, how to establish and operate a money-making poultry farm, and how to breed stock that will win prizes.

Hundreds of successful poultryraisers in every section attribute their success to I. C. S. training:

"Formerly I had what I called bad luck with my poultry; after reading I. C. S. instruction papers, I found that it was mismanage-ment that ailed my poultry," says John S. Barner, Vilas, Pa.

"For the last eight years I have been trying to find out how to keep poultry. My feed bill today is only half as much ds it was a year ago, and my profits are almost twice as great as they were before Ienrolled in the I. C. S. Poultry Course," says O. W. Senger, 509 E. 11th St., Pueblo, Col.
