6

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE FOUNDED BY EDWARD ROSEWATER.

VICTOR ROSEWATER, EDITOR. Bee Dublishing Company D.

Cutorat	-	Omaha	viente	Peline		-	d. alun		Iter
NHEELE G		CODING IN	Ponere	ATTICA .		10000	bis-cum		rever-
	•	TERMS	OF	SUB	B	OF CRI	rrior	By	Item
		Sunday.				r mo	nth.	per :	Pear.

Department.				and cheeren
Send notice	of charge	of to	address Omaba	or complaints of Bee, Circulation	C N
Sunday Bee	0719				0
Evening with	hout Sunda	5			ş
TOWNSTITIES WALL	0714481388.7 S v V		*	CONTRACTORS CONTRACTOR	2

REMITTANCE. Remit by draft, express or postal order. Only two-cent stamps received in payment of small ac-counts, Personal checks, except on Omaha and eastern exchange, not accepted.

OFFICES OFFICES. Omaha-The Bee Building. South Omaha-2318 N street. Council Bluffs-14 North Main street. Lincoln-35 Little Building. Chicago-901 Hearst Building. New York-Ronn 1105, 206 Fifth avenue. St. Louis-560 New Bank of Commerce. Washington-725 Fourtsenth St., N. W.

CORRESPONDENCE. Address communications relating to news and edi-torial matter to Omaha Bee, Editorial Department

JANUARY CIRCULATION.

53,714

State of Nebrasha, County of Douglas, ss. * Dwight Williams, circulation manager of The Bee Publishing company, being duly sworn, says that the average circulation for the month of January, 1915, was 55.70. DWIGHT WILLIAMS, Circulation Manager. Subscribed in my presence and sworn to before the, this 2d day of Pebruary, 1915. HOBERT HUNTER, Notary Public.

Subscribers leaving the city temporarily should have The Bee mailed to them. . Ad. dress will be changed as often as requested.

Fobriary 5

Thought for the Day Selected by Grace Louise Hancock All hearts can be reached through music. although it may speak differently to each .--

Louis Lombard.

Yes, and the best answer the street railway can make to the jitney stunt is to give the pub-He good car service, and more of it.

Remember that solemn assurance that an ounce of silver and a bushel of wheat would always be squal in value any time and any place?

So long as the president and the senate caucus stick to the burning deck of the shipping bill the administration cannot be accused of "cold feet."

A competition in rate reduction to light and water consumers would be much more satisfactory than a mere oratorical contest between the general managers.

After a little more debate, he will be introduced as a great electrical engineer as well as a great hydraulic engineer, a great civil engineer, and a great naval engineer.

The best argument for the electric lighting company against the proposed extension of the water district into the lighting business, would be to, give Omaha the admittedly overdue rate

Democratic Practice and Preaching. President Wilson's ples, made in his address to a gathering of business men in Washington, that closer co-operation should be had between the business world and the government in the framing of laws, is based on sound foundation, No one will dispute the theory, but what has been the democratic practice? When has the president or his party seriously considered the interests of business in formulating or carrying out their partisan program? Was the voice of the business world heeded when the Underwood tariff law was passed, or when the regional banks were located? At what time has the democratic party ever sincerely consulted the general interests of the country in connection with its policies?

For longer than sixty years the democratic party has been avowedly a sectional party, and the present congress is dominated entirely by sectional interests, organized on sectional lines, and operates steadily along those lines. The present deadlock in the senate is due to the effort of the president to drive through that body a measure intended chiefly to secure advantage for the cotton growers of the south.

The country will be the gainer when there comes a closer and more efficient co-operation between the business of the country and its government, but just now congress is far more in need of control than is business.

Russia and the World-War.

Little surprise will be exhibited because of the czar's finally declining to allow neutrals to distribute relief among the prison camps of eastern Siberia, at the same time refusing to permit an inspection of those camps by neutral diplomats. This is part of the historic policy of Russia. The rise of Muscovy from the condition of a lowly principality to the position of the world's greatest continuous empire has been on this foundation of aloofness.

