Second Raider Is Chased Into Port (Continued from Page One.) Tenant Captain Paul Thierfelder, formerly navigating officer of the German cruiser Karlsruhe, in a statement tonight. When it dropped anchor the Kronprinz Wilhelm had less than twenty-five tons of coal and scanty provisions for the crew of 500 men and sixty-one prisoners from British merchant ships sunk in the South Atlantic.

SECON RAIDER IS CHASED INTO PORT

Fourteen Ships Sunk. Of the fourteen ships that the 12,000-ton cruiser sank, nine were British, four French and one Norwegian. The value of these ships and their cargoes, officers of the Wilhelm estimated at $5,000,000. Met by U. S. Submarines. When the Kronprinz Wilhelm arrived off Thimble shoals, early today, two United States submarines, the G-1 and D-2, met it. The appearance of the submarines caused considerable surprise among the crew, but there was no German reaction as the little vessels conveyed the German raider to quarantine, where Dr. MacCafferty, United States quarantine officer, boarded it.

Commander Thierfelder reported sixty-six of the crew and prisoners were ill with beri beri, and requested that they be taken to a hospital. The Kronprinz Wilhelm followed in the wake of the interned Prinz Eitel Friedrich, which arrived here a month ago yesterday after thrilling and effective operations for the German arms.

In its raid of the seas since it slipped out of New York harbor August 3 last as a German merchant and passenger steamer, the Kronprinz Wilhelm never touched land and took 999 prisoners from various vessels destroyed. Most of these were sent to South American ports at different times on German ships which met the raider in response to wireless calls.

The second of the raiders brought as thrilling a story as did the Eitel Friedrich. Its record of destruction, however, was accomplished with only four runs, two taken from the German cruiser Karlsruhe and two captured later from the British merchant steamer La Correntina, sunk October 7, 1914.

Fresh Food Taken Aboard. One hundred and fifty tons of coal, fifty tons of fresh water and three days supply of fresh meats, fruits and vegetables were loaded on barges during the night and were alongside the cruiser at sunrise. These provisions were allotted the raider by Collector of Customs Hamilton after conference with the Washington authorities.

Early today United States naval patrol of the James river was begun in the vicinity of the Wilhelm's anchorage. The naval tug Patuxent took a position alongside the German raider, while torpedo boats and submarines anchored in positions leading to Hampton Roads.

The provisions taken on by the cruiser were for use in this port only. They consisted of vegetables and fresh meats, the lack of which was responsible for the epidemic of beri-beri.

Daniels Orders Survey. WASHINGTON, April 12.—Without awaiting formal application from Captain Thierfelder of the Kron Prinz Wilhelm for a board of naval officers to survey his vessel and determine the repairs necessary and the amount of coal and provisions to which it is entitled, Secretary Daniels has instructed Admiral Fletcher at Hampton Roads to follow the precedent established in the case of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, just interned at Norfolk.

If the captain asks for repairs, the extent of the overhauling as well as the time required will be kept a strict secret by government officials.

LAREDO, Tex., April 12.—Villa forces have been defeated with a loss of 3,000 killed and wounded in the battle at Celaya, according to meager reports reaching here from Mexico today. The reports which came from Carranza sources said the battle had been concluded with the retreat northward of the Villa army. CUDAHY BUILDING WRECKED BY BOMB

Explosion at Kansas City Causes Loss Estimated at Seventy-Five Thousand Dollars.

TWO MEN SEVERELY INJURED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 12.—An explosion believed by the police to have been caused by a bomb, wrecked the seven-story cooling building of the Cudahy Packing company's plant here tonight, causing a loss estimated at $75,000. Two men employed in the building at the time were injured.

Investigation, however, developed no trace of an explosive. Company officials asserted there was no gas in the building and that the cooling pipes contained no ammonia or other materials that might explode.

More than 200 men are employed in the building on week days, but today only two were at work. Both were burned dangerously.

James Hale, superintendent of the plant, denied stories circulated in the packing district that the Cudahy company had been shipping much meat to the European allies. He connected the explosion with two fires that have damaged the plant in the last three months, both believed to have been incendiary origin.

Strife After Score Years of Happiness Serious for Couple

After twenty years of happy married life, during which time they brought six children into the world, Andrew Labouchet and his wife, 1219 Second street, developed domestic strife yesterday that would have ended fatally for both had it not been for neighbors and the police.

Labouchet, after writing a farewell note, jumped into the river at the foot of Poppleton avenue, and was drowning when John Koler, John Monel, Herman Bricharek and Mrs. A. Palupa rescued him.

It took Police Surgeon J. A. Tamisier nearly an hour to revive him with the aid of a pulmoner.

While her husband was in care of the doctor, Mrs. Labouchet in a fit of hysteria, seized a knife and after frightening her children and several children of the neighborhood away from her, started to cut her throat. Policemen Dudge and Allen closed with her and after a hard tussle, during which both officers were painfully cut, the knife was taken from her.

She was arrested and is now in the care of Matron Ellen Gibbons.

W. U. CHIEF SAYS MEN UNDERPAID

Carlton Says He Believes in Unions, Though He Would Not See Operators' Representatives.

TELEGRAPHERS' CHIEF TALKS

CHICAGO, April 12.—President Newcomb Carlton of the Western Union Telegraph company and S. J. Koenekamp, president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, testified from their respective viewpoints before the United States Commission on Industrial Relations today to the wages and working conditions of the commercial telegraphers.

Mr. Carlton caused a mild sensation when replying to a question from Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission, as to whether telegraphers were adequately compensated, said: "I believe that the telegraphers are underpaid."

