LIVE STOCK PLAGUE SPREADS TO KANSAS

Four Counties of Jayhawk State Placed Under Quarantine by Federal Officials.

SHIPMENT BRINGS THE DISEASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Four counties in Kansas—Covley, Sedgwick, Sumner and Butler—were quarantined today by the Department of Agriculture against the foot and mouth disease because of infections brought in by shipments of cattle from Wisconsin. The department first quarantined the whole state and announced its action, but later issued an amended order.

Found Near Winfield. WINFIELD, Kan., Feb. 1.—The foot and mouth disease has been found in a herd of cattle twelve miles southeast of Winfield. Another suspected case is being investigated near Mulvane. As a result of this discovery the Commissioner of Live Stock Riddle quarantined certain parts of Covley and Sedgwick counties. The commissioner said he would destroy the Covley county herd tomorrow. The disease came in a shipment of fine cattle from Oxford, Wis. They are worth about $400 each.

Not Affected Materially. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 1.—Live stock markets in Kansas City, Wichita, Kan., and St. Joseph, Mo., will not be affected materially by the United States Department of Agriculture's quarantine of four Kansas counties for the foot and mouth disease today, according to G. R. Collett, manager of the local yards, and live stock commission men.

While no official information concerning the restrictions placed in the quarantine had been received here it was pointed out they probably would consist simply of the prohibition of shipments into and out of the four counties.

Since these counties are largely engaged in dairying and used for summer grazing purposes, it was believed there will be no difficulties in the result. Taylor Riddle, Kansas state live stock commissioner, announced tonight he would destroy the Covley county herd in which he discovered the disease, tomorrow. The animals he believed were brought into the state in a shipment from Oxford, Wis., and are fine dairy animals. The herd of twenty, one-half of which is at Winfield, Kan., and one-half at Mulvane, is valued at about $400 each. Mr. Riddle said he believed the disease extends only to these two herds.

"There is little doubt that it is under control," he said. Body of Aged Man Found Dead in Black Hills is Identified. DEADWOOD, S. D., Feb. 1.—(Special.)—Through the identification by his son, Clyde of Arpan, Butte county, the mystery surrounding the disappearance last November of George A. Giddings, an aged man from Oklahoma, who left his baggage in the local Burlington depot and then dropped out of sight, has been cleared. The body of a man, supposed to be Melvin Evans of Eureka, Kan., and identified last November by friends of that man, is now claimed to be the elder Giddings.

Two months ago an aged man cut his throat on the road near Lead. He was then identified as Evans, a fugitive from a Kansas officer. At the same time Giddings dropped out of sight. He had been visiting his son at Arpan and announced his intention when leaving there of going to Oregon, where he had land. Now his son has found that he quietly returned to Belle Fourche, made over a deed of his Oregon property to a daughter in Texas and mailed it to her, sent her some money and then came to Lead, where he committed suicide.

The body of the supposed Evans was publicly viewed and interred in the potter's field, because it was not claimed. When the younger Giddings failed to trace his father and learned from his sister in Texas that his father had returned to Belle Fourche and made out the deed, he went to Lead and had the body disinterred. He positively identified the body as that of his father by a scar and also a gold watch with his mother's initials, which young Giddings said she had given to the father forty-two years ago. George H. Giddings is believed to have been mentally unbalanced, and his son declares that he had shown signs of delinquency. He was at one time a practicing attorney in Iowa.

Local officials are probing the case still further to find if it was possible that Giddings met with foul play instead of committing suicide.

JOHN MITCHELL IS WITNESS

Says Rockefeller Plan to Settle Labor Disputes in Colorado Simply Absurd.

SEES NO GOOD RESULTING

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Amos Pinchet, first witness in the federal industrial relations commission, was permitted to finish reading his testimony he had not concluded Saturday, in which he accused the Associated Press of partiality to the capitalistic side of the labor controversies in handling news. "I do not believe," said Mr. Pinchet, "that the Associated Press will carry on its wires dispatches concerning my testimony here about it. There is a by-law of the Associated Press which provides that any member printing news derogatory to the Associated Press be disciplined and is subject to losing his franchise."

John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, told the commission that the Rockefeller plan to settle labor troubles in Colorado was "simply absurd."

"No good can come out of such plans," said he. "Unorganized men can be depended upon to select to represent them only men the bosses want. We have gone through such things before."

"We might just as well starve idle as starve working men naturally be raised again just as it was during 1909 in the anthracite field."

Discussing compensation for workmen Mitchell said it was effective in more ways than one. "When it costs more to kill a man than it does to save him the employers will save workers," said he.