In the present war Russia is, as ever, an opportunist. Russia has little occasion to love either France or England, but at present is content to love Germany a little less. At all events, the concern of Russia for either France or Eng-" land is not likely to go very far beyond the point where they may be serviceable in the furtherance of the Russian dream of world domination. With Germany defeated, and France and England seriously weakened, if not actually exhausted at the close of the present struggle, Russia will be the better enabled to take another step forward in that game which is being played in terms of centuries rather than of years.

The economic aspect of the problem that will have to be faced on termination of hostilities is fairly well forecasted; the political phase of the question is certain to be colored by the attitude of Russia, and Russia continues to hold zloof.

Where Nebraska Republicans Lose Out.

The official promulgation of the new apportionment for the next republican national convention has been made, the plan having been ratified according to its terms by the republicans in states representing 290 electoral votes or over twenty-five more than necessary to meet the conditions for its adoption. The announcement enumerates the states that have formally approved the new plan, but nowhere is Nebraska to be found in the list, although our last republican state convention unanimously adopted the ratification resolution that was offered. It would seem that either the officers of the couvention neglected to forward the properly certified copies of the resolution or the returns from Nebraska miscarried somewhere and failed to reach their proper destination. The unfortunate thing about it is that it deprives Nebraska republicans of any share in the prestige which the republicans of other progressive states will have for putting this important reform into effect and it does this when our state should by rights have been listed in the forefront of the reapportionment movement.

The Political Caldron

want you will, there is a lot of politics, as 3 well as other things, in this Greater Omaha consolidation proposition, and its bearing on the oming spring city election has been canvassed, and fine-toothed combed by the strategists in all camps. It will be remembered that Major "Jim" announced himself quite a while ago in favor of consolidation, but was emphatic that he would not stand for taking in Dundee, Florence or Benson without taking In South Omaha at the same time. It will be remembered too that Senator Dedge was always hot for annexation until just now when he somersatited over to the antis, and his switch is not whoily explained by the fact that he now lives in Dundee, because he lived in the same spot while serving in the last legislature. True, at that time he was in neither Dundee no

Omaha, but as he himself remarked, "Dundes forcibly annexed me," and he never put up a whimper. So It ian't forcible or unforcible annexation, but politics, that is at the bottom of the line-up, and this is the way it is doped out: Dundee is "slik-stocking," South Omaha is "rough-neck," Dundee, Benson and Florence altogether cast fewer votes than South Omaha by a good deal, so that consolidation would be expected to strengthen the "liberala" in a city election as compared with the "highbrows."

A question of time and calendar also enters into this consolidation problem as it affects local politics. Ordinarily a law passed by the legislature does not become effective until the following July, which would be two months too late to let the voters of the annexed territory in on the choice of the city officers who are to govern them for the next ensuing three years. The law could become operative at once by attaching the emergency clause to it, and passing it soon enough to let ambitious statesmen like Hoctor, Tanner, Dodge and ethers residing in South Omaha and Dundce flie for the municipal primaries as citizens of Greater Omaha. The only other way to effect consolidation, and let the annexed neighbors have representation, in the elective city offices in event consolidation is enacted without the emergency clause would be then to rush through a special act postponing the city election until fail, and extending the terms of the present municipal regime for about seven months. It goes without saying that the city hall bunch would not object to this program, and it is also more than possible that those who are fighting consolidation hardest right now, being all of them politicians first, might if beaten on the first round and seeing consolidation a sure thing after next July. turn in and do their utmost to help postpone the elaction so they could climb in on the groundfloor of the political game.

So don't overlook any bets in the consolidation matter, and don't be surprised to see some lightning changes if contingencies require.

It is said friends of W. F. Baxter are importuning him to start and head another citizens' movement similar to the Citizens' Union of three years ago. So far, however, Mr. Baxter has declined to take more than ordinary interest in this campaign, urging that his business affairs at this time demand more of his time and energy than they did three years ago when he was one of the moving spirits in the Citizens' Union. For that organization Ralph Sunderland was general in command; David Fitch was secretary; and C. W. Alden was business manager. A suite of rooms in the City National bank building was the Union's headquarters.

