It earns that right through its better construction, greater beauty and more complete comfort. It cannot be justly judged by its price.

The Inter-State is built in a modern factory that has always been devoted to the construction of high-priced cars.

The intelligence, energy and experience of this efficient motor car building organization, one of the foremost in the motor world, is now turned entirely toward an effort to make the best thousand dollar car that was ever offered a buyer. This effort is justified by the result.

Upon examining the Inter-State you will agree that it has more class, more beauty, more quality, more power and more real value than other cars.
