

INSURANCE BILL IS RESURRECTED

Howell Succeeds in Reinstating the Anti-Discrimination Measure Killed Thursday.

ACTION SEVENTEEN-FOURTEEN

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—After energetic work among the senators before the senate convened this morning Senator Howell was able to resurrect his insurance bill, Senate File 46, and send it back to the committee for another hearing. The vote was 17 for and 14 against. Beal, Brookley, Bahrman, Bushen, Hoagland, Kiechel, Lahnert, Mallery, Marshall, Quinby, Robertson, Sandall, Shumway and Wilson of Dodge voting against; reinstating the bill. Dodge and Wilson of Frontier were absent.

Byrne Takes Hand. The fine Italian hand of General John C. Byrne of Columbus, democratic leader and patriot, was shown in the rout of the opponents of Howell's bill, a bill which was charged on the floor of the senate yesterday as being in the interests of an insurance trust. It is said that Byrne was sent for yesterday to see if something could not be done to bring back to life the corpse. As a result of his visit sentiment this morning had changed among certain senators who voted against the bill yesterday and when Wilson of Frontier, who voted against the bill yesterday, moved that senate file No. 46 be resurrected, it was promptly done.

Pearson Fears Trouble. Lieutenant Governor Pearson warned the senate that it might be getting into trouble by bringing out a bill which had been legally killed yesterday. He said he was fearful that the thing could not be done and might bring on legal complications which would place the bill in bad, but in the face of no specific rule covering the proposition he would give the bill the benefit of the doubt and allow the senate to vote on it.

The vote on the bill showed that Green, Krumholz, Egick and Wesener, who had voted to kill the bill yesterday, voted today to bring it back to life, while Standers and Wink, who were absent yesterday when the vote was taken, also voted in favor of the resurrection. Brookley and Sandall, who voted for the bill yesterday, voted against it today. A public hearing will be held next Thursday afternoon.

"THREE DAYS TO NEW YORK BY AIR."—Says Zeppelin: "I have always hoped to be the first to pilot an airship across the Atlantic, and I want to sail on a peaceful mission when I go to America. The trip would take about three or four days, according to weather." Count Von Zeppelin made his first balloon ascension at St. Paul during the civil war, and not on the firing line, he said. He used the balloon of a major of the union army.

CUSTER COUNTY DELEGATION

Three Men Represent Three Types of Members Very Well Distributed Over Assembly.

HOW THEY ARE PROGRESSING

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 12.—(Special.)—Custer county's delegation of three men in the state legislature has attracted a good deal of attention from the fact that it represents three men of different type but largely representative of the membership of the entire assembly. The honest farmer, the lawyer-philanthropist and the agriculturist banker are represented.

The first type is found in the person of George Washington Greenwall, a farmer, honest, capable, eloquent and resourceful. While his colleagues from Custer are trying to get through legislation upon which neither can agree, this farmer by his eloquence and convincing manner charms the members and accomplishes the things which he desires purely through his ability to convince the members that he believes what he preaches and gets what he goes after. Senator Charles Wallington Beal is a hard worker, a good speaker and is well liked by his fellow senators. He does not always agree with the majority party of which he is a member, but he is generally credited with being honest in his contentions and his speeches are always listened to.

Notwithstanding his colleagues in the house, William Jefferson Taylor has been fighting for a bill to restrict the incomes of attorneys, of which Senator Beal is an able member, and cut them off to a certain extent from their base of supplies. Mr. Beal has applied the golden rule, and instead of restricting the income of Mr. Taylor, has introduced and is fighting for a public warehouse measure, which will permit Mr. Taylor to hold the grain raised upon his farm so he can get a bigger price for it. This will enable Mr. Taylor as a farmer to make more money, so that as a banker he can accommodate Mr. Beal and the other lawyers in Custer county when they need the money to pay for the last month's grocery bills.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 12.—(Special.)—E. W. Brown of Lincoln, has registered as a lobbyist representing the Farmers and Merchants bank of Verdon; L. E. Hertz of Lincoln, manager of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company, as a representative of the Nebraska Independent Telephone association; William Ritchie, jr., of Lincoln, as a representative of the school law revision commission; and W. H. Campbell of Clark, as representing the Farmers congress in regard to school laws.

McCarthy Refuses Job. Scout Thomas McCarthy of the Red Sox has turned down the offer from the University of Vermont to coach its ball team this year, as it would demand his services until June, and he will have considerable scouting to do for the Red Sox in April and May.