"Overpaid!" exclaimed Mr. Walsh. "No, underpaid. I think they ought to make more money than they do. So far as I can ascertain wages have increased at least 30 per cent in the last ten years. Two years ago a Morse telegrapher received $12. It is now $18. It was $15 for women, and now it is $18. My own view is that a first-class telegrapher should be able to earn at least $5 a day of nine hours. Some of our employes under the so-called premium plan are making close to that."

The witness stated that his company has one of the best pension and relief organizations in the country and it costs the men nothing. Half a million dollars was expended on it last year, he said. "I do not mention this as a substitute for pay; nothing can take the place of that. It is merely our contribution to society, and it is good business," said Mr. Carlton.

The witnesses' opposition to the organization, headed by Mr. Koenekamp, who followed him on the stand, was made plain in various utterances. He admitted the principle of collective bargaining and that a "responsible organization" of Western Union telegraphers could be dealt with. The men should have some organization to protect their interests, he stated with emphasis.

Right to Protection. "We are subject to the control of the Interstate Commerce commission," he said. "They absolutely fix not only our practices, but our rates. I believe, therefore, that the commission should be given sufficient power to see that fair wages are paid and that safe working conditions are provided. If thing the corporation, the public and the employes are entitled to the protection of some federal commission."

The policy of the Western Union, the witness stated, is formed by the executive committee. Jacob Schaif, a member of that committee, was quoted by Chairman Walsh as having said that no self-respecting employer would refuse to deal with the union.

Meat Cause of Kidney Trouble

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaker, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is had you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.

COCOANUT OIL MAKES A SPLENDID SHAMPOO

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain unperfumed coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get unperfumed coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

with the representatives of union labor. "Is that your opinion?" asked Mr. Walsh. "I believe in the organization of labor." "And in collective bargaining?" "I believe in collective bargaining in where the organization with whom you are dealing is a responsible one—yes."

Mr. Walsh pressed for an answer to the broader question of dealing with organized labor, and the witness replied. "It would be hypocritical for me to say that is my view, when I have refused to see certain representatives of certain so-called unions."

"Was the Commercial Telegraphers' union one of those you refused to deal with?" asked the chairman. "Wouldn't see them."

"I don't know that I specifically refused to deal with them, but I would specifically refuse to deal with them if they applied to me," answered Mr. Carlton. "The witness said that in the five years he has been with the company there has been no union of telegraphers which he considered qualified to represent them. His policy with the men, he said, was to allow an open door to him for the appeal of all grievances. He thought that he had acted favorably on about 90 per cent of applications for reinstatement. Telegraphers have been dismissed for activity in union affairs, he admitted.

"Our opposition to the union is well understood," said he. He said that special agents were employed to keep the company informed, but denied that the "spotters," as Mr. Koenekamp designated them, were permitted to use questionable tactics in obtaining information. He had little personal knowledge of how they work, he said. Mr. Walsh mentioned instances where it had been alleged that larceny was resorted to by the special agents in obtaining correspondence and names belonging to the union.

"I want to have it understood that we will fight. I have no hesitation in letting it be known the methods and means by which we will fight, but there are some things that we won't do, not if I know it," answered Mr. Carlton.

Asked About Remedy. Chairman Walsh asked him if he had any remedy for industrial unrest to suggest. "I do not think there is any panacea in the way of legislation. I think education is the only thing that is going to do that, and I speak only for my own trade when I speak of a federal commission fixing wages and working conditions. Something should be done absolutely to prevent the shutting down of telegraphic communication by strikes. I do not suggest the commission for all trades."

Mr. Koenekamp in his testimony referred to some of the methods of the Western Union as "criminal" and "the condition of the operators as 'slavery.'" He estimated that the number of commercial telegraphers employed by the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph company at 25,000. His union, he said, has agreements with the Canadian Pacific, the International News Service and the United Press. These, he said, recognize the principle of collective bargaining and adjustment of grievances.

"The constant opposition of the Western Union to unions is no surprise to us," said Mr. Koenekamp. "The company has been consistent in that for fifty years, and for thirty years the possession of a union card has been the signal for dismissal. They have employed criminal methods, or at least have turned their heads away when criminal methods were employed."

The witness said that his remedy was government protection, the right of the men to organize and to bargain collectively. He added that if the union suffered because of the personality of its leaders he would pledge that within ninety days after the Western Union had recognized the union they would all resign. Officials of the Postal Telegraph and Cable company are expected to be among the witnesses tomorrow.

WANT PRESIDENT TO MAKE SPEECHES

Advisers of Administration Are Anxious that Executive Outline His Program Soon.

WILL MAKE EARLY TRIP WEST

WASHINGTON, April 12.—President Wilson is planning to make his delayed trip to the San Francisco exposition as soon as foreign affairs permit. His advisers, it became known tonight, are very anxious to have him make a number of speeches in different parts of the country before the opening of the next session of congress.

Just when the trip will be made is still uncertain. Secretary Daniels wants the president to go through the Panama canal with him in July, but there has been no decision on this point and the western journey is expected to be made later.

Friends of the president say the contemplated trip cannot be called a "campaign tour," and they are preventing as far as possible the formation of "Wilson clubs," to avoid even the appearance of starting a boom.

Although the political advisers of Mr. Wilson say privately that they have no doubt but he will be re-nominated, it was indicated tonight that there would be no formal launching of his candidacy, as such a step might embarrass him in carrying out the policies of his administration.

On the western trip the president is expected to explain the executive program he will carry before the next session of congress, including conservation bills, the Philippine bill, the Columbian and Nicaraguan treaties, budget reform and probably senate closure.
