MATTER SETTLED FOR SESSION

(From a Staff Correspondent. LINCOLN, April 8 - (Special.) - Senator Quinby today made a plea for H. R. 1, the enstitutional convention bill, which he desired lifted over the sifting committee. Senator Kohl, chairman of the sifting committee, said it was a rule of the committee not to lift out any measure which it could not support on the floor of the senate.

Mattes Opposed. Senator Mattes said It was doubtful whether any better constitution could be made than we have at present and our of Control had recommended. present system of amending it was a safeguard.

Law Difficult to Change. Sandall of York spoke for the convention, refering to the fact that it had been necessary to work what he termed the "party circle fraud" to get the contion changed in the past .. Straight fraud no longer works and a convention is absolutely necessary. Sandall said that the liquor interest was back of the opposition to the convention and said that this interest was going to be voted out of business in 1916. He charged the democratic party with going back on W. J. Bryan, who put it in the majority.

Other Interests Also. Quinby then put in the charge that there were other interests back of the liquor interest. These he said were using the latter as "the goat." These interests had dominated the nominations of men of both parties last fall, he said.

The motion on roll call lost by a vote of 19 against to 14 for. As a result the bill will probably stay with the mittee and die there.

The bill named all the holidays now on the docket, which gave Mr. Scott a chance to continue his record as a "furninator." and he moved that Columbus' birthday be stricken out. Then the fireworks started, esulting in the amendment being carried by a standing vote of 33 to 27.
