

OUTLOOK IN MEXICO CITY IS IMPROVED

Carranza Will Help Foreigners Leave and Zapata General Promises to Admit Provisions.

NO MORE REPORTS ON M'MANUS

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Mexico City was reported quiet today and officials here expected all conditions to improve with the occupation of the Zapata forces.

"I think we are in pretty good shape. Carranza has promised to permit people leaving the capital to travel over the portion of the railroad he controls, while the Zapata general in command there has undertaken to admit food supplies."

Oregon's Whereabouts Unknown.

The whereabouts of General Oregon, commanding the Carranza forces which evacuated the city, is not known here.

Some importance is attached to it by officials because of the bearing it will have on Carranza's forces and his ability to maintain himself at Vera Cruz.

No further reports were received today on the killing of John M. McManus by Zapata troops. With the assurances from the Zapata commander that the guilty men would be punished, officials awaited the result of the detailed inquiry and a response from the Zapata authorities to the American demand for indemnity to the American's family.

In other words, get ready for Spring! If you've any Spring clothing left over from last year get it out; have Dreshers clean it up; have Dreshers change the lines and style so that the garment will look as though produced this season.

And now is the time to try out Dresher's wonderful Rug Cleaning Process; there's nothing else like it in this part of the country.

Dreshers pay express or parcel post charges one way on all out-of-town shipments to any point in America. Dresher's Brandeis store branch is situated at the entrance to the Pompeian Room. Dresher, the Tailor, (same Dresher), is at 1615 Farnam St.

RETRIAL FOR CASH REGISTER

Company Granted New Hearing by United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

VIOLATED ANTI-TRUST LAW

CINCINNATI, O., March 13.—The United States circuit court of appeals today reversed the lower court in the case of the government against John H. Patterson, president, and twenty-six other officials or former officials of the National Cash Register company of Dayton, O., and remanded it back to the district court for a new trial.

Patterson and his associates were found guilty of violating the Sherman anti-trust law and sentenced to serve prison terms and fines.

The upper court based its action upon its finding that the first count of the indictment which charged the defendant with being guilty of conspiracy to restrain trade in violation of the Sherman act, had not been proved by the evidence, and that the second and third were defective and should have been permitted to enter into the trial of the case in the lower court.

"Before the decision in the case of the United States against Kiesel," the court said, "the question of continuance of a conspiracy was in confusion and the authorities in conflict. The position there combated was that a conspiracy could not have continuance in time."

"It was argued that it could not, because it consisted in an unlawful agreement and an agreement does not have a continuance. But this is no longer an accurate definition of a conspiracy. A conspiracy is constituted by an agreement, it is true, but it is the result of the agreement, rather than the agreement itself. A conspiracy is a partnership in criminal purposes."

"There is no such thing as a reasonable conspiracy," the court declared.

The decision holds that the second count is defective because it is uncertain, and that the third count is defective because it is insufficient and does not charge an offense against the United States. Both of these counts charged that the defendants had tried to monopolize the cash register business in the United States.

"Actually doing business, no matter how large, is not a monopoly," the court stated.

Should Have Asked Help. "The competitor who was attacked should have called upon the courts to protect them while they were being attacked."

The court held that District Judge Hollister, the trial judge, had erred in not sustaining the demurrers to the two last counts when they were raised by the attorneys for the defense.

The decision laid stress upon the fact that the trial court had told the jury that the defendants could not be found guilty on the first count, charging conspiracy, unless they had conspired within three years. It continued in part:

"But the defendants were entitled to have the jury instructed specifically that they could not be found guilty as to the competitors who ceased to exist before 1907. The defendant asked specific instructions to this effect. These instructions were given as to six of them. They should have been given as to the other twenty. That such instructions were given as to six made it more prejudicial that they were not given as to the other twenty."

Boy Carrying Money To Colorado Solon Put Under Arrest

DENVER, March 12.—Carl Gibson, a messenger boy, was arrested at Steam, Colo., and brought to Denver today to be questioned by the district attorney in connection with the investigation of Representative W. W. Howland's receipt of a package of currency in the Colorado house of representatives. Gibson disappeared soon after a legislative committee began taking testimony in an effort to determine who sent the money to Howland and what for.

At a hearing of the legislative committee, lasting until after midnight this morning, Howland said that his former explanation was false and that the money actually was sent by Dr. Mary Bates, to be paid to a woman detective, Mrs. L. L. Hartshorn, a detective, testified that she was employed by Dr. Bates to "shadow" John S. Phillips, probation officer of the Denver juvenile court. Bills for the abolition of this court, presided over by Judge Ben S. Lindsey, are pending in the legislature.

Judge Lindsey said today that he had made complaint to District Attorney John Rush, asking for the arrest of persons supposed to be connected with the Howland affair, on charges of conspiracy. Rush previously had announced that the whole matter would be presented to the county grand jury.

Carl Gibson, the messenger, told the district attorney that the package he carried to the house chamber was given him, not by a woman, but by a man, according to Lindsey.

Dr. Mary Bates could not be located today.
