Features of the Trading and Closing Prices as Board of Trade. CHICAGO, Feb. 22.-Wheat plunged heavily downward today, extreme losses amounting to Sc a bushel. The market closed much flurried at 5% to 7% clover as compared with Saturday might. Other net declines were. Corn. No. 3, 190250 to 5%: oats, 1% c and 1% to 5%; and provisions, 21.50 to 7%. Sensational breaks in the price of wheat being right at the outlet and be-came unmistakably worse as the sension forced a finish. The first smash was influenced by a sharp drop in quotations at 1/verpool and by news that Con-stantinople was to be attacked from the north as well as to be endangered from the south by the onslaught against the torta, both sides of the Dandanelles. Netvousness of holders of wheat was in-treased after word came that another mutral ship had been blown up in the war zone and was further augmented by dispatches from the east tending to show that notwithstanding Washington hopes to the contrary, the question of an em-argo remained ominous. Teneral attempts to liquidation despite mount and no reliance apparently was placed in assurances that the amount of Russians wheat readily available for hipment through the Dardanelles would be recent almost unimited European ease in the rease discipation to rease after reade of the prospect of the present and the dast hour. OMAHA, Fobruary 12, 1915. The receipts of wheat, corn and cats are very light in the local market. A year ago today there was a total of over 90 cars received, while today the total receipts were only 171 cars. Chicago led all other markets, with receipts of ap-proximately 1,600 cars. The May option on wheat was 3% under Saturday's closing price, and gradually went down to the $1.55 level. Although receipts were yery light, there was very little demand for either wheat, corn or cats in the local cash market, and all of these grains sold considerably under the closing prices of the newions day. The wires leading to the primary markets are out of order and it is im-possible to procure any information as to prevints from these markets. OMAHA, February 22, 1918