Politics sure makes strange bedfellows. Here are Lee Herdman and Mayor J. C. Dalhman friends again. after nearly nine years of political enstrangement. This is one of the important political happenings of the week, during which Mr. Herdman called at the mayor's office, doffed his hat and cost, accepted a cigar and the twain agreed to bury the hatchet and henceforth eat at the same political table.

The ancient and honorable legion of political panhandlers is making its presence felt in the city hall just now, although it will be two months before the city primaries. Some of these visitors want a little small change for past loyalty and work, while others ask for money for what they promise to do this spring. They bring in alleged political information. offer suggestions and even claim to control votes. Some are fairly successful in this form of activity; others don't get to first base. Usually twenty-five cents is a satisfactory ante at this stage of the game.

opics invibed. The Bas assume no responsibility for opinious of correspondents. All letters subto condensation by editor.

Accusations Unjust and Absurd. OMAHA, Feb. 3 .- To the Editor of The Bee: As an interested reader of The Bee I want to reply to the communication of W. J. Woodward of the village of Lowis, In., who styles himself the president of the Citizen's bank. His letter was certainly a display of narrowmind heas, bigotry and very poor Americanism. He seems to forget America is a free country for all nationalities and all denominations. The literacy test required for emmigrants is not an assurance of good character of citizenship, for the crooks are mostly all able to pass such a test, few being deficient, while good, honest, hardworking people are rejected due to their inability to pass the test. Every American citizen desires to elevate the conditions of the working class of people of this country, but our government must devise a just way of accomplishing this, end. President Wilson and ex-President Taft vetoed the literacy test as a matter of principle, and not as a dependency of votes, as "illiterately remarked" by Mr. Woodward. The limmigrant of certain European countries are not responsible for their last, of knowledge, inability to withstand the literacy test; their government, rulers and politicians are to be blamed for their depres-

The Bee has hiways been just and fair and muy it always be so. The loss of the aubscription of Mr. Woodward will mean gain of others, for his accusations against The Bee are unjust and absurd. Mr. Woodward can be referred to the old Latin proberb "Si Taculases, philosophus mansisses."

F. B. HOUSEMAN.

Chance for Commercial Club. OMAHA, Feb. 4 .- To the Editor of The Bee: The Omaha Commercial club sent strong delegation to Lincoln to support the Greater Omaha annexation bill, hur no one claimed that any advantage would accree to the state at large or that any really great advantage would accure to Omaha.

But now comes the Commercial club of Alliance supporting a bill to efficiently promote industrial development in the state of Nebraska. Its influence for commercial good might be made a hundred or a thousand fold that of any annexation bill over dreamed of. What will the other Commercial clubs of Nebraska do about it? The question seems warranted. A real opportunity exists.

Of course no Commercial club would support it because of political influence. and it is, just barely possible that some commercial clubs will oppose it (under cover) from a narrow, selfish interest. There is probably no use holding back for any of our heretofore mighty statesmen to become enthusiastic over it, because there are none of the usual reasons why they should.

ONE CLUB MEMBER.

Who Says They Won't Work? OMAHA, Feb. 4 .- To the Editor of The Where is the man or woman who says the unemployed won't work when they have the opportunity? In cleaning the streets of snow, preference was given to voters, and many unemployed awore that they were voters when they were ot-perjured themselves-for the privit-

GRINS AND GROANS.

"After I got through with my remarks," said the orator, "the people applauded budly," "I joined in that applause," replied

"I joined in that applause," replied Miss Carenne. "You were interested." "Yes, and grateful. I was straid for swhile that you had grown absent-minded and thought you were flibuster-ing."-Washington Star.

Mrs. Youngbride-I want to get a hat for my humband. It's to be a surprise for him. Clerk-What size, madam? Mrs. Y.-Really I forgot to find out. but he wears a 15 collar, so I suppose he'd want 20 or 22 in a hat, wouldn't he? -Boston Transcript.

Irate Motorist-Say, this darned car won't climb a hill! You said it was a fine machine! Dealer-I said: "On the level it's a good car."-California Pelican.

"Dear me," exclaimed the British malden to her companion, "didn't you hear something drop just now?" "Yes," answered the other, "it was one of those horrid Zeppelin bombs. Is my head on straight?"-Baltimore American.

