

HITCHCOCK-BRYAN FUSS OPEN AGAIN

Controversy Over Naming of Broken Bow Register Said to Hold Up the Entire List.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS READY

Federal appointments for the positions of registers of public lands in Nebraska are all ready to be announced except the name of the man to hold that position in the Broken Bow office. Federal appointees, would-be appointees and also-rans are watching the appointment situation closely enough to feel that they have this information definitely.

Again, it is a controversy between Secretary of State Bryan and Senator Hitchcock that is holding off the final official appointments for these places. Just what the list is is not known yet, but it is said to be definitely known that the whole matter hangs by the one thread of the appointment at the Broken Bow office.

Bryan has a candidate, Mr. Ross Moore of Broken Bow, for this place. Senator Hitchcock refuses to stand for the appointment of Moore. Thus does the deadlock result, even as it has successively resulted when these two have been called upon to agree on any set of appointments for any given office in the state during the last two years.

Will Not Stand for Moore.

That Hitchcock will never stand for the appointment of Moore is said to be a certainty. That Bryan will cling to his candidate a long time before he will compromise is said to be equally certain. And thus it is that a few dozen perfectly good democrats in the state who are slated for these jobs and assistants in the offices are still held at arms' length, while the two worthy Nebraskans remain deeply burrowed in their respective trenches with bayonets leveled at one another.

Hummel Says Time Soon Up for the Start of Viaducts

City Commissioner J. B. Hummel says he wishes to place himself and the other city commissioners right on the Missouri Pacific viaduct situation.

He states that this company agreed to start March 15 on the work of placing a subway under the tracks at Thirty-first and Sprague streets, at a point where the new Creighton boulevard passes under the tracks. He also declares that this company agreed to start the Louest street viaduct on this same date, and he avers that if this company does not hold to its agreement "there will be something doing next week."

Commissioner Hummel held a conference with several other commissioners on the subject, but he declined to state just what the "something doing" will be.

Mrs. Mary Sullivan Severely Hurt When Hit by Automobile

Mrs. Mary Sullivan, aged 50 years, living at 275 California street, sustained fractures of the nose, jaw and ribs when struck by an automobile at Twenty-sixth and California streets, Friday night.

Charles E. Bancroft, 1028 North Thirty-second street, who drove the car, gave himself up at police headquarters Saturday morning and is held under bonds fixed at $2,000.

After the accident Bancroft picked the woman up and took her to the Lord Lester hospital, where her condition is critical.

Mrs. Sullivan, while crossing the street, dodged out of the path of one automobile directly in front of the car run by Bancroft.

MUST TURN DRUG VICTIMS INTO STREETS, SAY POLICE

"The county will not take drug fiends, neither will the hospitals, so the only thing we can do for them is to let them lie down on the floor of the old county jail or turn them into the streets," said Police Captain Henry Heitfeld when asked what, if anything, had been done to provide for the victims of drugs who have been deprived of their poison by the federal law.

Captain Kline of the Salvation Army took one sufferer to the Salvation Army Industrial Home Friday afternoon, where he will be kept until able to look out for himself. The captain said he would willingly care for a few more cases.

Members of the Bohemian Bachelors' Club

A club of thirty-two bachelors, who will impose a fine of $25 on any member who gets married without the consent of the club, is one of the newest and most novel of Omaha's social organizations. It is the Bohemian Bachelors' club.

Rules of the club, agreed to unanimously when the members organized in January, prohibit any member from deserting the life of single blessedness and joining the ranks of the benedictines without the approval of the club. Each bachelor joining the club agreed to pay a penalty of twenty-five "iron men" if he violated the rule.

But the new society and its unusual regulation puts no damper on the business of Danny Cupid, for the constitution of the club provides that should any one of the bachelors fall a victim to the little matchmaker's darts, he may marry the girl of his choice and still avoid the penalty. It is only required that the intended wife shall communicate with the club and present her request that the bachelor be allowed to make her his wife. Then the other bachelors will graciously surrender their claims of brotherhood with the would-be benedict, and he will be allowed to march rejoicing to the altar. Of course, after that he can no longer be a bachelor and his membership in the club lapses automatically.

So far all the members are still "heart whole and fancy free," but, then, "you never can tell." It may not be long before some of the original bachelors will be organizing a club of newly-weds.

Twelve well-known unmarried Bohemian-Americans started the new club on a New Year's inspiration, January 1. Twenty more bachelors have already been added to the roll. All are over 30 years of age, that being one of the requirements for membership. They meet on Friday evenings at Tel Jed Sokol hall, Thirteenth and Martha streets. James Solin was chosen to be the first president of the club, as he was the oldest bachelor. Other officers are Oldrich Jelen, secretary, and Joe Peska, treasurer. The club has an entertainment committee of three, of which John Pospichal is chairman.

Bachelor stunts are not the only activities of the organization. In fact, it was formed for the purpose of promoting education, one of the leading Bohemian attributes, and charity, not the least by far. The club makes generous donations to the Bohemian school and frequently helps those of their people who may be unfortunate.

By way of proof that they are not bachelors of the "old fog" kind, the members give dancing parties that are distinctive social events. Formal dress is the rule, and other features of exclusiveness put their social affairs in the ultra class. The club gave one of its dances

March 6 and is already planning another. A big summer outing is also contemplated, and a grand outdoor party will be given by the bachelors for the youngsters to show all the little boys and girls of the neighborhood a good time.

Although each member of the club is a citizen and voter, the majority of them were born abroad. As a result they appreciate the advantages offered in this country and make it a point to help new Americans from Bohemia. So, although called just a bachelors' club, the organization has varied purposes and interests that make it a worthy addition to Omaha's activities.

Business Good at Both Coast Expos, Declares Mr. Fort

Passenger Traffic Manager Port of the Union Pacific is back from the Pacific coast, where he spent several days at the two expositions. While there he was entertained by numerous of the business associations and at all the meetings he was impressed with the spirit of optimism that appears to be general.

As to the expositions, Mr. Fort asserts that up to this time the attendance has been satisfactory, exceeding all expectations. Both expositions are now finished and in perfect condition for the reception of the visitors.

According to Mr. Fort, there has been an abundance of precipitation over the coast country during the last winter and the outlook for an abundant crop was never better.

First Big Through Train to Expos to Stop a Day Here

This train will be occupied by 125 members of the International Association of Milk Dealers. They will be joined by twenty-five to fifty more, who will take up the westward journey. The milk dealers' train arrives over the Northwestern at 1 o'clock the afternoon of June 22 and at 7 o'clock continue its trip over the Union Pacific.
