DETROIT, April 27.—Eight snappy double plays figured in a pitchers' struggle which Detroit won from St. Louis, 2 to 1. The game was won in the sixth inning when the Tigers scored two runs on a pass to Fuller, Cobb's triple and Crawford's single. St. Louis was credited with twenty-four mistakes. Three Detroiters struck out, but every other play required at least one assist, and one play called for three. Cobb, who had made at least one hit in every game but one this season, was struck on the left forearm by a pitched ball in the fourth inning but escaped serious injury. Score:

How Studebaker cars are built—motor

ECONOMICAL Power—and all that you need

This matter of POWER is a thing that we'd like to talk over with you before you buy a car—and talk over it, too, with the hood of a Studebaker open before us. For power is perhaps the most important thing in your car. And this Studebaker Motor is one of the engineering triumphs of Studebaker.

Simple—you'll see that at a glance. But the BIG thing is the POWER that it's designed to deliver. Long-stroke design—for the longer the stroke, the more leverage on the crankshaft. Has the reliable Studebaker oiling and cooling systems that insure conservation of POWER.

But study the little refinements of design and see how this motor has been made to give MORE power without using more gasoline. You'll find, for one thing, that the crankshaft, the connecting rods and all the moving parts are lighter and better balanced than you find in the average motor. The valve passages are much larger and better planned.

The intake is hot-jacketed to insure better vaporization of the fuel and NO waste of gas. The exhaust manifold, wide and tapering, runs back in a STRAIGHT line, with no sudden angles to set up back-pressure. And so you'll find a score of improvements over the average motor, too.

But won't you come in and study this motor. See how ACCESSIBLE every little detail is. And then, we'd like to have you ride in the car and drive it yourself and KNOW from personal observation on the road the flexible, free-flowing, ECONOMICAL power this Studebaker motor delivers. Write, too, for the Studebaker Motor Book.

"Your Shampoo is great stuff. I have used it now for some time and like it very much indeed. It fits the need and I believe in good fits."—Albert Cahn.

The best point about Lee's Shampoo is that it takes out every bit of grease, dirt and dandruff and takes itself out too.

Soap left in the hair fibre and scalp pores causes more head trouble than any other thing except not washing at all. It causes excessive dandruff, itching, scalp eruptions and even headaches; also sticky, stiff, brittle or breaky hair. You can well blame the soap you used a week or a month ago.

You would not use a shaving soap for the teeth, a tooth soap for the skin, or a toilet soap for a shave. Why not use a real hair soap for the hair? It's not only the immediate result that counts. It's the month-after effect.