First Burglar-Hullo, Bill. Why you look as if you'd been through a cyclone since I last met you. What's wrong? Second Burglar-I got into a house where the woman was waiting up for her husband, and she mistcok me for him.-Boston Transcript.

What the color of her eyes? Ab, the fact is hard to tell. There is ever fresh surprise When upon those orbs I dwell. First, as darkest alght they seem, Then, a flash of colder gray, Next a sweet and tonder gleam As of heaven's sermest ray. What the color of her eyes? Changeable as April skies. When she puts her hands in mine When she puts her hands in mino With a greeting warm and true. Then her eyes, uplifted, shine With the heavens' reflected hue. When at parting, her white arms Hold me close in love's embrace. Not the least among her charms, Eyes of brown, where just a trace Of tears baclouds their changing hue. Brown to black or gray to blue.

HER EYES.

When I look within their deeps, Black or brown or blue or gray, Flame of love within them leaps, Lights and shade forever play. Blessed eyes! Their gaze is pure Or in sorrow or in song: And whene'er their pleadings lure Theorem even in too wrong. Heaven anall keep her in its ward, And her eyes shall be my guard. -E. F. W.

-E. F. W

Ugh! Not Calomel, Oil or Salts, Take "California Syrup of Figs."

A harmless cure for sick headache, fren, because this delicious fruit laxative billousness, sour stomach, constination, can not cause injury. Even the most dolicate child can take it as safely as a indigestion, coated tongue, sallownessrobust man. It is the most harmless, take "California Syrup of Fige." For the effective stomach, liver and bowel cause of all such misery comes from a cleanser, regulator and tonic ever detorpid liver and Eluggish bowels. vised.

Your only difficulty may be in getting A tablespoonful tonight means all conthe genuine, so ask your druggist for a stipation poison, waste matter, fermenting food and sour bile gently moved out 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that is it made by the of your system by morning without griping. Please don't think of "California "California Fig Syrup Company." This Syrup of Figs" as a physic. Don't think city has many you are drugging yourself or your child- so watch out. city has many counterfeit "fig syrups,"

The snow will surely melt when she comes #### reductions at once.

Considering the disturbance of the greatest war in history, the bill factory at Lincoln has managed to yield an output whose quantity is in no way disappointing, however much the quality may bear inspection.

The Washington declaration of German-Americans, placing American interests above those of any other country, will find a reaponsive chord in every American home. It sounds the right note of patriotism.

President Wilson urges the building of two hattleships this year. Senator Tillman, head of the naval committee, desires to wait for the lesson of the world war. While the political doctors are arguing Uncle Sam merely whistles and whittles,

If Villa succeeds in establishing himself in control of the Mexican government, that camera picture of him sitting in the presidential chair in the national palace a few weeks ago, will take on an added significance, though not wholly unsuspected.

The payroll brigade are expected to fight 'o hold on to their jobs, but how any one can oppose Greater Omaha consolidation who does his husiness and gets his livelihood in Omaha. though he happens to live just outside the city limits, is difficult to understand.

It remained for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat to strain the credulity of readers by presuming that a democratic levy on office-holders' salaries for a campaign fund constitutes a news story. That vehicle of political righteousness might with equal emphasis assert that the rush for the pie counter is inspired by a desire to "save the country."

The grand conclave of the Nebrasks Knights of Pythian began at Pythian hall, centering around the arrival of John Van Valkenberg of Fort Madison, In . grand chancellor of all the Knights of Pythias lodges of the World. In the work Mr. Van Vaikenberg was stated by George Leslie and J. J. Monnell, while J. D. Jones and Colonel Irwin also contributed Frize winners at the Benevolent society's fair last night included the following: Silk suspenders, George Heyn: manicure tollet case, George Morton; an order for allk shirts, N. B. Falconer; tidy, Mrs. I. Oberfelder; dish, Thomas F. Boyd; fire screen, Mrs. A.

So exceptional that The Bee notes that all incoming trains were on time last night.

A sumber of Omaha men have been subpossed go to Lincoln to testify on alleged school land ads, among them George Heimrod, Edwin Peycke, E. F. Dorn and E. L. Lovett,

A new best has been created by the police authorities comprising Fourievith. Fifteenth and Sixteenth to Capitol avenue to Harney, and is pairoled in the dautime by Officer Tom Pierronet.

Francisco Villa, Dictator.

Never in his career has "Pancho" Villa appeared more picturesque than he does at this moment, boldly proclaiming himself dictator of Mexico. Why not, pray? By dint of his own prowess he has raised himself from the condition of a lowly jailbird to that of de facto dictator, at least: he has made and unmade "presidents" in a steady procession, and has enforced his own will without ruth for months. He has murdered, pillaged, and wasted, and all in the name of "liberty," and now he has committed the climax of his career by announcing himself as supreme in Mexico.

Villa's action crystallizes the situation to the extent that it will array all the other leaders against one. In this regard it may be of service, for it may mean the beginning of the end of anarchy in stricken Mexico.

Still Too Many Bills.

The present legislature has been guilty of the same fault that has marked its predecessors, in the introduction of too many bills. Even were there urgent, or only reasonable, need for all the laws and changes in laws proposed by the bills presented it is humanly impossible to give all the pending measures careful consideration within the time at its disposal. Mauy good bills are included in the long list, but these are sure to suffer, because of inadequate attention, while many had bills are likely to slip through in the rush that is inevitable.

Half-baked laws which later require much amendment to make them effective, necessarily result from this course. Other similar evils, too obvious to require specifying, also attend this effort of the legislature to cover too much ground. . Its most direct, and perhaps dangerous, effect is that the final determination of the fate of all measures save those for appropriations required by law, will be taken out of the hands of the legislature and given over to the sifting committee, which thus becomes of paramount importance, as the real law-making body.

Prominence is given to the news that three of the assassing of Archduke Ferdinand have been executed and three committed to prison for life. Tens of thousands of worthier men have gone into unmarked graves as a direct result of that crime, and countless thousands more are doomed to that fate.

A statement of the real inspiration and authorship of the deluge of legislative bills would vastly improve their educational value.

Twice Told Tales

Foresight Defined.

The children had read the word foresight in the reader and the teacher was endeavoring to make it "Foresight," she said, "is looking ahead, Now you give me an example of foresight if you can." Well, foresight would be not to eat much breakfast when you knew you were going out into the country to your grandmother's for dinner," explained the boy .- Indianapolis News, Antor Wit.

Newport is crediting Vincent Astor with a bon mot. It appears that Mr. Astor had turned the cold shoulder on an aristocratic but poor young man who had continually tried to "use" him. A woman ventured to take Mr. Astor to task for this snub, and received the telling reply:

" 'Oh. Jack shouldn't complain. They who make tools of their friends are sure to get)'cut." "-Boston Globe.

Strictly Cash Basis.

Shortly after the reconstruction period began, an old southern planter met one of his negroes whom he had not seen since the latter's liberation. "Well, well!" said the planter. "What are you doing now, Uncle Josh ?" "I'se a-preachin' of de gospil."

What! You preaching?"

Yassah, marster, I's a-preachin'."

"Well, well! Do you use notes"

'Nossuh. At de fust I use notes, but now l -mands do cash."-Judge

People and Events

A three-minute telephone conversation between San Francisco and New York is definitely entitled to the bargain rate of $6.60 a minuts.

No matter what Chicago may do about varying the fashions in waist lines, indifferent mascul persist in holding on to the forty-four or thereabouts

Nebraska and Ka a s la makers show considerable speed in reform measures, but they are out-classed by the Connecticut salon, who would prohibit hippockets in trousers.

The discovery has been made that nearly 70 per cent of the co-eds of the University of California have flat feet. Too much practice for the Midway stunt at San Francisco.

The crusade against sinfulness is getting a grip on Philadelphians. There is now talk of reviving the hair cloth sofa, as a parlor symbol or prim respecta bility and mortification of the spirit.

A Texas bride-to-be ducked at the altar, shed her heidal robes and decided to consecrate herself as a missionary among the heathen. The task of converting heathens is much easier than reforming a Texan by marriage.

Along about April I literature of this import will and galety to the vchicles of publicity: "Owing to the severity of the winter and the unusual thickness of the ice crop, entailing increased labor in cutting and storing, dealers are obliged, much against their will, to postpone a reduction in the price of ice delivered to housekeepers." No April fool joke, either. They lived nearby Centerville, Ind. A widow of with two daughters; a widower, with two nons and four daughters. The elders were married in December. Apparently the bride did not have an accurate census of the bridegroom's family, so when she was introduced to the group the task of hustling for a bunch of eight sent Dan Cupid screaming from the ranch, and the bride and her daughters trooped back to their old home. Nothing doing. With all their experience elders get an eye-opener now and #### ege of working WILLIS RUDSPETH.

Normal Board Should Be Abolished. OMAHA, Feb. 4 .- To the Editor of The Bee: The only argument necessary to show why the State Normal board should be abolished is a short review of what they have done during the last blen-They began by discharging Dr. nium. Thomas as president of the Kearney normal, as they said for the good of the school. They never filed any charges simply because they had none to file. Had they been honest they would have given the real reason and said it was because T. J. Majors was unfriendly to Thomas, and also because he was not satisfactory to the gang in the Schoolmasters' club, and Caviness, a member of the board, is also a member of the club and the tool of this same gang.

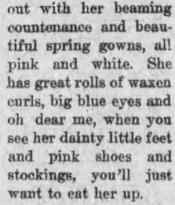

Under the guise of making the work more businesslike, Majors and Caviness fixed up a resolution forbidding the president of each school to have any voice in the selection of janitors, care of building and grounds, the purchase of furniture and supplies, the expenditure of any funds or the handling of any cash funds or fees, notwithstanding the statutes clearly make all this the president's duty. These matters were all placed into the hands of the registrar and the local committeeman. As soon as this was fixed Majors immediately discharged the head fanitor at Peru and put into the place made vacant a tenant from one of his farms, although the man discharged was admitted to be entirely satisfactory.

Delzell was chairman of the teachers' committee and had his daughter elected as a member of the Chadron faculty, later he had R. C. King and R. I. Elliott of his office force elected to positions in the Kearney faculty.

The prosident of the board, because he was a member of the executive committee, succeeded in seiling the normal schools about $3,000 worth of furniture. With but only part of the money in sight the board let a contract for an $$0,000 training school at Peru, to be known as the T. J. Majors' Training school. This building contains in its plans a fine gymnasium and pool, notwithstanding the fact that the Peru normal already has one of the best gymnasiums in the state. It would seem that the other normal schools should have at least one gymnsslum each before Peru gets two.

The votors of the state emphatically ondemned the action of the Normal board by electing Thomas to the state superintendency, yet the members of the board who ousted Thomas show their littioness by keeping him off of the teachers' committee, which has always been headed by the state superintendent. The expense of the board also showa It to be quite a luxury, being about $4,000 for the blennius. The traveling expenses of Caviness signe is equal to if not greater than that of any one of the presidents. although he is not permitted under the statutes to collect anything except actual expenses while at board meetings. The foregoing is but a sample of this board's doings.

At one time ten teachers were discharged and no other reason was ansigned than that the teachers were not needed. Some of these teachers had been in the employ of the state for fifteen The board should now S'enrs. charged in the same D. B. JOHNSON:

Mildred wil be given free to the little girl under 12 years of age that brings or mails us the largest number of doll's pictures cut out of the Daily and Sunday Bee before 4 p. m., Saturday, February 6, Mildred's picture will be in The Bee every day this week. Cut them out and ask your friends to save the pictures in the paper for you, too. See how many pictures of Mildred you can get, and be sure to turn them in to The Bee office before 4:00 p.m. Saturday, February 6.

You can see "Mildred" at The Bee Office

Baruey & Berry American Club, Nickel Plated, Tempered. Welded Steel Blades. Sizes to fit.

This picture of one of the Skates will be in The Bee every day this week.

Cut them all out and ask your friends to save the pictures in their paper for you, too. See how many pictures you can get and bring them to The Bee office next Saturday

The Skates wil be given Free to the boy that sends us the most pictures before 4 P. M. Saturday, February 6.